3-Month-Old Infant Killed in Truck Accident

Black Creek Girl Was in Vehicle Driven by Mother

BLACK CREEK — A three-month-old route 1, Black Creek girl died about 5:30 p.m. Wednesday of injuries she received minutes earlier when a pickup truck driven by her mother upped over three miles southeast of here.

Dead on arrival at Appleton Memorial Hospital was Luanne Christine Rihm, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond J. Rihm. Her death and that of an 18-year-old West Bend girl injured five months ago, raised the Wisconsin traffic toll for the year to 533, compared to 526 a year ago.

The Rihm baby is Outagamie County's tenth fatality of the year and the third for July. The county toll at this time in 1965 was 13.

Head Injuries

Coroner Bernard H. Kemps said the baby died of complications from severe head injuries. The baby's mother and an older sister were not seriously injured.

Outagamie County traffic police said the accident occurred at 5:05 p.m. when Mrs. Vera-

Set Record For Sorties In One Day

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. and Vietnamese pilots struck Communist positions in South Viet Nam Wednesday with new fury, flying a record total of 826 combat sorties, a military spokesman reported.

American fliers also hammered at North Viet Nam despite bad weather limiting most of their 103 missions Wednesday to the southern panhandle.

The heavy air blows in the South accompanied a rise in small-scale Communist attacks as the Viet Cong stepped up hit-and-run attacks in the wake of their defeats in larger battles with U.S. troops.

Overran Village

The most significant of these assaults took place 18 miles from Saigon where guerrillas overran a village a few hours before dawn and drove off the 40 militiamen defenders.

While no major fighting has been reported since Sunday, a U.S. spokesman said American combat dead more than doubled last week, presumably as a result of U.S. Marine losses as the Leathernecks launched Operation Hastings against a North Vietnamese division near the northern border July 15.

The spokesman said 136 Americans were killed, 578 wounded and 14 missing compared with 65 killed, 368 wounded and no missing in the previous seven days. Total allied dead for the week of July 10-16 climbed to 334, compared with 279 the previous week. Communist dead rose to 1,272, an increase of 72, the spokesman said.

The casualties brought the unofficial total of U.S. combat dead to 2,728 since Jan. 1 and to 4,440 for the war.

U.S. Air Force, Navy and Marine fliers flew 542 single-plane strikes in the record day in the South Wednesday. Vietnamese fliers added 284 more.

Vows to Continue War

President Sukarno Lashes at Malaysia

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Snarling, shouting and shoeless, President Sukarno asserted today that Indonesia's undeclared war against Malaysia would continue.

"Confrontation will continue," Sukarno declared in an hour-long address after he swore in a new Cabinet. "Malaysia as such is a neocolonialist project."

Sukarno, 65, now largely a figurehead, kicked off his shoes as he began his speech. His face reddening with anger, he alternately shouted and whispered at his audience. Lt. Gen. Suharto, the army strongman who forced Sukarno to give up his authority last March and who heads the new Cabinet, stood stony-faced as the president spoke. Suharto was promoted to full general at the ceremony.

After Suharto and the army took control last March, one of their first actions was to halt the three-year-old war with Malaysia and begin negotiations to establish normal relations. The moves were endorsed by the Indonesian Congress last month.

Sukarno tempered his defiance of the peace moves by saying confrontation could be ended only on the basis of the Manila agreement.

This accord, reached in the summer of 1963 by Prime Minister Tunku Abdul Rahman of Malaysia, and then President Diosdado Macapagal of the Philippines and Sukarno, called for self-determination for the people of Sabah and Sarawak, the Malaysian states on the island of Borneo.

Favorable Opinion

A United Nations team surveyed public opinion in the two states and found it favorable to Malaysia. Indonesia and the Philippines, which claims Sabah, refused to accept the findings, however, and Indonesia launched its guerrila war. The Philippines has backed down since and recognized Malaysia.

"If there is no Manila agreement, then confrontation will go on," Sukarno said. "Let the people of Sabah and Sarawak decide their own destiny."

Sukarno also insisted that he is still in complete command in Indonesia.

Bank Trial On Lobbying Postponed

MADISON (AP)—The trial of one of six banks charged with employing an unregistered lobbyist has been postpoend until the fall.

The Marshall & Ilsley Bank of Milwaukee had been scheduled for a court appearance today, but Circuit Judge William Sachtien rescheduled the case Wednesday for Oct. 24.

The new date for the Marshall & Ilsley case was set after the judge conferred with Francis Croak of Milwaukee, the bank's lawyer.

False Swearing

Croak appeared in Sachtjen's court in behalf of Donald N. Baxter of Elm Grove, Marshall & Ilsley vice president. Baxter is charged with false swearing before the grand jury.

The banker asked Wednesday that the charge be dismissed because he had been promised immunity from prosecution.

Man Claims 4 Stolen Cars Went To King Officials

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — A federal jury considers evidence today against Harold Belton Andrews, who testified he stole four new cars in 1965 and that three of them went to persons he believed were connected with Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.'s Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

An official of the SCLC denied the organization knowingly bought any stolen cars.

U.S. Dist. Judge Sidney O. Smith planned to charge the jury in the case of Andrews, then begin the trial of a second man indicted on federal charges in connection with interstate transportation and disposal of a stolen vehicle.

The second defendant, Morris Finley, an Atlanta printer who has done work for the SCLC, was identified in testimony Wednesday as one of the persons Andrews said were recipients of stolen cars.

Salinger Says RFK Will Run

Ex-Press Secretary Says Kennedy Heads For '72 Nomination

NEW YORK (AP) — Pierre Salinger says Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., "is on the way to the presidency" in 1972.

But Salinger, who served Presidents Kennedy and Johnson as press secretary before a brief term as U.S. senator from California through a special governor's appointment, said Wednesday night that he is confident Johnson will seek re-election in 1968.

Salinger also stated on the pretaped "Ladies of the Press" program on WOR-TV that actor Ronald Reagan, now the Republican nominee for governor of California, has a good chance of getting the 1968 GOP presidential nomination.

Nixon Leading

He added, however, that former Vice President Richard M. Nixon "is today the leading (GOP) candidate for the Presidency."

He had this to say of the future of New York's junior senator: "Kennedy is one of the few potential presidential candidates now on the horizon for the 1972 elections. So I would say in that category, you would have to say he is on the way to the presidency."

Defies Administration

Morse Threatens Direct Senate Action on Air Strike

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Wayne Morse, defying the administration, threatened today to bypass the Senate Labor Committee and go directly to the Senate with his bid for legislation to end the three-week airline strike.

The Oregon Democrat said he will take that course if the committee does not approve his bill for a six-month back-to-work order.

"If it doesn't pass here it will be taken to the floor of the Senate," Morse told a reporter moments before the committee closed its doors to consider legislation to deal with the walkout.

The session began just after 10 a.m., starting time for the resumption of bargaining between airline and machinists union negotiators at the Labor Department. The talks had been in recess for 48 hours since Congress moved in on the dispute.

Nothing Encouraging

Morse said he saw little chance of success in those sessions.

"I saw nothing anybody said yesterday that encouraged me to think that it will do any good," he said.

Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz urged the committee Wednesday to forego legislation now and send negotiators "back to the woodshed" for new bargaining.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., said he remained hopeful of success in the negotiations but still wanted to act.

Javits is a cosponsor of the Morse proposal, but he would not comment on the Democrat's talk of bypassing the committee.

Always See Hope

"I always see hope in the resumption of negotiations and I hope they continue to negotiate until the moment the President signs any bill that we pass," Javits said.

Morse testified at the closed committee session in support of his strike-ending plan.

He said the Johnson administration should be supporting it, too.

"They're advocating that the negotiators go back to the woodshed," Morse told newsmen, "so that this union gets

Earnings Dip For Chrysler

NEW YORK (AP)— Chrysler Corp. became the third of the Big Three automakers to report lower earnings for the second quarter of the year.

The nation's third largest automobile producer reported net income of $54.4 million or $1.20 a share, compared with $61.8 million or $1.47 a share in the June quarter of 1965.

Net income for the six months ended June 30 fell to $116.9 million or $2.58 a share from $118.4 million or $2.91 a share in the first half of last year.

'Wave of Indignation'

Tell Real Estate Boards To Oppose Housing Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Local real estate boards have been urged by their national association to "help generate an immediate wave of indignation" against a proposed open housing law.

The proposal is a key part of a civil rights bill on which the House hopes to complete formal debate today, setting the stage for the start of voting on dozens of expected amendments.

Action on the housing section is not expected to come before early next week. Sections dealing with jury selection and protection of Negroes' rights will be taken up first.

Ban Discrimination

The housing provision would prohibit discrimination by real estate agents or others in the business of selling or renting housing, but would exempt individual owners selling their own homes. It is a Republican-sponsored substitute for a stricter ban proposed by the administration.

The National Association of Real Estate Boards, which has taken the lead in opposing an open housing law, recently sent a letter to its members calling the substitute proposal "more onerous and more oppressive than the original version."

"You must hetp generate an immediate wave of indignation by all citizens against Title IV," the letter said in reference to the housing section.

Confirm Circulation

A spokesman for the association confirmed circulation of the letter after a copy was made available by Clarence Mitchell, Washington representative of the National Assocation for the Advancement of Colored People.

Mitchell said he got it from a real estate agent who opposes the association's position. The association spokesman said the letter was one of a number sent in an effort to arouse opposition to open housing legislation.

It called on "every realtor, every member of the business community who cherishes private enterprise and every property owner who values the traditional guarantees which go with the right of property ownership," to urge his Congress member to vote to eliminate the open housing section from the bill.

Prohibition Lifted

Mississippians Savor Taste of Legal Drink

BILOXI, Miss. (AP) — Police cruisers, sirens screaming and lights flashing, escorted the big truck into Biloxi. The van sped to the plush Broadwater Beach Hotel.

A crowd of onlookers cheered when the truck's rear doors were opened, revealing 77 cases. Three were carried into the hotel by waiters.

Louis Cobb opened one, took out a bottle of scotch whiskey. He poured some into a glass with ice, added a dash of soda and handed it to T. M. Dorsett, the hotel manager.

"Ahh", said Dorsett, lifting the glass.

More Cheers

As Dorsett downed the drink in the glare of a floodlight, Mayor Dan Guice and other officials snipped a tricolor ribbon stretched across the entrance to the lounge.

There were more cheers.

It was 6:55 Wednesday night.

Drinking on the Mississippi Gulf Coast isn't uncommon.

But Dorsett's tippling had special significance. It was the first legal drink of whiskey poured in Mississippi after 58 years of prohibition, which really never did work.

The Gulf Coast, particularly, never paid any attention to prohibition.

A score or more rushed into the Broadwater's lounge when the ribbon was severed by the mayor and County Supervisor Laz Quave.

"It's on the house," cried Dorsett.

And it was until the three cases were consumed. Then the cash register egan to ring.

"It still tastes the same," said one drinker. "But somehow it seems better because it's legal."

Mayor Guice said the arrival of legal liquor "will be a boon to our tourist industry and industrialization as well as removing the hypocritical attitude which the state has had toward whisky."

Prohibition ended July 1 but it took 27 days for the state to put the machinery in effect to legally sell whisky.

Seven counties have already approved legal liquor sales. More vote on it within a few days. Liquor by the drink will be permitted only in areas designated by the state as resorts.

Mississippi was the first to approve the national prohibition amendment in 1919 and became the last state to repal the ban on booze.

Navy Pilot Fled North Vietnamese

One-in-a-Million Rescue Described

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Lt. (j.g.) Dieter Dengler fidgeted excitedly with the hoist as the big green helicopter hovered 150 feet overhead in the remote valley in North Viet Nam during the final moments of his ordeal.

Exhausted, hungry, blistered on his feet, the Navy pilot from Pacifica, Calif., was hauled aboard the rescue ship after a 23-day trek through the jungle wilderness and flown to a U.S. military hospital in Da Nang.

Some six months after his plane had plunged into enemy territory, Dengler, 28, became the first American to escape from the North Vietnamese. For security reasons, the U.S. military command kept details of the escape secret but let his rescuers tell today how they snatched him from North Viet Nam on July 20.

Spotted Flier

Air Force Lt. Col. Eugene P. Deatrick of Morgantown, W. Va., spotted the German-born flier on a reconnaissance mission just north of the 17th Parallel frontier as his A1 Skyraider swept over a deep valley crossed by a stream.

"I passed over a bed of rocks across the stream and saw someone waving a white flag at me," said Deatrick, commander of the 1st Air Command Squadron at Pleiku. "I went by so quickly I wasn't sure what it was. Perhaps a villager waving as we went by."

Deatrick made another pass. The person was still waving. And on a third pass he saw a "very scraggly SOS" spelled out on the rocks with white cloth. He immediately radioed to get the rescue on the way.

Wary of Trap

"There was always wariness, of course, of being trapped into something," Deatrick said. "However, I was firmly convinced that the man was friendly, even though I couldn't identify the person on the ground from what he was wearing. It was a dense area, so remote from everything and the possibility of ever seeing anything — this was one in a million."

Another flight of planes came in to fly cover while the crew of an Air Force "Jolly Green Giant" helicopter scrambled into action.

"At about 11:15 a.m. we got our first call for this mission and by about 11:20 we were in the air proceeding to this area," said Capt. William E. Cowell of Oahu, Hawaii, the helicopter commander.

The big chopper made one pass over Dengler, then went into action to pull him out of the jungle. By noon, the helicopter men had him on board.

Airman 1.C. Mike Lenord of Fowler, Iowa, a pararescue man, described the actual rescue.

"The hoist operator let the cable out. He must have used about 150 feet — maybe 175 feet — of cable.

"He put it down on the ground. The survivor (Dengler) got in it. It took him a couple of seconds to figure out how it operated. He was a little excited and glad to be there, and he just had a little problem.

"But he made it on the hoist all right. We hoisted him up, and I reached out and pulled him in as he got up beside the aircraft. At that moment, he

West Offended By Ky Advice On Invasion

Position of Not Seeking Wider War Remains Constant

By BARRY SCHWEID

WASHINGTON (AP) — By proposing an invasion of North Viet Nam and a confrontation with Communist China, South Viet Nam Premier Nguyen Cao Ky has demonstrated anew that he has a special talent for offending Western sensibilities.

Following Ky's advice would be an abomination, declared Sen. Mike Mansfield, the usually mild-mannered Senate Democratic leader. Administration spokesmen reacted firmly, though with considerable restraint.

"Our position of not seeking any wider war has been repeatedly made clear and remains our position," said Robert J. McCloskey, State Department press officer. "We do not seek to threaten any regime."

Views Known

"The President's views on not wanting a wider war are pretty well known," said Bill D. Moyers, White House press secretary.

Clearly, once again, Ky and official Washington were at cross purposes, though the measure of stability the slender, 35-year-old pilot has achieved in Saigon is considered a blessing here.

In April 1965, two months before Ky became premier, he questioned the effectiveness of air strikes against highways, railroads and bridges in the North and proposed South Viet Nam's land forces move into the North.

Next Step

"If we are just going to bomb communications lines the Viet Cong will be able to stand up for a long time, I'm afraid," he said. "So the next step must be big, either a big escalation of the war or negotiations."

Though President Johnson varied the bombing pattern last June, 14 months later, to strike at oil depots in the North, Ky's call for moving South Vietnamese forces across the 17th Parallel never has been followed.

Earlier, in October 1964, Ky kicked off a storm by telling the London Sunday Mirror:

"People ask me who my heroes are. I have only one — Hitler. I admire Hitler because he pulled his country together when it was in terrible state in the early 30's. But the situation here is so desperate that one man would not be enough. We need four or five Hitlers in Viet Nam."

Hitler Discipline

The British government inquired into the interviews and in July 1965, a month after he became premier, Ky's office said he had been referring to Hitler's qualities of discipline and hadn't intended to praise Hitler in general.

Last February, Ky was at odds with administration policy when he called for the bombing of the North Vietnamese port of Haiphong.

In April he sent government troops into Da Nang though the U.S. Marine Corps commandant, Gen. Wallace M. Greene Jr., said the situation in the South Vietnamese city was calm and the demonstrations there were well-ordered and semireligious.

In May, Ky caused considerable embarrassment in Washington by declaring he had no intention of resigning following election of a constituent assembly.

There are several possible explanations of Ky's pronouncements and policy divergences from Washington. One may lie in his comparative youth, nationalism and military background. Certainly they have the effect of demonstrating that he is not Washington's puppet, that no matter how large the United States' involvement, it is South Viet Nam's independence that is at stake in the war.

Fulbright Widens Presidential Gap By 'No Confidence'

Foreign Relations Chairman Votes Against Assistance Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen J W Fulbright has driven in a new wedge to widen the foreign policy differences between himself and the administration

Fitting deed to months of words of criticism the Arkansas Democrat cast a vote of no confidence in a key administration foreign policy program

After the Senate voted 55 to 37 to cut $100 million from the $892 million military assistance program, it passed the bill by an 82-7 margin Wednesday—but with Fulbright chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, among the nay votes

As committee chairman Fulbright was what senators call "floor manager" for the administration's foreign aid program

Supposed Defender

The floor manager is supposed to be both advocate and defender of his bill But Tuesday Fulbright voted "with misgivings" for the economic assistance part of the program After his "no" vote on military aid Wednesday he declared in a statement "When economic assistance fails, the result is a breakdown or delay in some aspect of development When military assistance goes wrong the consequences are much more spectacular"

And like other opponents of the measure, Fulbright cited suspicions that American military aid to Pakistan "actually caused the war" last year between India and Pakistan

If we had not provided the arms Pakistan would not have been able to seek a military solution" of its Kashmir dispute with India, said Fulbright

Most of the debate over the program centered on efforts to cut it from as much as $250 million down to $100 million, which the Senate finally accepted

Sen John O Pastore D-R I, complained that "this idea that if we chop out $250 million they might spend the money more wisely is a sad commentary on what makes America click"

Senate Republican Leader Everett M Dirksen acknowledged that he had led the successful efforts last week to slash $250 million from the economic program but said he was not going to "jeopardize" national security by voting to reduce military items.

The military aid authorization joins the economic assistance authorization measure in a Senate-House Conference There they will be considered along with a $4 1-billion foreign aid authorization for fiscal 1967 and 1968 which was passed by the House July 14

Funds for the programs must be provided under appropriations measures.

Assemblyman Sentenced Wednesday

Alfonsi Prepares Appeal to State High Court on Bribery Conviction

MADISON (AP) — Assemblyman Paul R Alfonsi, sentenced for bribery and stripped of his legislative pay, waited less than a day to begin preparations for his appeal to the State Supreme Court

John Fritschler, attorney for the veteran Minocqua lawmaker, said he would file today a notice of appeal to the state's high court

Circuit Judge William Sachtjen after denying Wednesday a series of pleas by Fritschler seeking to delay proceedings or overturn the July 8 guilty verdict, sentenced the Assembly Republican leader to pay a $1,000 fine or spend six months in Dane County Jail.

Force Review

A delay in the sentence was granted by Sachtjen, pending the outcome of the appeal. In Wisconsin, the Supreme Court has no choice but review a case once an appeal is made

A high supreme court official said the earliest the arguments could be heard would be September or possibly October

The seven justices are not scheduled to return from their summer vacations until the fall term begins Sept 6

If Alfonsi's attorneys waited for the case to come up in its regular turn, it would be "quite a few months" before it would be heard according to the official He said it is likely a motion to advance the case to September will be made and granted

Alfonsi has said he wants the case decided as soon as possible because he is seeking re-election to his Assembly seat from Forest, Oneida and Vilas counties

Forbidden Office

State law forbids anyone convicted of a felony from holding public office so Alfonsi could not resume his seat if he won the election unless the conviction is overturned

La Follette had ruled earlier that Secretary of State Robert Zimmerman had the discretion to decide whether Alfonsi's name should remain on the ballot for this year's election

Zimmerman replied that he judged the filing papers not the candidate As a result, Alfonsi was expected to be allowed to pursue his bid for re-election and learned political sources, gauging the northern Wisconsin reaction were predicting that he would be sent back to the Assembly by the greatest margin in his career

Salary Stopped

Steps were quickly taken to cut off his $450 a month legislative salary and his $55 a month home expense allowance

The assistant Assembly clerk, Lillian M. Quinn, said Alfonsi's pay was stopped Wednesday after she had consulted with Atty. Gen. Bronson C. La Follette.

She said the former Progressive speaker of the Assembly would get $391 93 salary and $47.90 expenses for the 27 days of July prior to his formal conviction and sentencing.

La Follette said it was his opinion Alfonsi immediately lost his office even though the appeal could still be made.

Alfonsi, who began his 16-year legislative career in 1932, was convicted of taking a $100 bribe from Anthony Wise of Hayward, a resort operator The money, the state argued throughout the three-day trial, was part of an understanding for Alfonsi to rally support for an accelerated highway construction bill.

51 Saved From Craft Sinking In Shark-Filled Gulf of Mexico

PORT ARANSAS, Tex. (AP) —Shrimp boats heading into the Gulf of Mexico for a night's catch teamed for a swift and dramatic rescue of all 51 persons forced overboard as the sports fishing craft Marlin Queen caught fire late Wednesday.

The Marlin Queen, later wracked by an explosion, burned and sank. It was inbound through shark-infested waters when a passenger shouted: "Smoke! Smoke!"

"I couldn't imagine where it was coming from," said the vessel's skipper, Tom McNatt. "One of the deck hands opened an engine hatch and smoke billowed out, and flames

"The crew shot carbon dioxide on it but didn't make any headway. That's when I told them to issue lifejackets and radioed a 'May Day.'"

Forty-eight passengers and three crewmen, including McNatt, scrambled off the stern of the burning craft into the sea — some into lifeboats — late Wednesday afternoon.

All were rescued within 20 minutes by shrimp boat operating in the vicinity. They got clear shortly before the blazing Marlin Queen's fuel tanks exploded.

The fishing vessel, valued at more than $80,000 burned to the waterline, listed and sank in 60 feet of water

McNatt speculated that an electrical malfunction caused the fire "All the instruments and gauges were normal — maybe a battery exploded," he said

American Fan Of Fidel Castro Shifts to Asia

Robert Williams Preaches for Negro Rebellion in U. S.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Robert F. Williams, an American Negro who spoke for Fidel Castro in advocating racial disorder in the United States, apparently has shifted his base of operations to Asia

Williams preached U S black rebellion for more than three years in English-language broadcasts over the Cuban government-controlled radio. Japanese authorities have reported hearing him in recent broadcasts from Viet Nam and Red China.

Miami monitors of Havana Radio noted that Williams discontinued his broadcasts last

Williams

March His weekly Radio Free Dixie program directed to U.S. Negroes continued for a while with a woman announcer.

Not Broadcasting

For several weeks, Radio Free Dixie has not been heard But observers of the Cuban scene say Williams' organization, Revolutionary Action Movement, continues to function in Cuba.

Atty Gen Nicholas Katzenbach has said in Washington that he is looking into the possibility of a connection between the Revolutionary Action Movement and racial disturbances in this country.

Wednesday, Williams was reported in a Red China broadcast monitored in Tokyo as having been a banquet guest of the China Peace Committee and the Chinese Committee for African-Asian Solidarity in Peking.

Negro Troops

The Citizens Committee for a Free Cuba said in Miami that besides operating for the Castro government, "Williams is also connected with the North Vietnamese government, has traveled to Hanoi, and from there will broadcast to American Negro troops in South Viet Nam," urging them to lay down their arms.

Discontinued along with Williams' Havana broadcasts was "The Crusader," a "monthly newsletter" he edited in Cuba and distributed in the United States.

In one issue, he said: "The weapons of defense employed by Afro-American freedom fighters must consist of a poor man's arsenal. Gasoline fire bombs (Molotov cocktails), lye or acid bombs (made by injecting lye or acid in the metal end of light bulbs) can be used extensively."

Republicans Advised Not to Make Viet Nam Major Campaign Issue

Laird, Ford Agree War Will be Liability to All Incumbents

WASHINGTON (AP) — The two top Republicans in the House said today they are advising GOP congressional candidates against making the Viet Nam war their chief campaign issue this fall.

But both Rep. Gerald R. Ford, the House GOP leader, and Rep. Melvin R. Laird, chairman of the House GOP Conference, agreed that the war will play a major role in the congressional campaign in which all 435 House seats and 35 Senate seats will be at stake.

"I think Viet Nam is going to be a liability to any incumbent — Democrat or Republican," Ford said in an interview. He noted that Democrats hold 2-1 majorities in both House and Senate and therefore are likely to be most affected

Domestic Issues

Laird said in a separate interview many of the nearly 100 GOP House candidates who came here earlier this month to get campaign advice wanted to emphasize Viet Nam in their campaigns. His advice, he said, was to play up domestic issues such as inflation.

"I cautioned them not to make Viet Nam their No. 1 issue," Laird said. "I told them there's only one man who decides that issue — the President. He calls the tune on it."

"He really understands the power of the presidency," Laird said of Johnson, adding that he expects the President to take some dramatic step in the war just before the Nov. 8 election."

Laird recalled that when President John F. Kennedy resolved the crisis over Soviet missiles in Cuba two weeks before the 1962 election, "A lot of our guys got caught on it."

Gain Seats

Although the party out of power has picked up an average of 37 House seats in midterm elections since 1900, Republicans only added one House seat in 1962. And they lost a net of three in the Senate.

A number of Democratic congressmen have expressed fears privately that the war might sharply increase GOP gains in the congressional campaign.

Ford said "we (the Republicans) won't have to make Viet Nam a political issue. The American people are doing it already."

Bargain Land Has Room in Wrong Place

NEW YORK (AP) — Land fever seized Martin Silber, an unemployed Brooklyn butcher and he decided to buy four pieces of property at $25 a piece at a city auction. He said he had a new home in mind.

Now he has asked the Bard of Estimate to bail him out. Here's why: One property measures 2 inches by 80 feet, another 2 inches by 60 feet, a third 2 inches by 120 feet and the fourth 2 feet by 7 feet.

Police Mum On Youth's Slaying Arrest

Silence to Insure Rights in Riot Death in Brooklyn

NEW YORK (AP) — Police today imposed strick curbs on information about the arrest of a teen ager in the sniper-slaying of an 11-year-old boy in last week's Brooklyn racial rioting

Adhering tightly to recent Supreme Court rulings on excessive pretrial publicity, authorities gave only minimal details on Ernest Gallashaw, 17, held without bail Wednesday on a homicide charge

It was not known how police arrested the youth

Police Commissioner Howard R Leary said, "The law is clear We must insure that pretrial publicity will not impair the likelihood of the accused getting a fair trial"

Gallashaw is charged in the sniper death of Eric Dean, 11, a Negro in the East New York tenement slum area June 21

A spokesman for the Brooklyn district attorney's office said Gallashaw, a Negro, was employed as a house painter in the New York State antipoverty program

Dean was shot in the chest as he hurried to see Mayor John V Lindsay who had arrived in the riot area for a conference with community leaders The shot, it was said, may have been meant for a policeman

The slug was described by police as 25 caliber, which would eliminate the possibility it came from the heavier caliber revolvers used by officers

The disorders subsided last Saturday after a City Hall meeting between Lindsay and representatives of Negro and Italian-American groups in the community

Study Licensing Proposal

Appleton Treed on Problem With Cats

Appleton is going to turn to its neighbors for help in solving what has mushroomed into a major cat problem.

Appleton Board of Health members Wednesday instructed Donald D. Day, assistant city health commissioner, to contact cities requiring the licensing of cats to determine their success with the plan.

The action came after discussion on a resolution submitted earlier this month by Ald. John Steidl (18th) which would require that Appleton place cats — as dogs — under city ordinance. The ordinance would prevent the feline population from running at large and would force them to be licensed and wear identification tags.

The proposal had been referred to the Welfare and Ordinance Committee, which sent it to the Board of Health.

Cat Lovers

Steidl's resolution has brought forth loud public cries from Appleton's cat lovers.

Health Board members said this morning they have received calls from many persons on both sides of the issue.

Steidl Wednesday displayed a petition signed by 50 persons requesting that the municipal code be amended to include the licensing of cats, with regulations similar to those for dogs. The alderman said there is another petition bearing 20 names.

Steidl indicated he was not wavering in his convictions in spite of pressure from those who oppose his plan. "In my mind, I still feel the ordinance should be amended," he said.

He said Humane Society reports for the past four months show that 226 cats were taken to the shelter. Of the total, all but two were disposed of. "This is my main reason for believing the ordinance should be amended," Steidl said.

Some board members questioned the purpose and intent of Steidl's resolution.

Public Nuisance

Ald. Norman Beyer (20th) said he thought cats were provided for in the city's public nuisance ordinance, which he said pertains to all animals found running at large. "This ordinance could be construed to mean cats," Beyer said.

agricultural district, then there isn't an authorized area in the county."

"It is our (Stokely-Van Camp) position that the camp is authorized in an agricultural district," Esler said.

The issue has been debated in a series of Circuit Court hearings beginning July 6. The final hearing ended and the case closed July 19.

Deliberated Decision

Judge Van Susteren has deliberated his decision since that time. He revealed the ruling to attorneys for both parties this morning from the county courthouse.

The injunction was originally requested by the Town of Grand Chute. Outagamie County became a party to the injunction proceedings at the July 6 hearing.

Principal witnesses during the five hearings have been Thorsen; V. E. Quakenbush, Stokely-Van Camp Inc. plant manager; Outagamie County Clerk Mollie Pfeffer; and Robert Van Handel, deputy building inspector of Grand Chute.

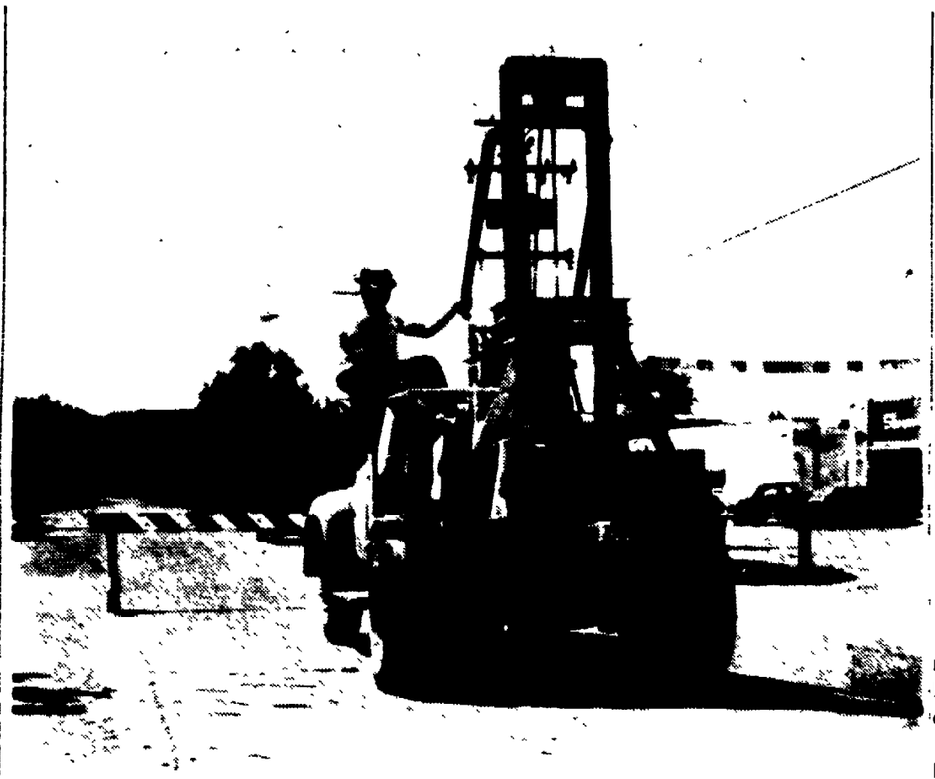
Awaiting court action are additional charges brought against the cannery and contractors by Grand Chute and Outagamie County charging Stokely-Van Camp with violations of zoning ordinances.

West DePere Youth Pleads Guilty of Speeding; Fined $50

Clayton J. Ambrosius, 18, route 1, West De Pere, changed his plea to guilty, Wednesday, and was fined $50 and costs or 24 days in jail on a charge of driving 91 miles per hour in a 55 miles per hour zone.

Ambrosius was arrested March. 20 on U.S. 41 at County Trunk JJ in the Town of Kaukauna. He pleaded innocent to the charge in an appearance before Judge Gustave J. Keller on April 4, and posted $100 bond.

The plea was changed to guilty Wednesday in Outagamie County Court Branch 2. In addition to being fined, Ambrosius' driver's license was suspended for 15 days.



As Soon As the U. S. 10 beltline at Waupaca was opened to traffic, workmen turned their attention to other projects. Here a pavement breaker hammers away at the surfacing on Waupaca's Churchill Street, which along with a section of Fulton Street, will be rebuilt as part of the beltline project. Outagamie Lawsuit Hearing Postponed

Judge Grants Continuance Until Sept. 12 in Litigation Over Site for New UW Campus at Green Bay

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — The hearing of Outagamie County's lawsuit against the state over selection of a Green Bay site for the four-year University of Wisconsin northeastern branch has been postponed until Sept. 12

The hearing in Dane County Court Branch No. 2 had been scheduled for 2 p.m. Friday before Judge Edwin Wilkie

Wilkie today granted continuance of the arguments until 2 p.m. Sept. 12 He said the request for the postponement came from State Assistant Attorney General Warren Resch.

The delay was requested by Stewart Honeck, Milwaukee attorney who is special counsel for the county in the litigation, and Outagamie County Corporation Counsel A. W. Ponath because of the press of other business.

Honeck Unavailable

Honeck's office said today that he has not been in all week, and that a jury trial in which he is involved started Tuesday and is expected to continue today and Friday.

His secretary also said that he has many cases in court during the next month.

Outagamie County and four private citizens brought suit in June against State Treasurer Dena Smith, who is named as defendant in the case because her department handles funds for planning the new school.

The attorney general's office has contended that Outagamie County should be disqualified as a plaintiff. It says it does not have proper interest in the issue since it is not a taxpayer.

Scheduled to Reply

The county was scheduled to reply to this argument Friday, and the state's reply to the county's original complaint would have come after this time.

If the motion by the state is approved, four private citizens living in the county would remain as plaintiffs.

Officials have said informally that this might change the force of the suit, because financing costs probably would be assessed solely against the citizens.

Wilkie has set an Aug. 16 deadline for the filing of briefs by Mrs. Smith's attorneys.

Attorneys for Outagamie County must file briefs by Aug. 30, while the state has until Sept. 9 to reply to those briefs.

Boys Needed In Derby Race

Coaster Cars To be Featured At Clintonville

CLINTONVILLE — Boys are needed to enter the Cheese Box Derby on Aug. 20 as part of the city's Hey Deys celebration.

Plenty of sponsors are available, according to Jackson McConley, general chairman of the celebration. Only 10 boys have entered the contest, with another 10 sought.

The trophy race features coaster-cars which require skill in both construction and driving.

Boys between 10 and 15 years who attend any school in the Clintonville system or live within a radius of 10 miles of the city are eligible. They will compete in two classes.

Follow Specifications

The boy must construct the car according to standard specifications, using axles and wheels approved by the contest committee, and race it himself. Each boy must build his own car, although expert advice and consultation will be available from Roger Gibbons, high school industrial arts teacher.

Entry information is available at the Lendved Hardware Store where boys will buy their wheels and axles at cost for the $10 entry fee. Each sponsor will provide the fee in exchange for the advertising he paints on the entrant's car.

Cars must be ready for competition on Aug. 19. They will be displayed in a downtown area.

New Elementary School Urged In Kimberly

KIMBERLY — A 16-room elementary school on the west side by 1969 was proposed by School Board President Harold Wentzel, to Joint School District No. 6 at its annual meeting Monday evening

A decision must be made by July, 1967, Wentzel said, if the new facility is to be ready for the 1969 school year.

The biggest problem facing the board is the indecision of Holy Name Catholic School concerning a shared-time program involving some 200 second graders.

If the parochial school decides to take the second grade back into its own system the decision can be put off, at the most, until 1968, Wentzel said. If the public system continues to take the youngsters, a new school is a necessity by 1969 with a decision to build by next year.

Allied Pilots Strike at Communist Positions

B52s made three raids today. Two were aimed at the Communist-held D Zone north of Saigon, the other at the hills just below the 17th Parallel demilitarized zone where the Marines are continuing the hunt for North Viet Nam's 324B Division.

A Navy A4 Skyhawk from the carrier Oriskany and its pilot was reported missing over North Viet Nam on a strike against a missile site near Vinh. It was the 81th plane reported lost over the North.

Weather Limit

Although limited by typhoon weather, the U.S. flyers blasted 11 fuel dumps, including a big complex near Vinh and another at the nearby former army camp of Baden, a spokesman said. He said the pilots did not encounter any antiaircraft missiles or Communist MIGs.

The fliers on the Baden raid said the Reds were using craters from previous bombings to hide their oil drums. The pilots said they started five new fires.

A South Vietnamese military spokesman said the Viet Cong hit the village of Cau Lon a few hours before daylight and the militia platoon abandoned its post after suffering moderate casualties.

Radio contact with the post was lost, the spokesman said, and a relief column was sent out shortly after dawn. There was no report on contact from the relief force.

Diversionary Attack

A few miles away the Viet Cong mortared another post briefly in what evidently was a diversionary attack. Similar harassing attacks have been hitting the villages south of Saigon for the past several nights.

In brief, bitter fighting on the coastal plains near Thanh Binh, a force of Vietnamese infantry and militia troops killed 27 Viet Cong and captured many weapons Wednesday, a government military spokesman said.

A U.S. spokesman said American and other allied troops killed 21 Communists in other scattered engagements in central and northern provinces Wednesday.

Viet Cong terrorism also continued. A guerrilla lobbed a grenade into a U.S. military jeep in the Saigon suburbs of Gia Dinh, injuring an American and three Vietnamese. A mine exploded in a classroom in a girls' high school in Hue Wednesday night but no one was in the school.

The South Vietnamese chief of state, Lt. Gen. Nguyen Van Thieu, released a letter from President Johnson thanking the Vietnamese government for congratulations on the July 4th Independence anniversary.

Johnson wrote: "Tell your people that Americans share with you the confidence that you and the brave people of Viet Nam will find success at the end of the long hard struggle against Communist aggression.

"As you know, you have our determined support in this effort," Johnson added.

Perhaps [illegible] and perhaps by the time the message was released [illegible] Premier Nguyen Cao Ky had [illegible] a news conference he wondered whether South Viet Nam's allies had the patience to stick with her in a long war. He said the United States had the choice of invading the Communist North or withdrawing South Viet Nam for another five to 10 years.

In Washington Wednesday [illegible] Mansfield, majority leader, said: "The President is very much not wanting a wider war are pretty well known."

3-Month-Old Infant Killed in Truck Accident

mae Rihm lost control of the 1951 truck as she was northbound on the Twelve Corners Road, a mile north of State 47.

The baby reportedly began missing and when Mrs. Rihm turned to look at her, the truck went onto the narrow road shoulder and into a five-foot deep ditch. The three-quarter-ton truck rolled on its top.

Motorist Assists

Mrs. Rihm was unable to pull her older daughter, Peggy, from the wreckage. A passing motorist, William J. Huff of Delafield, assisted Mrs. Rihm in freeing the girl who reportedly received bumps, bruises and "burns" from leaking gasoline.

The three injured persons were taken to the hospital in Lindy's Ambulance. Mrs. Rihm, who suffered bumps, bruises and shock, and her older daughter, remained hospitalized for observation.

Kemps said Mrs. Rihm had taken the two children to Center Valley to pick up a load of feed. They were heading home with about 1,000 pounds of feed on the back of the truck when the accident occurred, authorities said.

Carol Jean Hron, 13, West Bend, became the second victim of an accident that occurred Feb. 13. She died Wednesday of injuries received in a crash on State 144 near West Bend. Gary W. Rabits, 16, West Bend, also was killed in the accident.

Funeral services for the baby will be at 1:30 p.m. Friday in the Mushl Funeral Home, Black Creek. Burial will be in Highland Memorial Park, Appleton. Friends may call at the funeral home after 6 a.m. Friday.

One-in-a-Million Rescue of Captured Pilot Described

kind of went to pieces, as you'd expect. He grabbed for me around the leg and held me. He was just happy to be on board.

Went Into Shock

"Actually, it's hard to say if he said anything, except 'Oh, God!' I listened to him all the way. I talked to him a little bit but he went into shock on me three different times.

"I was pretty busy there trying to keep him in the best shape I could mentally as well as physically. The physical shape he was in was excellent — excellent physical shape. He took care of himself real well, he told me of what happened, where he had been — his name, rank, serial number and things like this."

The Defense Department, announcing the rescued pilot's name in Washington Wednesday, said that security requirements prevented it disclosing other details of Dengler's escape now. The secrecy lid presumably was ordered to keep the North Vietnamese from devising measures against similar escapes by any of the 63 other Americans believed held by them.

Flown to U.S.

After treatment in Da Nang, Dengler was believed to have been flown to the United States for recuperation and questioning. The San Mateo (Calif.) Times said he was under treatment at Travis Air Force Base, 50 miles north of San Francisco.

Dengler's brother, Martin, who works in a San Francisco bakery, told reporters the Pentagon had advised him not to talk about the rescue but he said of Dieter's escape: "That's good, that's good."

The brothers came to the United States from their native Germany in 1957. Their father was killed in World War II.

Dengler's mother, Maria, who lives in the picturesque village of Calw, at the edge of the Black Forest, told a reporter she had never given up hope for her son after receiving word in February he had been shot down.

Tough Boy

Another brother, Roland, a butcher in Calw, commented: "Dieter was always a tough boy. Whatever he took hold of worked."

Dengler served in the U.S. Air Force from June 1957 to April 1963, then was commissioned as a Navy flier in 1964. He attended San Francisco City College and San Mateo Junior College.

Dengler was said in Washington to have been suffering from severe malnutrition when picked up. He apparently sustained himself on roots and other edibles he had been taught to look for in his survival training.

A few Americans have escaped from the Viet Cong but there is no record of any previous flight from North Vietnamese captivity.

Routine Tests Hospitalize Eisenhower

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower has been in Walter Reed Army Hospital since Monday for what an aide called "routine tests."

The aide, Brig. Gen. Robert L. Schulz, said that he had no information as to the nature or purpose of the tests, or as to how much longer Eisenhower would be hospitalized.

Eisenhower, 75, suffered a heart attack in 1955 while President, and another last year in Augusta, Ga. He also underwent emergency surgery for ileitis in 1956, and he had a minor stroke in 1957. He spent three weeks at Walter Reed Hospital last May for treatment of an arthritic condition.

Census Planning Conference Friday

MADISON (AP) — A conference Friday on planning the 1970 census is expected to draw more than 100 representatives from state and local government and business, the Department of Resource Development said today.

The conference is sponsored by the department.

National Airport Landing Limits Eased Slightly

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Aviation Agency relaxed its proposed restrictions at Washington National Airport sufficiently to permit continued nonstop service to all cities within 650 miles and to a few as far away as 1,000 miles.

This means continued nonstop service between the airport and cities such as Miami, Orlando, West Palm Beach and Jacksonville, Fla.; Memphis and Nashville, Tenn.; Huntsville, Ala.; Chicago, Atlanta, St. Louis, Minneapolis - St. Paul and Milwaukee.

Without the change in rules, nonstop service to these cities would have been wiped out Aug. 7 by an order to limit nonstop flights at national to a 500-mile perimeter. That limit had been proposed as a means of reducing congestion at the airport.

Judiciary Candidates Are Praised

WASHINGTON (AP) — Illinois and Wisconsin men nominated by President Johnson to serve on the 7th Circuit Court of Appeals were praised Wednesday at a Senate judiciary subcommittee hearing.

They are Walter J. Cummings Jr., Chicago, and Thomas E. Fairchild, Madison, Wis., whose nominations are expected to be approved by the judiciary committee and the Senate since there was no opposition.

Cummings would fill a new post. Fairchild would succeed F. Ryan Duffy, Milwaukee, who has retired from the court, which serves Illinois, Wisconsin and Indiana.

Cummings is a Chicago lawyer and Fairchild a justice of the Wisconsin Supreme Court.

Sen. Paul H. Douglas, D-Ill., praised Cummings as a "man of unblemished reputation who will make a distinguished member of the court."

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., joined in endorsing Cummings and took note that he had known the nominee's father.

Sens. William Proxmire and Gaylord Nelson, Wisconsin Democrats, pointed out that Fairchild's nomination marked the first time there had been unanimous bipartisan approval of a prospective judge in their state.

another opportunity, while these airlines are losing millions of dollars a day, to force them to surrender to an inflationary settlement."

Back to Woodshed

"I think they ought to be sent back to the woodshed," Wirtz said Wednesday in urging the Senate Labor Committee to hold off a few days on any legislation to order 35,000 strikers back to work on five major airlines.

Wirtz said no national emergency exists at the moment despite multimillion-dollar economic losses, although such a threat could arise if the strike goes on much longer.

Wirtz also defended President Johnson against insistent queries from some members of the committee on why the negotiators weren't called to the White House. Such a move was not warranted, Wirtz said.

Morse rejected Wirtz's plea for a delay action and insisted the committee vote on his bill to order the strike halted for 180 days while talks continue.

"There is no question about the fact that there is a national emergency," said Morse, who headed a presidential emergency board that earlier recommended a compromise settlement.

Cary 60 Per Cent

The five strike-bound airlines — United, Eastern, National, Northwest and Trans World — normally carry more than 60 per cent of the nation's air traffic.

Both P.L. Siemiller, president of the striking AFL-CIO International Association of Machinists, and chief airlines negotiator William J. Curtin said "yes, sir" when senators asked if they would resume talks.

"The prospects, of course, are not bright," Curtin said.

"We do not feel that the carriers are going to make an offer that is satisfactory to the members by majority vote as long as there is pending legislation," Siemiller said.

Prefer Legislation

"They (the airlines) would rather have legislation than a settlement," he said.

Curtin said the airlines feared repercussions if they raised their offer further above White House wage increase guidelines of 3.2 per cent per year.

He said about 3.8 per cent was the airlines' last offer, while the union is demanding 5 per cent a year. Top mechanics now earn $3.52 per hour.

"We don't think our demands are inflationary," Siemiller said.

Sen. Lister Hill, D-Ala., the committee chairman, said of Wirtz' "back to the woodshed" plea: "This time we could say if they didn't settle it, we'd bring the paddle to the woodshed."

Wirtz agreed, saying "and we wouldn't tell them which paddle."

Emergency Board

The five struck airlines agreed last August to bargain jointly with the machinists union. Braniff, Continental and Northeast airlines, with employes represented by the same union, did not enter the agreement and were not struck.

A threatened strike against American Airlines by members of the AFL-CIO Transport Workers Union was postponed for 60 days when the White House announced Wednesday that President Johnson was setting up an emergency board to study issues between the airline and the union.

Arthur Bellwood, 56-year-old bachelor farmer of Lower Cumberworth, England, displays the luxurious salt and pepper growth adorning — and hiding — his face. After five years of growth, Bellwood has announced he is going to have it cut off. The village postmaster, Fred Kilner, has circulated a petition to save one of England's greatest beards and the showpiece of the village. Bellwood refuses to go along with the postmaster and says the beard is coming off. (AP Wirephoto)

Union Pacific Loss Misjudged, Consultant Says

CHICAGO (AP) — A transportation consultant for the Union Pacific Railroad said Wednesday a traffic study on which he relied "tends to overstate the loss to Union Pacific" of freight hauled by trucks.

The consultant, R. L. Banks of Washington, D.C., testified at a hearing on a Union Pacific proposal to merge with the Rock Island Lines. The Chicago and North Western Railway, which also seeks control of the Rock Island, and other lines are fighting the proposed merger.

Banks was cross-examined by Gerald Stern, lawyer for the North Western.

Stern asked Banks about a study of competing services which Stern said showed freight moving by truck between Illinois and Wisconsin. The Union Pacific does not operate east of the Missouri River.

"How could they (Union Pacific) have moved some of that tonnage from Illinois to Wisconsin?" Stern asked.

White told police he was traveling east on State 22 when he was blinded by the lights of an oncoming car on a curve. The car skidded 130 feet across the intersection and into the ditch where it struck the rock, moving it 40 feet.

Negro, White Youths In Rock-Throwing Melee in Arizona

GLOBE, Ariz. (AP) — Police broke up a rock-throwing disturbance Wednesday night involving Negro and white youths and some adults.

About 100 persons were involved, said Police Chief Rod Weinberg. No one was injured.

Weinberg said teen-age girls in a car apparently started it by shouting at Negro youths sitting in downtown Globe from a federal Job Corps camp at San Carlos.

There was no fighting but rocks and other articles were thrown, police said.

Laird Vs. Johnson on Spending

Wisconsin's Rep. Melvin Laird got more newspaper headlines than did President Johnson in the recent verbal exchange over government spending and taxes. It was right and fair that he did, because Laird certainly had the best of the argument.

Last week President Johnson called in Congressional members of appropriation committees and told them he was concerned that spending in Congress over and above his budget recommendations might lead him to a decision to increase federal income taxes. It was another calculated attempt by the Administration to put the blame for higher taxes upon the Congress.

But Laird, as spokesman for the Republican Party in Congress came back in a speech on the House floor and declared the President guilty of the same charge he levels in his warnings about spending extra cents against. He reminded the President that Republicans had backed reduction of more nondefense domestic spending in view of the rapidly increasing requirements of the Vietnamese War. The priorities that we called for last year are here to haunt us today, he declared.

The President takes the position that the budget he submitted early in this session is an absolute guideline for U.S. spending. When one of the Administration's spending projects comes up for funding, the White House has the whole force of its lobbying, Laird said. But if Congress uses its own judgment on an appropriation in excess of the President's budget, as for instance in continuing the school milk program, then the President turns his ire upon them.

Both the Administration and the Congress should begin to realize that federal taxes on levels are now at or even some considerably higher levels when all of the various levies are considered. Social Security withholding is taking an ever-increasing bite out of the take home pay of American wage earners even as federal income tax withholding rates have been increased.

Before the President can be taken seriously on his warnings on spending, Congress should ask the Administration and the Budget Bureau to come forth with recommendations on how the spending levels proposed in the budget submitted in January can be cut.

What About Executive Ethics?

A special committee of senators is investigating charges against Senator Thomas Dodd involving ethical questions. But there seems to be no logical group to investigate what may be merely carelessness on the part of the executive branch of our government but is bound to raise eyebrows.

Representative Charles Goodell brought out into the open the fact that an antitrust suit brought by the Justice Department against Anheuser-Busch's purchase of a Wisconsin brewery was dismissed just about a month after sizeable contributions were made to the President's Club by some executives of Anheuser-Busch and their wives. The President's Club opens its membership to anyone who contributes $1,000 or more to the Democratic National Committee.

It also turned out that Vice President Humphrey and the head of the Justice Department's antitrust division were given free transportation in a plane belonging to Anheuser-Busch at about the same time. Again, there may have been no undercover bribery. But the action was improper at the very least. If Mr. Humphrey did not know about the pending antitrust action, the head of the department surely did. And we might even suggest that the Vice President of the United States ought to know circumstances involving any industrialist who offers such transportation.

There has been almost an arrogant carelessness in the lack of explanation about the incidents coming from the executive department.

But No Real Revolt

One of the unusual aspects of the recent decision of the International Court of Justice over the suit of two African nations against the Republic of South Africa's authority in Southwest Africa was that the justice from the Soviet Union and the justice from Poland voted on opposite sides.

Actually Justice Bohdan Winiarski's belief that Liberia and Ethiopia did not have sufficient interest in the matter for a suit differed with that officially expressed by his government in Poland. Since the decision, the Gomulka regime has issued an official statement deploring the decision as "fully unfounded" and viewing it with "deep disappointment." This is in line with the official position of the Soviet Union which its justice on the World Court also expressed.

Part of the reason for the split is the way justices are elected to the World Court. Each nation that is a party to the Hague conventions which established the court in 1897 submits the names of four of its jurists as candidates for the court. When a vacancy exists, the United Nations General Assembly and Security Council then vote on a replacement. Justice Winiarski, not a Communist and generally quite out of sympathy with the Communist government in Poland, was selected in 1946. But this is the last year he can be expected to be on the court. His second nine year term expires and Poland is certain not to resubmit his name.

Justice Winiarski, now 82, has had a long history of respected judicial service to his nation and on the international level. Before World War I he was legal advisor to the Polish National Committee and to the Polish delegation at the Paris peace conference in 1919. A member of the Polish Diet for seven years, he was also professor of international law at the University of Poznan until the Nazis overran Poland. As president of the Bank of Poland in London during the rest of World War II, he returned to join the Communist government in Warsaw but not as a Red. Presumably his allegiance to his country was stronger than his antipathy to communism or perhaps he thought he might have a mediating effect upon the regime.

This only once was a mistake but Justice Winiarski did make it clear what he thought about his government's subservience to the Russian point of view in the World Court decision.

Democratic Attack on Mrs. Smith Is New Campaign Strategy

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — If some of the younger votes of Wisconsin believe that there is some mysterious rule of Wisconsin politics that requires that the state treasurer of the state shall be named Smith, it may be understandable. With one exception since 1938, the voters of Wisconsin have chosen a treasurer named Smith at their biennial elections. Today for the first time, however, there is developing a serious and even violent contest for the office that was won by the late John M. Smith nearly three decades ago, was passed on the late Warren R. Smith in 1946, and was inherited by the latter's widow, Dena Smith, the present occupant, a decade later.

Wyngaard

Mrs. Smith is under attack by a Democratic opponent in a manner that may seem crude to some critics. Richard Zaborski, the Milwaukee state senator who is one of the candidates for the Democratic nomination for the office, has been firing broadsides with scarcely concealed innuendo. Mrs. Smith is affronted. The opponent is stooping to unworthy tactics, she complains, and she refuses to descend to the level of such ungentlemanly conduct is rebuttal.

Other onlookers may believe, as the Democratic strategists have evidently concluded, that a valued public office is at stake, that the campaign dialogue relating to the lower offices on the election ticket has too long been muted, and that a female occupant of elective place cannot expect a suspension of the rules of competition that would apply if a man was involved.

THE MEANING

Diverting as these indignant and unusual exchanges may be during the early stage of the parties' hunt for votes they may be useful in illustrating a factor in Wisconsin elections that has had too little public notice.

Zaborski, who apparently has had the help of some friendly timekeepers in Mrs. Smith's entourage, has claimed that the Republican state treasurer failed to turn up for work during one-third of the last year and that she should be discharged, therefore, for inattention of her duties.

Yet the fact is that the state treasurer is one of the most dispensable offices on the state ballot. It would be possible, assuming that the partisan opposition ignored the facts, for a treasurer to miss all except a few days without perceptibly affecting the operation of the office, which performs purely ministerial functions and which can function quite adequately with the civil servants who appear at their desks each morning. The idea that the treasurer is some kind of an expert financial manager, or the state's banker, has been obsolete for decades. So radically has the legislature altered its functions and transferred them over the years that there is no longer a genuine reason for the election of its head.

MYSTERY

But why should the Democrats have devised this violent assault upon the lady occupant of the office, minor as they know it is? The reasons are probably two. Democratic tacticians studying the recent election record have been reminded of the strange fact that while they can compete with fair success for major offices such as U.S. senator and governor, they have repeatedly lost the lesser ones by decisive margins.

Moreover, they have concluded that Mrs. Smith is vulnerable and that exploiting the treasury situation may rub off some benefits for the major candidates, consigning such chores to lesser candidates is standard operating procedure. A candidate for governor might demean himself. There is no special risk involved for the man who is listed as the candidate for the office under attack.

An old friend who is a professional campaign manager likes to tell a relevant story about an incident in a nearby state. A candidate for minor office was sent into the boondocks to utter speeches carefully prepared for him about the dominance of the goons and their relation with the ruling party in the metropolitan community. He was enjoying the attention he was getting until one day he got a message from the goon commander suggesting that he cease and desist, under penalty of being "rubbed out."

Frantically he consulted the campaign manager, who took the news calmly, and advised:

"Let them take you for a ride. We'll elect the rest of the ticket."

Two Property Owners Objecting To Widening of Wilkie Street

Editor, Post-Crescent:

Well, the bootprint of progress is about to leave its mark on another area of Appleton again, whether the taxpayers involved agree or not.

The city feels the south end of Willkie Street should be widened. In order to do this, we two property owners must give up 20 feet of our land. We do not want to do this. Therefore, the city will condemn our land and take it anyway. This seems to be the trend of action the city is taking these days. It has happened before in our fair city.

We own our land, or so we believe, but if the city wants it we have no say in the end. Also when our taxes are due, we should please be there to pay them — promptly. How can the city condemn and take so easily?

Several years ago when Willkie Street was extended to Foster Street, there was only one property owner and enough land to make a decent yard after the street was finished. Why wasn't all this settled then? Where was the city's planning and foresight at that time?

Ten years ago when the property was divided and being sold, the city could have still stepped in and taken care of this street business. But no, not only did they issue a permit to the north lot buyer to build his home and charge him a special fee to move it forward four feet. They also reassured him the street would never be widened. The south lot owners were assured the same thing when they purchased the house located there.

It seems a few citizens have to suffer for past blunders made by the city. Present city government tells us they cannot be responsible for what occurred in past administration. But it doesn't ease the suffering.

School traffic and parking in particular has been given as one reason for this street widening. There are "no parking" signs on both sides of Foster Street in the school area and on both sides of the south end of Willkie Street. So where do people park who bring their children to school? They don't obey the signs and the police do not enforce observation of the signs much either. It was a waste of time and money (taxpayers) to put them up.

But Foster School made a pickup and turn-around area in the school lot. We observe that the majority of drivers do not make use of this. So how to solve this traffic problem? Is chopping off a sizeable piece of our land the only answer?

Why can't the stationary gate at the east end of Foster School yard be removed so traffic coming into the lot for pick-up may flow out east and north on Foster Ct. back to Foster Street? The north section of Foster Ct. is already wide enough to take this traffic. The city could save some of the taxpayers' money and we owners concerned wouldn't have to have traffic practically on the front porch and under bedroom windows, and our property devaluated.

We wonder too, at the curt manner in which the meeting at city hall proceeded. One of the property owners drove back 75 miles from their vacation for a meeting of a few minutes in which we could express our views. The officials, we grant, are very busy there, but we wonder if it is necessary to carry on as though they're holding criminal court in great haste.

Strictly Personal

Thoughts at Large Occupy Harris Today

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

"One irrational slogan is worth a thousand facts" is an old Chinese proverb I have just made up for the fall election season.

Speaking of politics, has anyone noticed that our party has an "administration," but the other party has a "regime"?

Harris

Long ago I learned never to attend a lecture or forum, of which the title begins with "Whither."

Cab drivers should be graded Fast, Medium or Slow on the sides of their cabs, so that a passenger won't (as I invariably do) pick up a myopic slowpoke when trying to make a plane, or fall in the clutches of a speed-demon when there is plenty of time for an appointment.

When I view a conceited performer, it reminds me of George Eliot's remark: "It has always seemed to me a sort of clever stupidity only to have one sort of talent like a carrier pigeon."

Performers, however, may conceitedly talk about themselves a lot, but at least most of them do it in entertaining fashion; it is the professional athlete who is conversationally self-centered in the most boring manner possible.

Women are excellent judges of men they care nothing about, but are easily deluded by the men they love; whereas men are absurdly taken in by strange women, but retain few illusions about the women they are close to.

A letter which begins, "I don't quite know how to say this . . ." is always unpleasant and usually dishonest.

It would help us to understand Europeans' ambivalent feelings toward America if we saw how identical the inhabitants of a tourist state feel toward the tourists — resenting their presence in almost exact proportion as they require their money.

What bigots never understand is that people who are treated like inferiors become inferiors; as G. L. Dickinson said: "Every kind of discrimination is a protection of the incompetent against the competent, with the result that the motive to become competent is taken away."

Why would anyone own a snarling dog that has to be walked on a short leash; what possible fun can it be to possess a snappish beast?

Paintings of landscapes (and, even more, seascapes) invariably bore me, because it is the element of slow or rapid change in the color pattern which gives nature its greatest beauty — and no reproduction can be anything but static; a painting of a sunset, for instance, inevitably misses the one thing that makes a sunset memorable, namely, its movement.

My idea of an over-educated child is one who gives the past tense of the verb "sneak" as "sneaked" instead of the much more expressive "snuck."

Heavy Souvenirs Stolen From Museum

STUART, Fla. (AP) — A record for stealing resort souvenirs may have been set at House of Refuge, a marine museum. Its officials reported theft of two 1,000-pound bronze propellers, gift of the Navy several years ago. How the massive marine screws were removed was not explained.

To Your Good Health

Hardening of Arteries Not Hopeless Condition

BY JOSEPH MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Tests show that a man of 51 is afflicted with heart disease and arteriosclerosis obliterans in the lower extremities.

His legs are very weak and constantly painful. Is this disease curable or can arteries in the legs be replaced with plastic tubes? If so, can the patient use his legs normally? I have also been told that nerves in the legs could be cut to relieve the severe pain. But wouldn't this leave the patient without use of his legs? — E.W.

Arteriosclerosis obliterans is a severe type of hardening of the arteries. Circulation is greatly impaired and this causes the weakness and pain.

Possibility of surgical help depends on the location of the narrowed segments of arteries. This can be determined in an arteriogram (special X-ray of the arteries).

If one of the larger arteries in the thigh or above is the site of the principal clogging, then surgery may be considered to insert a section of plastic, or in some other way (depending on circumstances) let blood flow more freely past the clogged point.

This will not interfere with use of the legs. Rather, it will improve their condition by increasing the circulation.

If the principal difficulty is in the smaller vessels of the lower leg, then this procedure cannot be done successfully.

Severing Nerves

The nerve operation you mentioned is called a sympathectomy, which involves severing a special segment of nerves which control the arterial tone. That is, the operation permits greater dilation of the smaller arteries in the affected region, thus increasing circulation through them.

Dr. Molner

These are not the nerves which control the leg muscles; therefore the patient can continue to use his legs as before. The difference is only that he will have more strength and less pain, the improvement depending on how much the circulation is increased.

While both these procedures can be very helpful in suitable cases, keep in mind that they are not cure-alls. They are to be used only with due consideration for the extent of the problem and the degree of improvement which might be expected.

For example, repairing one of the arteries high in the leg could be of little value if too much clogging is present also in the lower limbs. You must abide by the doctors' decision after suitable tests have been made.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have a 13-year-old daughter who is 5 feet 1 and weighs 159 pounds. What can be done for her? — Mrs. A.M.

The first step is to have a medical examination to make certain that no glandular disorder is causing this enormous weight. Preferably consult an endocrinologist. If her glands are operating properly, then the answer is a suitable reducing diet, no nibbling between meals, and more exercise.

Much heart trouble is preventable. Write to Dr. Molner in care of The Post-Crescent, Appleton, Wis. 54911 for your copy of his booklet, "How to Take Care of Your Heart," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

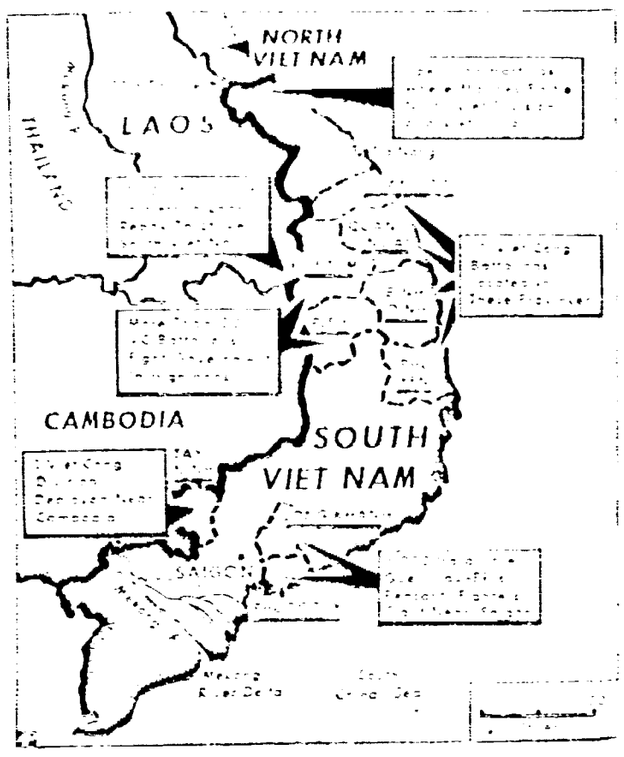
Showpiece Victory Over U.S. Troops Goal of Strategists

250,000 Guerrillas, Regulars, Peasant Soldiers Under Viet Cong

By GEORGE McARTHUR



concentrate on one overriding problem. How to win a showpiece victory from a major American unit.

At the Communists' disposal are some 250,000 fighting men. They have a full-time guerrilla army seasoned by years of war. There are crack North Vietnamese regulars infiltrated from Hanoi. And they have a host of peasant soldiers who hide their guns by day.

Backing them up is North Viet Nam's 600,000-man regular army which by U. S. estimate, is sending some 5,000 replacements South each month.

Grinding South

A little over a year ago this force was clearly on the way to victory in Viet Nam. The tactics which had bled and defeated the [illegible] ters and jets were making this hazardous.

By re-equipping units with Soviet and Chinese weapons the Communists burdened them selves with the need to bring almost all ammunition from the North — a 1,000-mile supply line for remote units. The Red field force requires at least 150,000 pounds of rice daily.

On the evidence thus far, the Communists have been unable to handle these problems and maintain the "strategic mobility" their theories demand.

For several months, however, intelligence officers in Saigon have been aware that the Red leadership was attempting to slip seasoned battalions into new battle positions.

The aim was a continuing effort to get men, rice and guns [illegible] area where the [illegible] flushed out a North Vietnamese division plus other Viet Cong and regular units. More are known to be in the area and the infiltration routes are short and difficult to locate — which means it will remain a likely area for Communist surprises.

Farther south, the Communist forces are again looking for one way to seize or strangle the vital central highlands which sprawl from the Laotian and Cambodian frontiers into a half-dozen provinces. In Pleiku and Kontum Provinces, the Communists have scattered 20 or more battalions, most of them North Vietnamese regulars.

Just to the east, the Communists have more than 20 battalions in four coastal provinces plus large forces of local guerrillas.

Ready to Move

And ready to move into the central highlands are a number of North Vietnamese units, perhaps as many as 10,000 men from the haven of camps in Laos and Cambodia.

Another long-standing concentration is located in what is known as Zone Charlie, barely 75 miles northwest of Saigon. A full Viet Cong division is regularly headquartered in the dense Zone C forests of upper Tay Ninh Province, where the political and military headquarters of the Viet Cong is located.

Barely 50 miles east of Saigon is another Viet Cong stronghold, with division of some 5,000 hard-core guerrillas and an equal number of peasant warriors.

The vast delta area south of Saigon is treated as a separate war zone by both the Communists and the Saigon government. This area contains fully one-third of South Viet Nam's population and is the nation's rice bowl.

For psychological reasons the Communists have sent no North Vietnamese regulars here. They use local guerrillas in hit and run raids. Similarly, there are no American combat units in the area — only advisers and support units.

Delta War

Leaving the South Vietnamese to fight the delta war alone, the United States has posted its forces around Saigon and to the north in patterns initially designed to deny vital points to the Communists. This strategy is now enlarging to flush the Communists from their strongholds.

The forces available to Westmoreland and the Saigon government overwhelmingly outnumber the Communists.

South Viet Nam has a regular army of some 320,000 men plus 136,000 regional forces and 135,000 popular forces troops who are restricted to local guard duties. These are more or less evenly distributed over four corps areas.

The United States has something like 280,000 men, South Korea 25,000, Australia and New Zealand about 4,700. Thailand has a 130-man contingent and the Philippines soon will be sending a 2,000-man engineer and security force.

Backing these up is the U. S. 7th Fleet with 60,000 men and usually three to four carriers on station.

In the air, the United States can move its forces with 1,650 helicopters and support them with 1,500 airlift and combat aircraft — not counting several hundred more planes from the carriers and from bases in Thailand. From Guam, B52 bombers stage one to three raids daily on South Viet Nam.

From north to south, U. S. and South Vietnamese forces control every vital area, but this leaves vast tracts of mountain and forest and flooded paddy land under virtual Viet Cong control. One yardstick of control is the battered coastal railway system which once ran for about 1,000 miles. Only a third now operates with any regularity.

Lady Bird Chooses Yellow For Daughter's Wedding

By FRANCES LEWINE

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson will wear a mimosa yellow dress for her daughter Luci's wedding Aug. 6.

The First Lady had some final fittings at the White House Tuesday with designer Adele Simpson of New York.

One thing Mrs. Johnson wanted to make sure was that she had enough room in the dress to raise her arms freely so she can dance at the White House wedding reception. "I have a tall husband," she reminded the designer.

The fashion trend has been moving toward low-heeled shoes but Mrs. Johnson reportedly is reluctant to discard her high heels. Nevertheless, she has conceded somewhat and will have new shoes with low heels for the wedding.

The First Lady's two White House aides — Bess Abell, social secretary, and Elizabeth Carpenter, press secretary — also will wear wedding costumes by Miss Simpson, who has been designing clothes for Mrs. Johnson for some time.

Luci, who will wear a traditional long white bridal dress, chose floor-length gowns in shades of pink moire for her bridesmaids.

Temperatures have been hitting the high 90s in Washington and the wedding planners are beginning to worry that moire may be quite hot to wear in the National Shrine of the Immaculate Conception. The big church where the wedding will be held is not air conditioned.

Amid continuing White House preparations, Luci is guest of honor at another bridal luncheon today. It is being given at the exclusive Washington Club by bridesmaids Kathleen Carter and Charlotte Szoo, both of nearby Arlington Va.

The final round of parties begins next Monday when Ambassador and Mrs. W. Averell Harriman gives a big evening reception to introduce the Washington diplomatic corps to Luci, her fiance, Patrick J. Nugent, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gerard P. Nugent of Waukegan, Il.

The elder Nugents are due at the White House Monday. They will remain as presidential houseguests until after the wedding.

The 114-nation diplomatic corps has bought Luci and Nugent a $2,300 six-piece silver tea service, the most expensive wedding gift reported so far.

Concrete Can Stir Up Trouble

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN

Q: Our concrete porch floor is cracking in big holes. It's now so bad you can't sweep it without sweeping part of the floor away. Can you suggest anything to do?

A: Sounds like a textbook example of neglecting to mix thoroughly. So your concrete ends up with pockets of too much sand and too little cement, and crumbling there. Or the sand itself may not have been really clean. Try a transparent liquid cement hardening preparation, available at lumber yards. If this doesn't work, then you'll (sorry to say!) probably need another layer of properly mixed concrete.

Q: Years of exposure to city soot and dirt has made the front of my sandstone building so dirty even hard scrubbing has little effect. Even the front steps don't respond to brush-scrubbing enough to make it worth the effort. What else can I do?

A: Easiest, though not the cheapest by any means, is to have a building cleaning contractor steam-clean, or perhaps resort to sandblasting. Get estimate first.

Q: Bees — thousands of them — have worked behind our chingles, and their buss-humming is driving me a little desperate. How can I get rid of them?

A: Often a keeper of bees will be glad to come over and remove a swarm for free. If no luck locating one, call an exterminator. This is no amateur job.

Q: I've been slowly and painfully trying to chip dried mortar off old bricks I bought for a patio. If there's an easier way, I'd surely love to hear about it!

A: So would I! Sometimes fairly long immersion in an acid solution will soften the mortar so that it chips off a little easier. But not every time. Mix one part muriatic acid in 10 parts of water, in as large a not-mental container as you have, and soak the bricks for an hour or so. Then see if the chipping goes faster. If anyone knows another way, or super-mortar-softener, I'd certainly appreciate hearing about it. Wear heavy gloves and goggles.

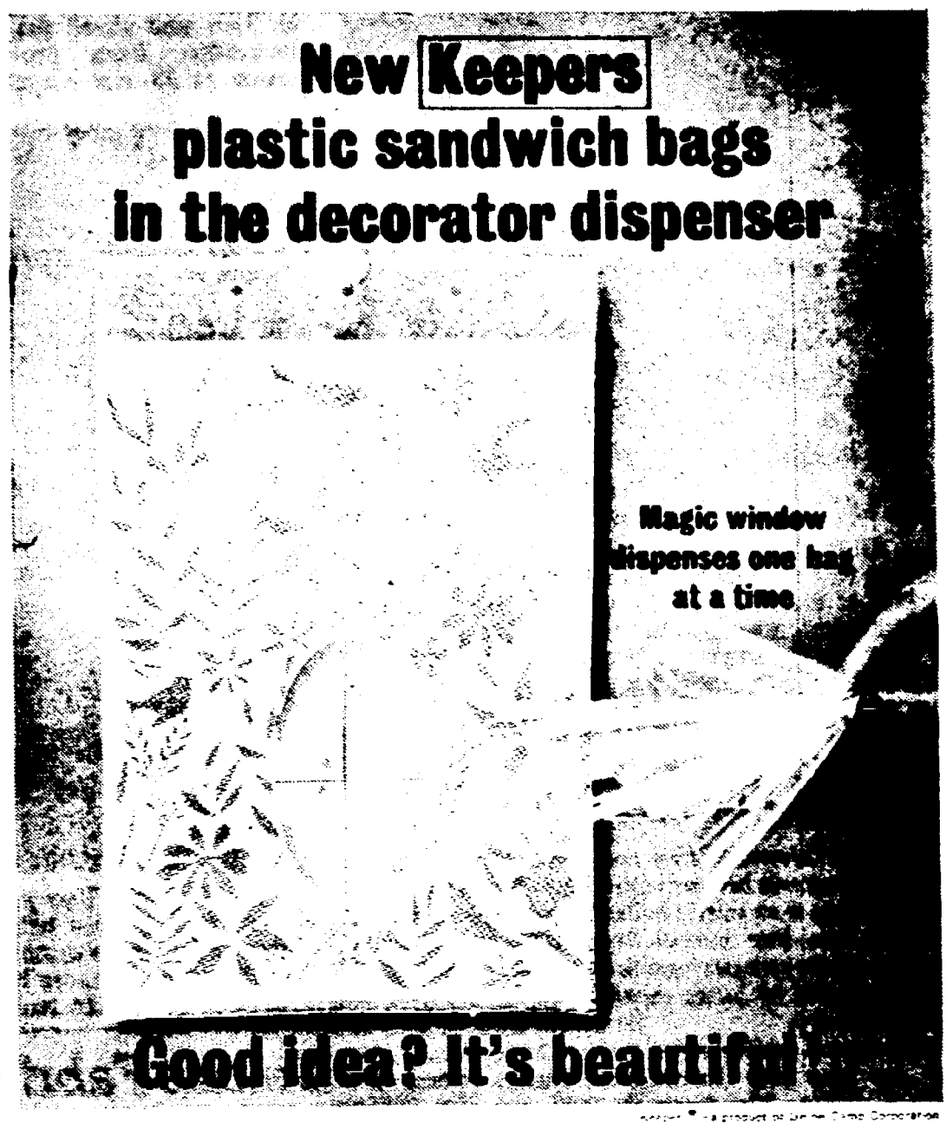
Family Has Annual Reunion

SHIOCTON—Forty-eight members of the Koepke family gathered at the American Legion Clubhouse July 17 for their 15th annual reunion. Families attended from Waupaca, Oshkosh, Appleton, Neenah and Shiocton.

Mrs. Martin Josephs, Appleton, was elected president for the coming year. Other officers named were Mrs. Robert Clarke, Neenah, vice president, and Mrs. Dennis Meyer, Neenah, secretary and treasurer.

Mrs. Hugh Clark, Neenah, was the oldest member present. The infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Oberstadt Jr. was the youngest attending.

Mrs. Elmer Koepke, Neenah, had charge of the reunion. The next gathering will be held the third Sunday in September.



Keep a Keepers dispenser in any handy spot. It's pretty enough to hang above your work counter — on the wall or kitchen cabinet. The magic window dispenses just one bag at a time. ☐ They're sandwich-size, tough plastic bags, too, with a tuck-in flap and flavor-seal cuff. Keep sandwiches fresh all day long! ☐ And there's not a word of advertising on the front of a Keepers dispenser. Just a bright yellow decorator design that cheers up your whole kitchen. And you.

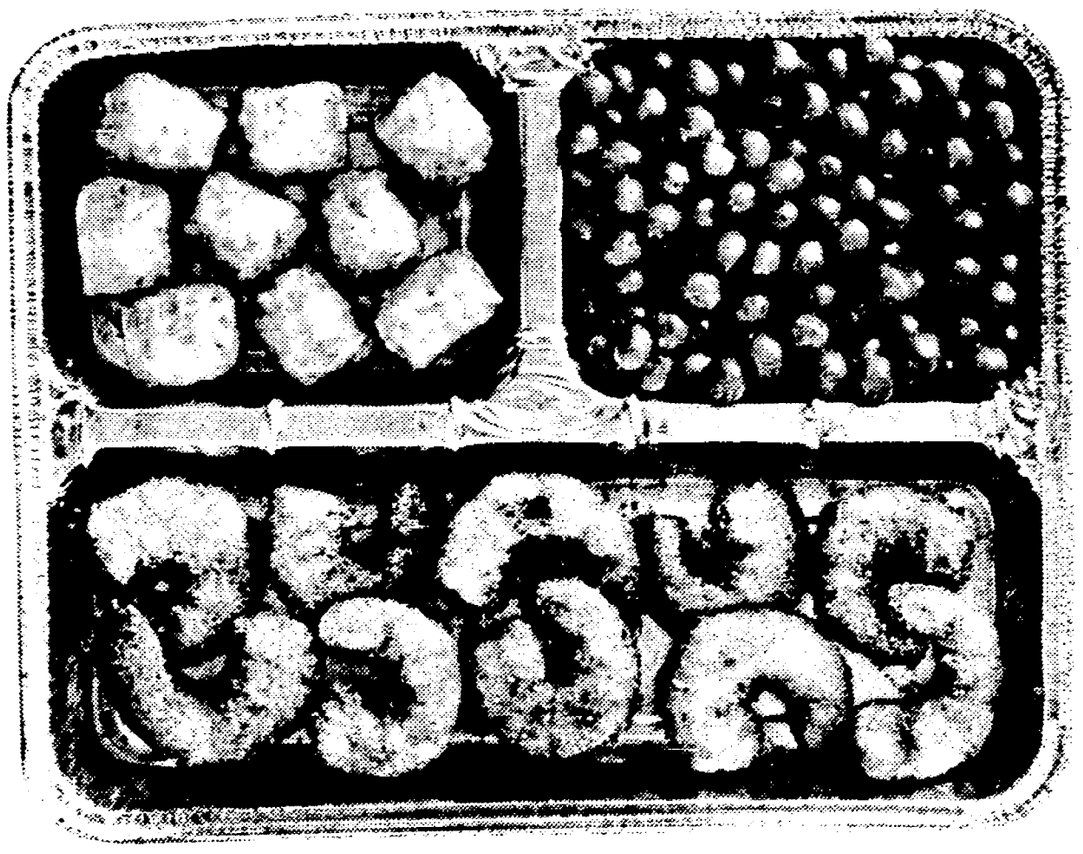
when the shrimp in the dinner are cooked?



Shrimp in most frozen dinners are already cooked. The idea is to save you time. But Cap'n John's had a better idea: freeze them uncooked... freeze them fresh.

Another unusual idea of ours: trim away all the tail shell!

The shrimp are breaded, topped with butter. We blanch the peas, partly cook the potatoes. Then, if you pre-heat your oven to 420°, everything's done to perfection in just 20 minutes!

Cap'n John's takes no longer than dinners with pre-cooked frozen shrimp.

The shrimp tastes fabulous. Because you cook it fresh. And—as if that weren't refreshing enough—our Cap'n John's Frozen Shrimp Dinner costs you less!

Youngest College Boy On Heels of an A-Average

By PHIL BROWN

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Mike Grost is one 12-year-old with no summer vacation problem of. "Hey, Mom, what is there to do?" The National Science Foundation grants him $30 a week to do mathematical research.

It is a program to encourage college students, and that is what Mike is — almost an all-A student at that.

Mike who just completed his sophomore year at Michigan State University's Honors College, plugged quietly along among 35,000 other students at the East Lansing campus, studying calculus, physics, religion, French and computer science.

He received only two grades of B — one in French and one in religion — to go with an otherwise straight-A record.

Faculty advisers, who first watched to see if the decision to admit Mike to college at age 10 was correct, no longer show such concern

They are careful not to influence him toward any one career field.

His classmates exerted a bit of influence on him last spring, suggesting he make a try at athletics.

Mike agreed and moved into the perfect spot for a crew-cut 100-pounder — coxswain for an intramural racing shell.

Mike was the youngest known freshman in the United States since 1886. He could receive a master's degree before he is old enough to drive, and a doctorate at an age when many students are just entering college.

Mike's father, William Grost of Lansing, says that it is unimportant whether Mike receives his bachelor's degree at age 14. He and his wife, Audrey, would rather see him proceed slowly, taking extra courses and exploring new fields.

As a junior, Mike has to pick a major field and has decided on physical science.

He has been working with Dr. Fritz Herzog, a mathematics professor, to catch up on some steps he missed by not taking high school math. He has taken a series of advanced calculus courses

He also is working 20 hours a week on the National Science Foundation summer program, designed to teach research methods to college undergraduates.

"I'm enjoying it," said Mike "It's not at all like work."

The short summer work week was designed to give Mike time for recreation with his family and friends his age.

Mike Grost, Lansing, Mich., is only 12 years old but has already completed two years of college at Michigan State University. This summer he is doing mathematical research under a National Science Foundation grant. He has received "B" in only two subjects—French and religion. His other grades have all been "A". Rehearsal Dinner at Club

By FRANCES LEWINE

WASHINGTON (AP)—One of Washington's new private social clubs—The George Town has been booked for the wedding rehearsal dinner party the Gerard Nugents will give for the Lyndon B Johnsons and the Luci Johnson bridal party.

About 60 are expected for the dinner party on the evening of the wedding of the Johnsons' 19-year-old daughter and the Nugents' son, Patrick, 23. Members of the bridal party and some close relatives are included.

Not Inexpensive

The club's French chef will provide the menu, not yet decided on by the Nugents

The club, started last March, now has about 160 members, who paid initiation fees of $350 and annual dues of $200.

Club president Tongsun Park, who is in the Korean petroleum marketing business, says it draws from all walks of Washington life.

A Republican member, Robert Gray, cabinet secretary in the Dwight D. Eisenhower administration, arranged to rent the club for the Nugents, also Republicans. Gray now is an executive in a public relations firm here.

Charter Members

Among the 14 charter members were former Rep Clark Thompson, a Texas Democrat and longtime friend of the Johnsons and freshman Sen. George Murphy, R-Calif

Other founders include Mrs. Robert R. McCormick, widow of the Chicago Tribune publisher, Mrs. Claire Chennault, widow of the Flying Tiger general, and Thomas G. Corcoran, lawyer-adviser to Franklin D. Roosevelt's administration.

The club, Park says, is completely integrated, but has no Negro members because, he says, none has applied for membership

Any club member can rent the club's facilities if there are 50 or more people.

Your Problems

Separate Room Issue Actually Question of Social Propriety

BY ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: I've read some pretty stupid advice in your column but telling that 70-year-old grandfather to wait until 1967 to take his 18-year-old granddaughter on a trip to Europe just because he couldn't afford separate rooms this year was the dumbest thing yet

To begin with, the grandfather might not be here in 1967 and that girl could miss a chance of a lifetime just because you didn't think it was proper If a girl can't trust her own grandfather, for heaven's sake, who can she trust?

I'l bet Grandpa has changed that girl's diapers and given her a bath dozens of times Your advice was dumb and I hope it was ignored — Judi

Dear Judi: Gramps may well have changed the girl's diapers and given her baths — but not lately, dearie. Little girls do grow up to be big girls.

Apparently you were so ignited by my advice that you didn't bother to read Gramps' letter. He described himself as "full of pep and a real swinger." This is not to suggest that I think gramps is a dirty old man, but I did get the impression that he is likely to live at least another year — which is the length of time he said it would take to save for separate rooms.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You do a good job for a non-lawyer I liked your advice to the father who wrote about his avaricious children They were trying to persuade him to stop spending his money so they would inherit a sizeable estate

The next time you advise someone about estates, however, do them a favor and

suggest that they leave the original of the will with an attorney and keep a copy

Why? Father dies Number two and three sons and their wives are the first to appear on the scene They look in the desk for burial instructions or out of sheer curiosity They find Dad's will The lion's share is left to Number One son So they destroy the will Result In most states the sons get equal shares

This sort of thing happens every day It cannot occur if the original of the will is reposing safely in the attorney's vault. Pass the word, will you please? — Attorney W.J.M.

Dear W.J.M.: It's nice lawyers like you who help a non-lawyer like me alert millions of readers to some important facts of life. We are all in your debt.

DEAR ANN: I'm 43 now and ever since Mike and I married I've helped him in business When he sold cookware I washed dishes while he gave the health talk When he went to work for a trucking company and his helper didn't show up I'd go along and help him unload the furniture Now we own a small cafe and I'm the cashier, bookkeeper and general manager

Last month Mike hired a go go girl as a waitress He said she'd be a drawing card We don't need a drawing card We need someone who will work — and she won't

I don't want Mike to think I am jealous He is not a skirt chaser and I don't worry about such things But what should I do? — Boots

Dear Boots. Keep your eye peeled for a working replacement for Miss Drawing Card When you have one, hand the doll her walking papers and let her go-go.

Too many starry eyed lovers do not know the difference Do you? Send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Before You Marry — Is It Love Or Sex?" enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long self-addressed, stamped envelope

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope

'Big Show' at Playgrounds

"Step right up, boys and girls It's the big carnival – this week – at all the playgrounds Games and contests food and drink games and sideshows Fun for all

Posters were out and preparations underway for days Playground carnivals are highlights of the summer season for children who attend the Recreation Dept programs at 13 city parks and schools The playgrounds held scavenger hunts the night before to gather last minute necessities, such as rope for marking off booths, games, boxes, stakes, prizes and toys

The weather threatened toward the 6 p m starting time, and with thunder sounding and sprinkles beginning, some of the playgrounds postponed their carnivals for a day Others, such as Erb Park, felt it was too far along to permit putting it off, and in the shelter of pavilions, went ahead with their plans The pictures here were all taken at Erb, where a band had been arranged for dancing, where the popcorn, peanuts and hot dogs seemed to have a special flavor, in spite of or because of, the light shower that cooled the evening.

Deluxe Fabrics Highlight Jean Lanvin Collection

By LUCIE NOEL

PARIS (AP) — Jean Lanvin today showed a winter collection which highlighted deluxe fabrics, ranging from handsome pageantry brocade to velour woolens and Staron's Roman striped silks Hemlines swung at the kneecap

Lanvin on the third day of Paris fall and winter fashions, showed four different styles in coats One was a Man's robe, called the dressing gown, which was soft, belted, tied at the waist and trimmed with a fur shawl collar Then came his envelope coat, tightly wrapped, lined in beaver nutria or sable, or with a fur panel collar

The redingote is unfitted this season Clothing and suits are stepped and staggered, or zigzag Boldly designed, they add interest to a slim silhouette

Of great appeal are the cocktail dresses which feature — as most of the evening dresses — his new Crahay neckline Built up straight and high in front, it drops from spaghetti straps down the back He repeats this again and again in plain fabrics, in velvet and in tailored, luxurious materials

Cocktail dresses also display floating panels running from necklines and caught at hemlines They billow as the wearer moves, recalling the immense French tricolor flag which floats beneath the Arch of Triumph on national holidays

Sensational hostess costumes vary from a demure, floating shift with neckline interest and long sleeves, to exciting Indochinese brocaded tunics with deep flared peplums worn over sheer chiffon Turkish trousers One is in shades of oranges and yellow another in shades of blue and silver.

Silver is everywhere — in coat buttons, on helmets in fabulous matelasses simulating Scotch plaids

Tunics in Collection

Little pastel sugar bonbon shades step forth for daytime in useful wool suits their short jackets lined with chinchilla or sable There are many nine-tenths tunics with fur bands on the underskirt Tunics run throughout the collection

Millinery features many Garbo felts and also berets and turbans in silver or striped silks

Lots of white points to a white Christmas

Marriage Announced

The 14 Appleton Cadettes will leave for Camp Vic-to-Rae at 1 p m When their 16 guests arrive at 7 the girls will be ready The first night they will all pitch tents and make their camping preparations, staying in the Pioneer unit of Vic-to-Rae Over their work and a snack they will get reacquainted

Over Year Ago

The young women from Milwaukee will be making their second visit to the Fox Cities They first came in March 1965, at the invitation of St Therese Scouts spending a weekend in the homes of various members The Sacred Heart girls, under the leadership of Mrs Frank Escamilla, took over the guests on the final day of their visit serving them dinner and seeing them to the train

The friendships caught on and in the fall the Milwaukee girls invited the Appleton Scouts to visit them at Camp Will-I-Run north of Saukville. There the girls played leap frog in a bright autumn sun, did a nature study, finding abandoned birds' nests and lifted their voices in a Girl Scout's favorite occupation, singing.

On Their Own

Now they're going to try their hand at troop camping The Milwaukee Scouts and those of Troop 322 will rough it, working to earn their craft badges and get a start on pioneer badges They will lash tables, and flag poles, practice knot tying, learn three ways to keep food in the wilderness, pitch tents, build fires three ways, and, of course, save time for games and songs

The second night they are at Vic-to-Rae the troops will be joined by a Kaukauna troop, already camping in the tent unit at the camp

The Milwaukee girls all seventh to ninth graders, like their hosts, have never before had the opportunity for this kind of camping Accompanying them will be two leaders and an aide Mrs Escamilla will be assisted by aides Bonnie Hammer and Nancy Escamilla

The visit will end Wednesday morning when the Milwaukee Scouts board buses for the return home.

Special Rates Bring Down Cost of Family Vacations

BY MARY FEELEY

Have you ever taken the children along on vacation? Well, you couldn't pick a better time than now. Hotels, motels, airlines, trains, and busses are competing with reduced rates for your children.

The various money-saving family plans available this summer should make parents feel freer having the children along rather than worrying whether the housekeeper at home is on duty.

Take a look at some of the accommodations offered families at large cross-country hotel and motel chains:

Children under 12 stay free if they are in the same rooms as their parents. Charge of $2 to $3 is made for children over 12 using the same room. Cots or roll-away beds are supplied for the children.

Children Under 14

Another big hotel chain has no charge for children under 14, if they occupy their parent's room. And for those over 14, only $3 extra is charged.

Still another well-known hotel chain says: "No limit on the number of children" — if they use the same accommodations occupied by their parents. Or if the walls bulge, and the children are older, a next-door room can be had at single room rates.

All these chains provide children's menus — at "children's prices." In some instances, reliable babysitters are available at nominal fees as well as toys and games.

The large airlines have many versatile travel plans. There's a saying in the industry that if a left-handed red-haired man wanted to go southwest on a Thursday, there would probably be a special plan for him. You should shop around for the family plan that suits you best.

For example, one big airline offers:

A family plan with the head of the household paying full fare, the wife two-thirds and children (age 2 through 21) flying two-thirds, each. These rates are effective from noon Monday through noon Friday, for round trip coach accommodations. This same airline offers another arrangement — from midnight Friday to noon Sunday, round trip. The father pays regular fare, his wife 75 per cent and the children, ages 2 to 12, half. Older children can fly 75 per cent of the regular fare.

Excursion Fares

One airline offers excursion rates even more attractive: 25 per cent off the regular fare from Saturday a.m. to Sunday a.m. Another major carrier permits one or more family members to fly one way of the round trip on different dates. If someone must leave earlier or stay later, the family still gets substantially reduced fares.

Some railroads will let one adult pay regular round trip fare; the other pays only the one-way rate for a round trip, while children 12 to 22 also pay only a one-way rate. Children 5 to 11 pay one-half of a one-way adult fare, and those under 5 travel free.

A nationally known bus line says if the family goes round trip, and the regular fare is $10 or more per person, then the wife gets ¼ off the regular fare as do children ages 12-21. Younger children get 2-3 off.

Off course, credit is extended by most carriers today.

Dear Miss Feeley:

I changed my E bonds to H bonds. We had conflicting answers as to whether H bonds were automatically extended. I wrote to the Treasurer of the United States in July, 1965. Her reply was that E bonds were automatically extended, not H bonds. Has this been changed?

Mrs. J.B.N., Bonita, Calif.

Dear Mrs. J.B.N.:

No, this has not changed. Even though interest rates on government bonds were increased in December, the maturity on H bonds has not changed and is as follows: H bonds issued prior to Feb. 1, 1957 have a 10-year extension, so these bonds will mature in 19 years, 8 months from the time they were issued. Any H bonds issued since Feb. 1957 will not mature until next year. At that time a new extension date will be announced.

(You can write to Mary Feeley in care of The Post-Crescent. Questions of wide interest will be discussed in her column.)

BPW on Record Against Sex Discrimination

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The National Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs has given its approval to proposed legislation to amend the U.S. Constitution to prohibit legislation based on sex.

Action on two other legislative proposals was expected today along with announcement of the election of the second vice president, chairman of the nomination committee and recording secretary.

Installation

Winners of those offices will be installed tonight along with the new president, Sarah Jane Cunningham of McCook, Neb., and other new officers.

The legislative proposal approved, a federation official said, is aimed at eliminating laws which discriminate against women, such as in property rights, pursuit of an occupation and in inheritance rights.

Fashion Paper Describes Luci's Bridal Gown

NEW YORK (AP) — Will Luci Johnson's bridal gown be "a traditional white lace with long sleeves, a high neckline, a little bow to mark the natural waistline, and a face-framing Spanish mantilla ending in a sweeping train?"

That's what Women's Wear Daily said Wednesday the President's daughter will be wearing when she is married Aug. 6 to Patrick J. Nugent.

But Elizabeth Carpenter, Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson's press secretary, promptly denied it at the White House. She contended there was nothing in the fashion trade newspaper's description "which is remotely accurate" about the gown.

Women's Wear Daily, which has been barred from the wedding for its prerelease date publication of a sketch of the bridesmaid's gowns, said it turned up its information "in an old Boston cupboard."

Luci's designer is Priscilla of Boston.

Mrs. Carpenter said she would stick to her decision not to reveal details of Luci's gown prior to the wedding out of respect for "the bride's right to have her fiance see it first."

A Lovelier You

By Mary Sue Miller

Just No Room

A career lovely writes. My apartment is a tiny box The space for exercising is nonexistent And I really need to trim my waist and hips I sit at a desk all day and it's beginning to show Do you know any exercises that can be done on a dime?

The Answer Where there's a will there's always room for figure work The routines below can be done in little more space than is required for you and a small chair.

1. Stand with left side turned in profile to front of chair, and about two feet away from it. Place heel of left foot on chair, so that leg is straight Raise arms overhead and lock thumbs Twisting in waist, bend and try to touch hand to raised foot Repeat ten times, reverse position and continue for ten more counts Always work for increased stretch in waist muscles.

2 Sit erect on floor, legs straight out and hands on hips. By rocking slightly to left, lift right hip off floor and then contract buttock muscles. Hold contraction for five slow counts, relax muscles and quickly drop hip to floor Roll to right and repeat routine. Alternating sides, perform twenty times in all Throughout be sure to relax muscles before lowering hip and to get lots of bounce in the drop

3 Stand tall with back against wall and press spine flat against it Relax and repeat ten times

Now who says there's "no room" for improvement?

Counselor, Not Tranquilizers Needed for Some Problems

BY DR. EVE JONES

DEAR DR. JONES: My boy is nine years old and his biggest problem is school Just to give you an example, they gave him a reading aptitude test with the rest of his class and there were 21 questions and he missed 18. Then they gave him the test alone and he only missed one question. This is what is so heartbreaking, because his teacher, the principal, and myself know he can do the work, but most of the time he just puts down anything just to get done.

He has a wonderful mind for making things but he wants to do everything right the first time, and there is no room for mistakes. If he can't do it right, right away, he loses interest completely. Maybe I better tell you a little about his home life. He has his own room, toys that most average children don't have, his own television set, all kinds of clothes, and more than enough food. I have a bad habit of yelling at the children if they fuss at each other but his older sister is 14 and his younger sister is almost one year old, and they're OK. I don't think I do anything seriously wrong with them.

My son's dad is a different story. Don't get me wrong, he loves his children, but he is always telling him to do this, do that, wash his hands, wash his face, don't do this, don't do that. He just won't realize the boy is only nine years old.

Our doctor has had our boy on tranquilizers, but this hasn't helped at all. We also have a private tutor for him, but his grades are all good with her, so she can't understand why his grades in school are so bad. He just doesn't concentrate at school or apply himself.

Ask your physician to stop the tranquilizers and instead to refer you, your husband, and your boy to a family counselor for personal help in getting together on what you expect of each other. Some problems are too complicated to be handled by a series of suggestions, however specific, unless these are worked out in face-to-face contact.

Dear Dr. Jones: My seven-year-old boy always seems to be the target of the other kids when they want to pick on someone. They play all right with him for a while, and then they tell him to go home because they don't want to play with him any more. This hurts me deeply. Do you suppose it will harm him in any way? Can you tell me what he can do to make the other boys let him play with them? Mrs. J. P.

Why do you suppose the other children act like this? Do you suspect that your son is asking for special consideration or is trying to push the other kids around? Your son's confidence in himself will not suffer if you remind him that he may play with other children only so long as they are being fair with each other and having fun together, but otherwise, he must play alone.

It's hard to see what West hoped to accomplish with his sketchy spade overcall. Not only did he fail to talk the opponents out of a slam, but he also told South how to play the hand successfully.

West opened the nine of diamonds, and South saw the danger of losing a spade and a club. If West had not bid, South would have planned to lead a club from dummy in the hope that East had the ace of clubs. If so, South would be able to discard dummy's low spade on the king of clubs.

The bidding told South that West had the ace of clubs. The normal play could not work, and South had to look for an abnormal way to make his slam.

Sets of Diamonds

Declarer took the top diamonds, ruffed a diamond high, led a trump to dummy's seven and ruffed another diamond high. Then he led a trump to dummy's ten and cashed the last diamond.

On the last diamond South was careful to make the right discard — the seven of clubs! Declarer next cashed the king of spades, just in case East had the singleton queen. When nothing juicy fell, South led the jack of clubs from dummy.

West had to win with the ace of clubs and could not make a safe return. If West returned a spade, South would get a trick with the jack of spades. If West returned a club, South would ruff while dummy discarded the low spade. Either way the slam was home.

Daily Question

Partner opens with 1 NT (16 to 18 points), and the next player passes. You hold: S Q 10 9 7 2, H 5 2, D 9 5, C A Q 10 4. What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two clubs, the Stayman Convention. This asks partner to bid a major suit if he can. If partner bids two spades, you will raise to four spades. If he bids anything else, you will bid two spades. This shows a five-card spade suit and values that may be good for a game opposite anything but a minimum notrumper. Using the Stayman Convention first is a way of showing a hand that is too strong for a simple takeout but not strong enough for a jump takeout.

Construction on the $128,000 addition to the Wisconsin Telephone Co. dial office building at Kaukauna started Monday. The 1,548 square foot addition is being constructed at the rear of the Wisconsin Avenue building. Due to nearness of the river, all excavated material must be moved to the street by conveyor. Geenen Calls Restriction Proposal Illegal

City Attorney Studies Plan On Gas Stations

City Atty. David G. Geenen told city officials Wednesday he believes prohibitions on the construction of service stations on a portion of Wisconsin Avenue or within 1,000 feet of certain other types of structures would be illegal.

Geenen had been requested to study a resolution recently submitted by Ald Clifford Radder (16th) asking that no service stations or petroleum bulk storage plants be constructed within 1,000 feet of schools, churches, playgrounds, hospitals, nursing, children and old peoples' homes or other service stations and bulk storage plants.

Geenen said that such a prohibition must be shown to have some connection with traffic congestion, fire safety, or general health and welfare

"It is my opinion that this proof would be extremely difficult, especially in view of the present ordinance allowing service stations within 150 feet of same," Geenen said.

Violates Provision

The city attorney also was asked for an opinion on the prohibition of service station construction on Wisconsin Avenue from Meade to Richmond streets

He said it appears that a prohibition on service stations in a limited area of a use district violates a provision in state statutes that regulations be uniform throughout each district.

Geenen said Appleton zoning ordinances allow service stations in commercial and light manufacturing districts and added that both sides of the entire length of Wisconsin Avenue have been zoned in that type of district.

Outagamie Lawsuit Hearing Postponed

Post Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — The hearing of Outagamie County's lawsuit against the state over selection of a Green Bay site for the four-year University of Wisconsin northeastern branch has been postponed until Sept 12

The hearing in Dane County Court Branch No 2 had been scheduled for 2 p m Friday before Judge Edwin Wilkie

Wilkie today granted continuance of the arguments until 2 p m Sept 12 He said the request for the postponement came from State Assistant Attorney General Warren Resch

The delay was requested by Stewart Honeck, Milwaukee attorney who is special counsel for the county in the litigation, and Outagamie County Corporation Counsel A W Ponath because of the press of other business.

Honeck Unavailable

Honeck's office said today that he has not been in all week, and that a jury trial in which he is involved started Tuesday and is expected to continue today and Friday

His secretary also said that he has many cases in court during the next month.

Outagamie County and four private citizens brought suit in June against State Treasurer Dena Smith, who is named as defendant in the case because her department handles funds for planning the new school

The attorney general's office has contended that Outagamie County should be disqualified as a plaintiff. It says it does not have proper interest in the issue since it is not a taxpayer

The county was scheduled to reply to this argument Friday, and the state's reply to the county's original complaint would have come after this time

If the motion by the state is approved, four private citizens living in the county would remain as plaintiffs

Officials have said informally that this might change the force of the suit because financing costs probably would be assessed solely against the citizens

Local Airline Officials Say Strike Effects 'Leveling Off'

Optimism and Fear Hinted by Air Wisconsin, North Central

Air Wisconsin and North Central Airlines officials this morning told the Post-Crescent that a "leveling off point" has been reached in local effects of the strike—now in its 21st day—against five major airlines.

However, behind a faint hint of optimism by officials that a settlement will be reached soon was the fear that new developments could mean a strike against American Airlines. Air Wisconsin and North Central spokesmen said such action could create emergency conditions for Fox Valley air service.

White House officials announced Wednesday that President Lyndon Johnson would set up an emergency board to postpone for 60 days a threatened strike against American Airlines by members of the Transport Workers Union. The union members otherwise would have been free to strike at 12:01 a.m. today.

Business Levels Off

Preston Wilbourne, general manager of Air Wisconsin, said today that the drop in passenger and freight business has leveled off at about 25 to 30 per cent. The Appleton-based airline continues to operate four instead of the normal six round-trip flights daily between Appleton and Chicago.

"I wouldn't term it an emergency situation now," Wilbourne said, "but if American Airlines had gone on strike, we would have been in a pickle"

The major effect of the massive strike on local air service has been the near impossibility of moving passengers beyond the Chicago terminal from Midwest points served by Air Wisconsin and North Central. Space is at a premium on planes operated by major lines that are not on strike. (Airlines being struck include Eastern, National, Northwest, Trans World and United.)

Charter Flights Possible

Wilbourne said Air Wisconsin still has crews and planes available for charter flights. He said there has not been a great

Works Director Will Join Power Firm

Wisconsin-Michigan Names Bues To Supervise Expansion Program

Robert W. Bues, 41, whose resignation as Appleton's public works director becomes effective Sunday, said today he will begin work Monday with the Wisconsin-Michigan Power Co

He will work in the utility's natural gas division. After an orientation period, Bues will supervise the division's expanding construction program.

In commenting on his new position, Bues said this morning, "I expect that my new job will fully challenge my civil engineering training and municipal construction experience."

Enter Private Industry

Bues presently is on a one-week vacation that, when concluded, will officially end his employment with the city. He first made known his intent to resign at a meeting of the city council's street and sanitation committee May 25.

The head of the city's largest single department said today that his resignation was primarily a decision to leave municipal engineering and enter private industry.

"I wanted to free myself to openly investigate other employment opportunities," Bues explained He said today he had received several job opportunities including some from out of state, but added that "an important consideration in accepting the power company offer last week was my family's desire to remain in Appleton."

Temporary Director

Bues was appointed Appleton's public works director Jan 15, 1963, succeeding Edward Duszynski who accepted a post in Madison. A graduate of the University of Wisconsin, with a civil engineering degree, Bues came to Appleton from Rhinelander where he was public works director for three years.

He perviously held positions with Milwaukee and Wauwatosa public works departments. Bues is a Milwaukee native.

Donald C Bengs, assistant director of public works, takes over Monday as Appleton's temporary director until a replacement for Bues is hired.

Residents Are Cooperating

Lawns Suffering . . . but Sprinkling Ban Remains

Brown patches are beginning to replace green in many Appleton lawns and gardens as the city's ban on sprinkling nears the end of its fourth day

However, Water Superintendent William Gallaher said this morning, Appleton residents have been cooperating "very well" with the sprinkling ban

Little hope was seen today for the much needed precipitation which Dr Gallaher said could result in lifting the sprinkling ban which has been in effect since Monday. The chance of precipitation was estimated by the weather bureau at five per cent

Asked this morning if the water situation in Appleton has reached "drastic proportions," Gallaher said he did not believe so "under present conditions" — referring to the sprinkling ban

He said the city has been able to meet current demands About nine million gallons of water were used Wednesday.

"The ban will remain in effect until we get some moisture," Gallaher said The only precipitation since the ban was imposed was recorded Tuesday night when only .03 inches of rain fell The negligible amount of rain had little effect on the city's water supply.

Appleton police said this morning they have had few complaints of residents violating the sprinkling ban.

deal of charter business by the airline since the strike began.

Kent Kistlar, North Central Airlines regional manager at Green Bay, said this morning, "As far as we're concerned, business is holding up on a system-wide basis." He added that boardings at Green Bay are "down slightly."

North Central continues to operate a number of "extra sections" between Chicago, Minneapolis and Detroit, Kistlar said. He said no flights have been cancelled as a result of the strike.

Freight Shipments Lag

Both Wilbourne and Kistlar indicated freight shipments by the two airlines continue to lag considerably, partly because some cities have placed embargos on some types of incoming freight. The embargos became necessary when the strike seriously slowed freight movement through the terminals

Few, if any, perishable items are being shipped by air, it was learned.

Meanwhile, private charter business continues to flourish Max Sagunsky, operator of Max's Air Service in Appleton, said charter flights from private Fox Valley charter services continues to run about 50 per cent ahead of normal.

Seek Compromise On Resource Head

Feel Competent Man Won't Take Post Because of Coming Election

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — A political compromise on appointing a permanent director of the restructured state department of Resource Development was suggested Wednesday by Board Chairman John Potter

Potter said he hopes to gain approval from both candidates for governor after the September primary on a nominee from a list of candidates

The agency was redesigned by the spring session of the Legislature to head the newly consolidated state fight against water pollution.

Under the terms of the bill approved by the Legislature, the board has the appointing power for the director's post. Potter expressed fear it would be difficult to draw top-quality candidates for the job before the gubernatorial election

Staggering Insured

Some members of the newly-created board have shortened terms to ensure future staggering of appointments A Democratic victory this fall might result in a new board, as some appointments will be made to the board during the next term

A new board might appoint a new director.

The director's post is not a tenured or civil service position "I can see a problem in getting a good man to come here before the election," Potter said.

The post has a salary between $19,000 and $22,500 a year.

"At that level you just don't walk out on the sidewalk and say 'Do you want the job?'," Potter said "It is very important to the success of this program to get the best qualified man to run it," he added.

Attacked by Lucey

Potter, who has been attacked by Lt Gov. Patrick Lucey, Democratic candidate for governor, said he could not understand the nature of the attacks against him.

Lucey has charged that Potter's appointment represents a attorney's clients in a paper conflict of interest, as one of the mill

Potter also responded to charges that the new board, which does not have any official or legal powers until Monday, has been "dragging its feet" in preparing to combat pollution

He said the board has been "expeditious" in its actions, as it already had met twice before the date on which it assumes legal responsibilities for anti-pollution efforts in Wisconsin

In closed session, the board discussed "about 10" candidates for the post of acting director, who may be named at the board's first meeting on Monday The acting director would serve only until the permanent director is named

Advertising Authorized

The board also authorized immediate nation-wide advertising for applications for the post of director, saying it would set no closing date for applications Instead, the board reserved the right to continue accepting applications until it hires "the best possible man for the job."

Theodore Wisniewski, director of the state Committee on Water Pollution, which ends its duties when the Department of Resource Development assumes the anti-pollution efforts, told the board he estimates localities will raise about $15 million a year under a long-term bonding program that authorizes up to a total of $300 million in borrowing

Federal aid will increase the annual available funds to about $21 or $22 million a year, he said.

That sum will be only enough to cover sewage treatment plant projects, he estimated.

Ed Johnson, director of the League of Wisconsin Municipalities, urged that the board establish priorities as concerning the types of projects it desires to support before it solicits project proposals from Wisconsin cities and villages.

Flies to Washington

Wilson Seeks U.S. Support for Pound

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson flies to Washington today, and high political authorities said he would seek ironclad American support for the wobbling pound sterling during the next six to nine months.

Wilson was reported confident such a breathing space would provide the time his Labor government needs for its crash program of deflation to pull Britain out of the red.

The economic crisis, its implications on Britain's role in the world and the Viet Nam war will dominate Wilson's conference with President Johnson Friday.

Detailed Account

Wilson will give the President a detailed account of his recent Moscow talks with Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin. The prime minister has claimed privately that these discussions produced a new understanding of the motivations, strains and stresses within the divided Communist world. This suggests he feels he can throw new light on the Moscow-Peking-Hanoi relationship.

A variety of other issues, ranging from the Rhodesian problem to Red Chinese intentions, also will be examined.

There is no question, informants said, of Wilson's asking for an American loan beyond the existing standby credit system in which other friendly nations participate.

Instead Wilson's aim is to convince the President, if he needs convincing, that Britain's battle for the pound also is partly a battle for the dollar.

The prime minister said as much Wednesday when he told the House of Commons that sterling in recent weeks has taken a beating which basically had been directed at the dollar.

Wilson did not identify those he said were attacking the dollar, but he and some of his advisers are known to suspect that President Charles de Gaulle of France wants both the pound and dollar to shed some of their value and status as reserve currencies financing two-thirds of world trade.

Action Needed

The British leader also thinks urgent action is needed to promote international liquidity — the easier flow of the world's main currencies and credit facilities. He fears that otherwise there will be danger of a breakdown in world trade leading to a major depression.

The U. S. government, according to information here, seems resigned that Britain will probably pull about 25,000 troops out of West Germany and perhaps an equal number from the Far East within a year or so.

This withdrawal program, designed to save about $300 million a year in foreign exchange, is something Wilson feels is not negotiable.

The Labor government's austerity program won reluctant support Wednesday from Britain's big labor unions and from the House of Commons.

The Labor majority in the House beat back a Conservative censure motion attacking Wilson's management of the economy.

Barn Burns Near Weyauwega; Construction Equipment Lost

WEYAUWEGA — Construction equipment valued at more than $7,000 was lost Wednesday when fire destroyed a barn owned by Sidney Faulks in the Town of Weyauwega.

The fire, which broke out at approximately 1:50 p.m., was discovered by Faulks' nine-year-old son, Robert, when he went into the upper portion of the barn.

City and Town of Weyauwega firemen were called but the barn was engulfed in flames when they arrived. They were unable to save the barn or any of the equipment stored in its basement.

Equipment stored in the lower part of the 40 x 50-foot barn included a recent model tractor, cement finishing equipment, three large power mowers, curb and gutter forms and several smaller pieces of equipment.

The barn and equipment was partially covered by insurance, Fauls said.

Some antiques were stored in the barn, but Faulks did not make any estimate of their value. Included in the loss was a surrey and cutter owned by Mr. and Mrs. K. P. Van Epps and used in the city's Horse and Bugg Days celebration.

Flames from the barn started a grass fire which spread to a nearby field, but it was brought under control before it could cause any damage to the nearby house.

The Faulks were attending a funeral when the fire was discovered.

700 Persons From 16 Northeastern Areas Expected

MENASHA — More than 700 Golden Agers are expected at Smith Park from 14 northeastern Wisconsin communities in addition to the Twin Cities Saturday, Aug. 6, according to registrations received at the recreation department office.

Though planned for persons of advanced years, the program is young at heart, with dancing, exhibition baseball, singing, card playing, square dance demonstrations, a stage show and plenty of hearty food and refreshments.

The park and recreation departments of Neenah and Menasha are coordinating the planning, with assistance from numerous other local groups and individuals bent on making the event enjoyable for the visitors.

An outdoor stage will be set up for opening ceremonies at 11 a.m. and for later drawings of prizes, as a focal point for community singing and for a stage show.

A square dance exhibition is scheduled from 1:30 to 2 p.m. followed at 3 p.m. by an exhibition baseball game between present and former city councilmen.

Club leaders from the various communities will meet at 4 p.m. The park will be the scene of numerous displays including several antique cars, high-wheel bicycles, models wearing fashions from the "good old days" against the setting of the park's colorful flower gardens, and an exhibit of historic American Flags.

Parched Crops In Need of Rain

OSHKOSH — A good corn and hay crop in Winnebago County rests on many "ifs" brought about by concern over high seasonal temperatures and the lack of substantial amounts of rain.

"If we get rain in the next ten days," County Agriculture Agent Vernon Peroutky said, "we'll still have a good corn crop and a good second and third hay crop and should be in good shape for the winter."

But county farmers have already experienced disappointing to near failing results with the same crops.

School Issue Still Not in PSC Office

MENASHA — A school district request to have the Public Service Commission mediate the dispute over water service for the proposed Airport Road elementary school is apparently somewhere between here and the commission's utility service office in Madison.

A commission officials said today he is still awaiting the request by School Supt. M. J. Gegan for the commission to decide whether the city utility or town sanitary district is better suited to provide the water service.

City Council Modestly Changes Ordinance

HUNTINGTON, W.Va. (AP) — The City Council was told recently some changes will have to be made in the municipal bathing ordinance which reads:

"All persons using either of the swimming pools shall take a cleansing shower bath in the nude. A bath after donning a bathing suit shall not be permitted."

The council was told that two of the four city pools have outside showers.

State C of C Offers Cheese to Tourists

MADISON (AP) — The State Chamber of Commerce said today that it is offering bite-size pieces of cheese to out-of-state travelers entering Wisconsin and pausing at one of the state's eight tourist information centers this summer.

"The cost is small but the sales opportunities are huge," said the chamber president, Don F. Taylor of Merrill. "Once tourists taste our products, they'll buy them."

Ring-Top Openers Imperil Parking Meters

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Is the beverage industry's invention of ring-top openers threatening the parking-meter business?

San Francisco police report that some motorists have inserted the rings in coin slots to defraud parking meters.

In the past four months the cheap and effective substitutes for small change have jammed 4,300 meters each month, compared with 2,500 previously, police say.

101 County Lawyers

OSHKOSH — Winnebago County has 101 active members of the State Bar of Wisconsin. There are nine inactive members, four judges, and one member in the military service, for a total of 115. Total bar members for the state of Wisconsin is 5,811.

Power Firm Accepts Bid For Bonds

Wisconsin Michigan Power Co. has accepted a bid for its $10 million single-A rated first mortgage bonds, 5⅞ per cent series due 1996, from a group of underwriters composed of Equitable Securities Corp., Francis I. duPont, A. C. Allyn Inc., Paribas Corp and Dean Witter & Co.

Several underwriters had indicated they expected more than 75 per cent of the bonds to be sold Wednesday when they are released for general distribution.

The underwriters bid of 101,078 for the 5⅞ per cent issue, gave the local utility an annual net interest cost of 5.7988 per cent. The funds derived from the sale of the bonds will be used to finance purchase of equipment or to retire short-term indebtedness for such purposes.

After complying with Securities and Exchange Commission requirements, the bidders planned to release the bonds to the market at 101,777 to yield 5.75 per cent.

Menasha to Receive Award From AAA

MENASHA — The city will receive an award for its pedestrian protection program during 1965 by the Wisconsin Division of the Amercan Automobile Association (AAA).

The honor will be presented at the police department at 3 p.m. Wednesday. Bernard Precourt, safety consultant for the AAA, cited the policemen for "their significant role in this program."

KIMBERLY — James Seibers has been elected president of Joint School District No. 6, succeeding Harold Wentzel.

Seibers will fill the position for one year according to Ray H. Hamann, superintendent.

Other officials elected at the reorganization meeting were Eugene Schelfhout, clerk, and Frank Gossens, treasurer.

Well Water 'Fortified'

Bad Taste in Waupaca Mouths Caused by Iron

WAUPACA — An offensive taste in the city's water supply comes from an accumulation of iron in Well No. 1, according to Caesar A. Stravinski, a State Board of Health official from the Division of Public Water Supplies.

Stravinski informed City Engineer Iver Oerter of the iron accumulation in a letter Wednesday, following a visit to the city, Monday.

Stravinski was called in by Oerter after several complaints were made of the unusual taste in city water. Stravinski visited homes of persons who complained and inspected the three city wells and reservoir.

Stravinski said, "Citizens should have no fears concerning the safety of their water supply."

Due to the heavy usage of water during the current dry period, Oerter said it has been necessary to use Well No. 1.

Tax Sharing Ideas Sought By Council

Legislators Want Views From Maier And Gov. Knowles

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Gov. Warren P. Knowles and Milwaukee Mayor Henry Maier have been invited to submit proposed legislative changes in state tax sharing and distribution formulas to the Legislative Council.

Knowles and Maier, who in the past several months have sparred verbally over tax distribution problems in the state, were told Tuesday, by the Council, that the matter of sharing tax receipts between the state and local governments is too complex to solve without special committee study.

Both Knowles and Maier have agreed that a redistribution of the state's tax revenues must be affected to give a equitable share to the state's larger cities, but they have disagreed over redistribution methods.

New Study

Knowles asked the Legislative Council tax committee to prepare a special report based on past studies of the problems. Maier disagreed with the need for an additional study, saying that the time for studies was past and the time for action had arrived.

State Sen. Richard J. Zaborski (D-Milwaukee), chairman of the council's taxation committee, recommended that either the 1967 Legislature set up a committee for a revision of the state's tax sharing formulas, or create a permanent committee to do it on a piecemeal basis over the next six to 10 years.

The Council accepted Zaborski's report from the committee, refusing to conduct the additional study, and voted to delay a decision on recommendations to the 1967 Legislature until Maier and the governor had an opportunity to respond.

Utilizing Computers

The council also voted to create a special committee to investigate the possibilities of utilizing new state computors and techniques in bill drafting, revisions and in state legal research for the Legislature.

H. Rupert Theobold, director of the State Legislative Reference Bureau, told the committee that such computor techniques are being used in other states, including Iowa and Oregon. New computors, soon to be in operation in the state department of administration, would make such procedures practical for Wisconsin, he said.

Appointed to a new special Mental Health Committee were Sens. Holger Rasmusen (R-Spooner), Henry Dorman (D-Racine), Robert Warren (R-Green Bay), Assemblymen Manny Brown (R-Racine), Franklin Jahnke (R-Markesan), William Rogers (D-Kaukauna) and public members Dr. John T. Petersik, Oshkosh; Dr. Nolan Penn, Racine; Dr. Leonard Ganzer, Madison; Judge Francis Wendt, Racine; Dr. Thomas Cahill, Racine, and James Boullion, Madison.

Death Valley Hiker in Last Eight Miles

DEATH VALLEY, Calif. (AP) — Jean Pierre Marquant, his blistered feet red and swollen, his body baked by 130-degree heat, hoped to plod the final few miles of his Death Valley adventure today.

The French ex-paratrooper stopped Wednesday night eight miles short of completing his 102-mile walk across the valley. "I've got to get some sleep," he said.

Near high noon Wednesday, two park rangers reported they found Marquant dozing under his umbrella, five miles from Furnace Creek. "I've got to keep going," he told them. "If I don't I won't be able to make it."

The rangers accompanied Marquant for nearly four hours, reporting he consumed three gallons of water.

Marquant's feet suffer from 130-degree ground temperatures, his arms and legs are cut from scrapes, he needs a shave.

Marquant, 28, says he started the hike seven days ago to show adventure still exists in America.

'Occupant' Unknown At California Address

CAMARILLO, Calif. (AP) — "No one named Occupant lives here. Please return all mail so marked to sender," read the sign on the mailbox of Mrs. Vincent Bowling.

Regardless of the sign, says the post office, all that third- and fourth-class mail must go through.

Award Presented for Long Service to Blind

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — Henry A. Wood, retired executive secretary of the North Carolina Commission for the Blind, has received the Ambrose M. Shotwell Memorial Award of the American Association of Workers for the Blind. The award was presented for Wood's long service to blind people.

For Sale: One Airy House, Good View

SOUTH WEYMOUTH, Mass. (AP) — If anyone's in the market for a real roomy building, there's one for sale at South Weymouth Naval Air Station.

The structure is solid, built with lots of steel and it has an unobstructed view inside from one end to the other.

It's a blimp hangar — 1,000 feet long, 330 feet wide and 190 feet high.

Richard M. Novack, vice president of Marden Construction Corp., Boston, said today his firm had lots of inquiries "but no sales yet."

The Boston firm must remove the hangar to begin construction of a maintenance hangar on the same site as part of a $2.1 million contract.

One air freight company, Novack said, wanted to move the enormous building to Logan International Airport, Boston, but there's no room there.

An African firm considered slicing the building into several sections but the costs of transportation and rebuilding made that idea impractical, Novack said.

Should there be no buyers, the Marden firm will reduce the building to 5,000 tons of steel scrap, which will sell for about $150,000.

Play Dragon With Long Rope In Meadow or Playground

BY CAPPY DICK

A long rope is all you need for the game of "Dragon." A meadow or a playground will do as a playing space.

One player acts as the leader and holds one end of the rope. The others stand in a scattered group. Suddenly the leader starts swinging the rope toward the other players' feet, causing it to coil and uncoil along the ground as the boy is doing in Figure 1. The other players must leap to avoid allowing the rope — or dragon — to touch them.

Whenever the dragon does touch a player, or when he steps on it or otherwise touches it, he is out of the game and must stand aside where he can act as a witness to help decide who must step out of the game next. The last player to remain is the winner and gets to handle the rope for the next game.

A variation may be played with a very long string. The string must be laid on the sidewalk in curves and coils as in Figure 2. The curves may be as close together or as far apart as you wish.

Avoid the Rope

The players take turns stepping into every space and coil without once touching the string. If a player missteps and touches the string he is out of the game. The winner is the one who steps all the way down the length of the string and back without touching it.

Interest Rates In Europe Hurt U. S. Efforts

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Rising interest rates in Europe are a stumbling block for those who are clamoring for Congress to cut interest rates in the United States.

Europe gets into the domestic debate this way: Europe's much higher rates could attract more U S dollars seeking higher yields Lowering interest rates here on short-term money could send this pool of temporarily idle dollars — usually called "hot money" — overseas

And this would make it just that much harder for the United States to see that the dollar doesn't fall into the dire straits that beset the British pound.

The guardians of the dollar's status of being as good as gold are having plenty of trouble now, even with the interest rates at home still on the climb

GOP Narrowing

For one thing, the U S trade gap is narrowing Exports will top imports, but by less than they did in previous years Imports are growing at a 15 per cent clip, and exports by only 8 per cent This cuts the balance of trade to around $4 billion this year, against more than $5 billion last year and $6 billion in 1964

This means fewer dollars that the United States can use to offset its rising dollar-spending abroad for other things such as the Viet Nam War, foreign aid, private investments, tourist travel. The guardians of the dollar aren't anxious to see the U S balance of payments deficit — already rising this year — boosted by a flight of dollars seeking higher interest yields overseas

There are a lot of dollars over there now, called Eurodollars, with the total estimated as high as $9 billion These are in private rather than foreign government hands, and were built up in the years that the United States has run a payments deficit

Private Deals

Eurodollars are used to finance many private deals, including plant expansion overseas The interest rates at which they can be borrowed swings widely, reflecting the ease or tightness of the international money market.

Higher interest rates here has brought some dollars home, along with some foreign money deposits and investments. But the recent upturn in European interest rates is halting that trend

At home the debate over interest rates divides like this Seeking easier money and congressional curbs on interest rates are those alarmed at the sharp rise in the cost of new mortgages for homes, at the higher monthly payments for the purchase of a car, at the increasing cost of financing business expansion, at higher rates for community borrowing to build new schools.

Protect Dollar

But tight money advocates see high interest rates as needed to halt inflation and rising living costs, to prevent overheating of a booming economy with a bust as the aftermath, as a means of holding down the U S. balance of payments deficits and thus protecting the standing of the dollar.

In the early 1960s, U S money managers pushed short-term interest rates higher to stop the outflow of dollars seeking higher yields abroad, but at the same time managed to keep long-term interest rates low to get the economy rolling.

All this changed last December. Since then the money managers have been letting interest rates rise all along the line to halt inflation

Money Markets

This has made U S money markets almost as attractive as European But now European interest rates are pushing higher than American rates, much higher in Britain, for example

Curbs on the outflow — such as a tax on the buying by Americans of foreign securities from foreigners — have been partly effective But there are many loopholes and evasions possible for Americans attracted by foreign investment yields

That is why the debate over the domestic issue of putting congressional ceilings on interest rates here can have overtones of international finance, and of the fight over the last eight years to keep the dollar sound despite the balance of payments deficits

It is just that kind of a deficit that has sent the British pound into a series of crises — and the British government into tight controls of the home economy.

'Little Complaints' Are Hurting Business

BY SYLVIA PORTER

A New Yorker bought a $6.95 electric toothbrush manufactured by a major corporation which conked out after one use It is now four months and several pleading letters later, but the New Yorker has neither heard a word from the company nor received a workable toothbrush.

Porter

An Illinois shopper complained that a new $12 cotton suit "streaked, faded and dripped" after the first hand washing She was informed by the store which sold her the suit that cotton should be expected to run and shrink.

A Missouri housewife waited 2 years, 2 months, 5 days and one threatened lawsuit before she received an $11 50 refund from a big U S mail order firm on merchandise long since returned to the firm

Add Up to Millions

These are just three samples out of millions of "little complaints" we, America's consumers, are now making about goods and services being sold to us The complaints may in each case involve only small sums of money, but they add up to millions of dollars plus a splitting headache for the consumer plus a damaging blow to U.S. business.

The complaints range from the unanswered letter about undelivered merchandise to endless buck-passing between retailer and manufacturer on products which turn out to be lemons, to insistent billing by a computerized accounting office for goods the customer has not even received The problem may be a plastic toy which doesn't hold up for 15 minutes in the hands of a 3-year-old or a batch of stockings which run on the first wearing or a legless chair which is delivered 3 or 4 months late

Stores Do Nothing

But this theme runs through out while stores the nation over are offering a fantastic variety of new customer services today — from steam baths to suitcase packing lessons, to free coffee breaks for shoppers — too frequently they do little or nothing to satisfy our legitimate squawks about the goods we actually buy

"The public is beginning to develop a great, creeping nausea," says industrial designer Raymond Loewy, "over products that don't work, that fall apart in the hand, that buzz and rattle and fail and fail again "

While there are no precise statistics on the volume of "little complaints," there is no doubt they are in a steep rise Just as one illustration, returns of defective new furniture are now running a full 18 per cent of sales, according to the National Retail Merchants Association, and deliveries are often running months late.

Strain Production

Behind the soaring numbers of complaints on shoddy goods and product repairs is the central fact that consumer demands along with soaring Viet Nam demands, are straining the nation's capacity to produce As a result, many manufacturers are sacrificing quality standards and inspection time in a rush to get goods to the marketplace

Another key force affecting quality are spreading labor shortages, and mounting numbers of less experienced factory workers At the retail level, these factors are putting pressure on profits and many retailers are paring selling costs by reducing attention to customer complaints

Contributing, too, is the fact that, in this era, the affluent consumer may simply choose to replace a shoddy item rather than fight about a $5 purchase

"It is the retailers' responsibility to protect the consumer " declared the NRMA "If he fails to do the job, government is very likely to relieve him of the responsibility "

Marion Firm To Repaint Fire Truck

Bertram Auto Body of Marion Tuesday was recommended to receive the contract to repaint the Appleton Fire Department's 1947 Pirsch 85-foot aerial truck

The Marion firm's bid was $2 500 It was the only bid received by an initial advertisement by the city A second call for bids brought a price of $6 600 from Peter Pirsch and Sons, Inc of Kenosha Both bids was rejected

Later informal bids were for $3,900 by Sturm Body Shop of Appleton and $2 450 by Pierce Auto Body Works, Inc both of Appleton

Officials of the Pierce firm indicated the painting could not be done until winter However Fire Chief Roland Kuehnl told the city council's public safety committee Tuesday afternoon that he did not want to have a fire truck tied up during winter months when he said most of the major fires occur The project reportedly will take about a month Work will start yet this summer

'12 O'Clock High' Star Has No Wings

Paul Burke Lags Behind Children in Air Experience

BY JINGO

A funny thing happened to Paul Burke when his role of Col. Gallagher on television's '12 O'Clock High' inspired him to take flying lessons.

Two of his children — 18-year-old Paula and 16-year-old Brian — insisted. Dad's arm was twisted and he tagged along.

Within three weeks Paula had soloed.

A few months later Brian did too.

Dad still hasn't his solo wings. "I just don't have time to go to ground school," he lamented about Paula and Brian high-hatting him around the Palm Springs airport where they have a Cessna 150 at their disposal plus a weekend home.

"I'm just too busy up in the air," he laughed, flying that thing over there.

That 'thing' on Stage 4 at 20th Century Fox studio was a mock up of a B-17 in which he spends so much of his time as the 8th Air Force squadron commander.

But the lack of solo wings he hopes to win some day doesn't mean that Paul Burke is completely grounded. His association with the show has won him a number of high-ranking Air Force friends always eager to take him up into the wild blue yonder.

He's one of America's few civilians who can say he's flown at twice the speed of sound as a passenger in an Air Force F-106 and he has made a 3,000-foot parachute jump with a military chute.

Now filming episodes for his second season with '12 O'Clock High,' Paul is happy to say he's won over a once partially hostile audience which he admits resented his replacing Robert Lansing as the star of the show.

"At first," he levels with you, "I received a lot of nasty letters from people who said they loved Lansing, hated me. But before the season ended many of them wrote me letters of apology, saying they had changed their minds. I'm grateful to them and the audience which has kept the show in the top 25."

For the new fall season '12 O'Clock High,' now in color, will have Burke and his men becoming more aggressive.

The first show of the season ends with the Allied invasion of Europe, which means we'll be taking our planes to bases away from England and that we'll be on the offensive."

The show being filmed this day left Burke laughing about getting even with Hollywood glamor dolls. The plot takes Burke and his men to Russia on the first shuttle bomb run over Berlin. The Russian hotel in which they are housed overnight has a huge marble bathtub and he decided to enjoy the luxury of a bubble bath.

"Whenever Paulette Goddard, Marlene Dietrich or Lana Turner took a bath for a movie scene they barred male spectators from the set," he remembered. "Well, I'm getting even — when we shoot the bath scene I'm going to bar all feminine spectators from the set."

The Avengers Tackle the Military

BY TV SCOUT

9-10 — Channels 11-4-9 — What the Butler Saw" on The Avengers is sly satire at its best. Someone is leaking military secrets, an admiral who gambles too much, a brigadier who drinks too much or a group captain who wenches too much. So John Steed winds up at butler's school because buttling somehow has a connection, and Emma Peel winds up with a wiggle trying to learn if the wencher is the guilty party.

6:30-7 — Channels 11-4-9 — Holy It's Obvious, but Batman is getting to be pat, man. Batoxygen saves the lives of the Dynamic Duo, trapped in the Penguin's Vacuum Tank. Then it's off to the Gotham Neptune for a multimillionaire's party where it takes anti-Penguin gas pills to save the day, and that's the gas pill truth. (R-Color)

6:30-7:30 — Channels 4-5 — The Trek' on Daniel Boone is essentially a two-man show, as Fess Parker captures renegade Aldo Ray. While returning the man to a self proclaimed representative of the colonial government, Parker comes to admire his captive. (R Color)

7-7:30 — Channels 11-4-9 — Gidget winds up as an advice-to-the-lovelorn columnist in the school paper, a responsibility she takes very seriously. She also becomes personally involved with "Wretched," who writes heart rending letters and seemingly doesn't follow her advice. (R-Color)

7:30-8 — Channels 2-7-12 — My Three Sons sets out to prove that normal, everyday chaos can breed a hero. Robbie helps a lady in distress, an explorer and photographer who enthralls the boys with her movies and stories, and is herself enthralled by Steve. (R-Color)

7:30-8:30 — Channels 4-5 — "The Treasure of San Diablo" on Laredo has some funny moments, but it's not up to par for the series. Reese (Nevi Brand) winds up in a flashy uniform, the "general" of a Mexican army of peasants and farmers. (R-Color)

8-8:30 — Channels 11-4-9 — The television baby of the year is born — again on Bewitched. As daughter Tabatha comes into the lives of Mr. and Mrs. Darren Stephens, viewers get a funny episode. Elizabeth Montgomery plays her regular role, as well as her lookalike cousin, and Eve Arden is an overly starched nurse who thinks she is going round the bend what with witches filling rooms with flowers and turning fathers into babies and Lord Fauntleroys. (R)

8-10:15 — Channels 2-7-12 — Two out of four original Broadway cast members — Barry Nelson and Michael Rennie — were not enough to make "Mary, Mary" on The Thursday Night Movies as good on film as it was on stage. Some of the blame must go to the female leads, Debbie Reynolds and Diane McBain, but not all. (R-Color)

9-10 — Channels 4-5 — The Dean Martin Summer Show has comic MCs Rowan and Martin covering a robbery, Barbara McNair and Jackie Vernon as guests, Frankie Randall singing "The Shadow of Your Smile," Judi Rolan singing "I'm Old Fashioned" and a finale that pays tribute to Freddie Martin.

Actor Dick Van Dyke and actress Janet Leigh are surrounded by admiring fans at opening of a make-shift motion picture theater in the Watts district, scene of last summer's rioting. The theater, first in Watts, is in a concrete schoolhouse. About 800 persons, all but a few of them Negro, paid 25 cents each to attend. (AP Wirephoto)

Koufax Pitches Through 11, Dodgers Top Phils in 12th

Pirates Climb Back Into First Place With 5-3 Win Over San Francisco

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Sandy Koufax has given his aching left arm an 11-inning acid test . . . and proved that the Los Angeles Dodgers can win without him.

The Dodgers are within a whisker of the National League lead after Koufax' longest pitching ordeal of the season but all the matchless southpaw has to show for it are two more strikeout standards and a no-decision.

And Philadelphia's Jim Bunning knows just how Sandy feels.

Bunning and Koufax gave way to relief pitchers after a brilliant 11-inning duel Wednesday night and the Dodgers immediately pushed over an unearned run in the 12th for a 2-1 victory that stretched their winning string to six and put them only one-half game behind first-place Pittsburgh in the NL race.

The Pirates climbed back into the top spot with a 5-3 victory over San Francisco, dropping the Giants into second place.

Miss Starting Turn

Koufax, whose arthritic pitching arm became painfully inflamed after his last start — causing speculation that he would miss a starting turn for the first time this year — overpowered the Phillies except for a second-inning homer by Rich Allen. He yielded only four hits and fanned 16, breaking one of his own records and moving up a peg on the all-time strikeout list.

His fourth strikeout was the 2,267th of his career, moving him past Lefty Grove into 10th position among the lifetime leaders. His 15th strikeout, in the ninth inning, was his 200th this season, marking the sixth straight year he has reached that plateau.

But, although Koufax also became the first hurler to pass the 200-inning mark — while lowering his major-league-leading earned run average to 1.65 — he failed to register victory No. 18. Instead, Phil Regan, who pitched the 12th, gained his eighth victory against a single setback.

Continue to Roll

Elsewhere, St. Louis and New York continued to roll, the Cardinals downing Atlanta 9-7 for their ninth victory in the last 10 games and the Mets edging Houston 3-2 for a 10-3 mark over their last 13. Cincinnati battered Chicago 11-2 in the other NL game.

Jim Davenport, San Francisco's usually slick-fielding third baseman, committed two errors in the ninth, helping the Pirates push over two runs and regain the league lead by two percentage points.

Bill Mazeroski singled one run in and Manny Mota delivered the other with a sacrifice fly after Davenport threw wildly on Donn Clendenon's bunt single and then bobbled Jim Pagliaroni's sacrifice bunt for a second miscue.

Clendenon's solo homer and a two-run shot by Gene Alley completed the Pittsburgh scoring.

Washburn Hits Homer

The Cardinals climbed within 7½ games of the top behind right-hander Ray Washburn, who won his fifth straight with late-inning relief help and hit a double and his first major league homer, a two-run wallop in the five-run fourth.

Bob Friend combined with reliever Jack Hamilton for a six-hitter and gained his fourth victory in five decisions with New York as the Mets beat the Astros for the seventh time in a row to tie Atlanta for eighth place. Ken Boyer's two-run homer paced the Met attack.

Tommy Helms stroked three singles and a double, and Pete Rose and Vada Pinson added three hits apiece in the Reds' romp over Chicago. Rose and Leo Cardenas homered in a 16-hit attack that backed the seven-hit pitching of winner Jim O'Toole.

Gremminger To Call Rozelle

Cowboys' Walkout Wants to Know 'Where I Stand'

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Hank Gremminger, 10-year veteran defense back in the National Football League, said Wednesday he is going to telephone Commissioner Peter Rozelle "and find out just where I stand."

The 31-year-old former Baylor star walked out of the Dallas Cowboys' training camp at Thousand Oaks, Calif., Tuesday.

"We couldn't get together on a contract," he said.

The Cowboys acquired Gremminger this spring from the Packers after he told Green Bay officials he wanted to play for Dallas and that he would retire rather than return to the cold country.

"I plan to call the commissioner and find out just where I stand," Gremminger said. "I want to continue to play pro football and I hope something can be worked out."

He said he was told by President Tex Schramm that the Cowboys "would consider me retired if I quit. But I'm not retired and I still want to play."

Christiansen Not Sure if Brodie Will Return to 49ers

MORAGA, Calif. (AP)—Jack Christiansen, San Francisco 49ers coach, said Wednesday he didn't know any more than he did a week ago about whether holdout quarterback John Brodie would come back.

That was after Christiansen, by his own admission, had "blurted out" to a reporter: "In my opinion, he (Brodie) won't show up."

The remark was not intended as a news release, Christiansen explained. "I was only trying to express an opinion, strictly personal, that since John hasn't show by now, he wasn't going to.

"Nobody ever pays much attention to coaches' opinions, particularly mine. I don't know why they should start now."

The 49er general manager, Lou Spadia, on Monday requested that all questions concerning Brodie be directed to him and not to Christiansen.

A day later Christiansen was asked whether Brodie would start the first exhibition game Aug. 7, and said, "No. And I don't think we have to worry about it."

Pressed for clarification Christiansen said he didn't think Brodie would show. The quarterback is vacationing in Hawaii with his family.

Van Brocklin Pleased With Play of Vikings' Veteran Receivers

MANKATO, Minn. (AP) — Veteran defensive back Ed Sharockman missed both Minnesota Vikings practice sessions Wednesday with a leg injury, described by Coach Norm Van Brocklin as painful but not serious.

At the conclusion of a short scrimmage session which capped the day's workouts, the Viking coach said he was pleased with the play of veteran receivers Tom Hall, Red Phillips and Lance Rentzel.

He also said running back Tommy Mason and fullback Bill Brown appeared to be in excellent condition and running very well for this stage of summer training camp.

Jets' Rookies Defeat Patriots in Scrimmage

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The New York Jets rookies beat the Boston Patriots rookies 14-13 Wednesday night in an unofficial start of the exhibition pro football season. And in a game-type scrimmage the Chicago Bears whipped the College All-Stars 34-20.

The regular pro exhibition season opens Monday night with Philadelphia at Atlanta in the NFL. The AFL exhibition season starts Tuesday night with Oakland at Houston.

Emerson Boozer of Maryland State scored the winning touchdown for the Jet rookies on a three-yard run in the last quarter of the game at Lowell, Mass. The All-Stars, prepping for their clash with the Green Bay Packers in Chicago a week from Friday, made a respectable showing against the Bears in the scrimmage at Rensselaer, Ind.

A 70-yard TD run by Roy Shivers of Utah State provided the main fireworks for the All-Stars against the Bears, who were led by Gale Sayers and Andy Livingston. Donny Anderson of Texas Tech also scored a TD for the All-Stars on a 10-yard end sweep. Each team was allowed 12 successive offensive plays in the game with 36 plays by each constituting a half.

Meantime a break seemed imminent in the various salary disputes when John Gordy, guard for the Detroit Lions, signed his contract. Ted Karras, Pat Studstill and Bruce Maher still are unsigned by the Lions.

Art Powell and Clem Daniels, Oakland Raiders stars, still are holding out although they worked with the team at Santa Rosa, Calif., Wednesday for the first time. General Manager Scotty Stirling told them he would not negotiate unless they came to camp. Each reportedly wants a three-year, no-cut contract at $50,000 a year.

The Denver Broncos announced the end of the "dissatisfaction" of quarterbacks Mickey Slaughter and John Mecormick over their contracts, but quarterback John Brodie of the San Francisco 49ers continued his holdout in Hawaii.

End Earl Faison and back Paul Lowe of San Diego also are holding out although it is reported that Faison is close to signing.

In the latest salary flare-ups, end John Mackey and back Jim Ott of Baltimore left the Colts' training camp.

Three other Baltimore veterans are unsigned, end Raymond Berry, flanker Willie Richardson and place kicker Lou Michaels. Fullback Cookie Gilchrist of Denver is conducting his annual holdout.

Other holdouts include three St. Louis Cardinals, end Sonny Randle, flanker Bobby Joe Conrad and kick-return specialist Abe Woodson.

Allyn Sees No Expansion Before 1970 — if Then

Milwaukee Worries, Wonders About Its Future

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Milwaukee worried and wondered today about its uncertain future in the major leagues.

"All we can do is look to the future and hope that Milwaukee can get back into the big league baseball picture someday," said Lloyd Larson, Milwaukee Sentinel sports editor in his column today.

Larson was reflecting on the Wednesday's State Supreme Court decision that Wisconsin antitrust laws do not apply to organized baseball.

Gloomy Future

The decision, which will be appealed to the U. S. Supreme Court, was a setback to Milwaukee's efforts to bring back the sport that abandoned it in favor of Atlanta.

"Gloomy Baseball Future Seen Here," was the lead headline on the Sentinel sports page. Underneath was a story by veteran baseball writer Lou Chapman on his poll of baseball officials on the city's chances of landing an expansion franchise.

"National League owners in effect agreed that a man could be put on the moon sooner than another major league baseball club will be placed in Milwaukee," Chapman's story began.

Chapman quoted Arthur Allyn, owner of the Chicgo White Sox, as saying he doesn't see a "possible chance for expansion before 1970 — if then."

But the story also quoted other owners, including Philip K. Wrigley, owner of the Chicago Cubs, as saying expansion could come in about two years and adding "I would definitely vote to give Milwaukee another club."

"The prospects of securing a major league team for Milwaukee through legal action now is uncertain at best," said the Sentinel in an editorial that called for a "concerted effort by civic and business groups to bring big league baseball back here."

Circuit Judge Elmer W. Roller had ordered the Braves to return to Milwaukee unless the National League granted the city an expansion franchise. It was the Roller judgment that was upset Wednesday.

"It's the law now," said Roller. "The decision of the State Supreme Court is the law of Wisconsin. That's it."

"Why is everyone so quiet?" the judge asked those in the room with him. "What is there to say?" someone replied.

Not All Gloom

But not all was gloom. Allen (Bud) Selig, president of the Milwaukee Brewers Inc., a group of Wisconsin businessmen hoping to land a franchise for the city, said the decision wouldn't affect the Brewers at all.

"We will continue pursuit of a major league baseball franchise with the same vigor as in the past 15 months," Selig said.

Rep. Clement Zablocki, D-Wis., said he would seek hearings at the current session of Congress on bills to regulate baseball. "It's my hope that Congress will give immediate consideration to the varius bills which are now pending before it to remove baseball's antitrust exemption," he said.

Mayor Henry Maier's only comment was, "No matter what the current legal situation is, what happened to Milwaukee is morally wrong."

Atty. Gen. Bronson La Follette, who brought the case against baseball, was disappointed, but said he would push ahead with an appeal. "We have a lot invested in this case," he said.

Bill Melton, Who has been plagued by injuries much of the season, will be back in the Fox Cities Foxes starting lineup when they return to Goodland Field Friday night to meet MidwestLeague-leading Cedar Rapids. Melton swings a heavy bat when he gets into action. He is currently batting at a .286 clip with eight home runs and 49 runs batted in.

Schlicht Advances In State Amateur; Simonson Ousted

Four Former Champs, Including Hayes, Bow in First Two Rounds

SHEBOYGAN (AP) — Defending champion Ralph (Butch) Schlicht advanced to the third round with double victories Wednesday in the Wisconsin Amateur Golf Tournament but medalist Harry Simonson was dumped by a player who finished 10th in the Madison city tournament.

Schlicht, who last year achieved the rare distinction of winning both the medal and the tournament, cut down Pike Peterson of Menasha, 5 and 4, then trimmed Al Steffen of Sheboygan, 6 and 5.

While Schlicht was moving up, Simonson and the runner-in medal play, Lou Patscot of Milwaukee, were moving out.

Upset by Tallard

Simonson was upset by Ed Tallard, a Madison real estate man, 1 up in 19 holes.

Tallard, making his debut in the state amateur after golfing for 15 years, was eliminated in the second round by Brent Beer, Madison, 3 and 2.

Patscot lost to Frank Van Laanen, Green Bay, in another 19 hole match. Van Laanen went on to win his second round match, beating Emmett Terwilliger, Lancaster, 3 and 1.

North lost to Dave Mills, Milwaukee, 1 up. Schlueter defeated Bob Waulters, Milwaukee, 2 and 1.

Former Champs Lose

Four former champions were eliminated, including Jay Lohmiller of Madison, Dick Sucher, Ozaukee, John Hayes, Appleton, and Steve Caravello, Madison. All but Caravello went out in the very first round.

Lohmiller lost to John Mackaben, Milwaukee, 1 up; Sucher to Hans Fischer, Sheboygan, 1 up, and Hayes to Leo Kubiak, Milwaukee, 2 up.

Caravello defeated Jerry Polachek, Milwaukee, 3 and 2, then lost to Don Iverson, La Crosse, 5 and 3. Iverson had won his opening round match, 5 and 4 over Curt Jacobs of Oconomowoc.

Go Against Bears in Scrimmage

'Stars' Get Lesson in Finesse

By JERRY LISKA
Associated Press Sports Writer

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — The College All-Stars, who meet the Green Bay Packers at Chicago's Soldier Field the night of Aug. 5, got a lesson in pro football finesse from the Chicago Bears Wednesday.

But All-Star Coach John Sauer saw some bright spots as the Bears, pulling punches a bit, subdued the collegians 34-20 in a game-type scrimmage at the Bears' St. Joseph's College training base in Rensselaer, Ind.

"This is the first time we've practiced this far for any recent All-Star Game with six good running backs," said Sauer, who has succeeded Otto Graham as the All-Star boss.

Did Good Job

"Over-all, the squad did a good job and it will be hard to pick our starting offensive and defensive units."

The All-Stars, working with three different attacking units, never really got organized against the Bears, but halfback Roy Shivers of Utah State emerged as a distinct threat to the champions of the National Football League nine days hence.

Shivers darted 70 yards from scrimmage for the last of two All-Star touchdowns. The 200-pound speedster, who belongs to the St. Louis Cardinals, wound up with 100 yards on five carries and was a constant menace as a pass receiver.

Another of the running sextet which impressed Sauer was Donny Anderson, the Packers' big money signee from Texas Tech. Anderson scored the other All-Star touchdown on a 10-yard run.

Fairly Successful

Jim Grabowski of Illinois, also a prize Packer rookie; Walter Garrison of Oklahoma State, Johnny Roland of Missouri, and Mike Garrett of Southern California also had short, but fairly successful stints against the Bears.

Sauer said he couldn't choose a starter, either from among a quarterback trio including Steve Sloan of Alabama, Bill Anderson of Tulsa and Gary Lane of Missouri.

However, the two times the All-Stars moved their best, Sloan, property of the Atlanta Falcons, was in command.

On defense, linebacker Tommy Nobis of Texas and Doug Buffone of Louisville, and linemen Stan Hindmand of Mississippi and Aaron Brown of Minnesota gave the Bears some trouble.

"But," said Sauer, "we have plenty of work to do on defense in the short time remaining."

He gets no argument from fans who saw the Bears' Rudy Bukich easily hit passing targets and Gale Sayers and Andy Livingston reel off long gains in limited appearances.

Princeton's celebrated place kicker, Charles Gogolak, booted field goals of 36 and 15 yards.

Rath Slated to Hurl Tonight In Wind-Up of ML Road Trip

DUBUQUE, Ia. — Despite being out-hit 14-6, the Fox Cities Foxes were in the game all the way but finally dropped a 6-5 Midwest League verdict to Dubuque here Wednesday night as catcher Don January socked a solo home run in the seventh inning for what proved to be the winning run.

The Foxes, with righthander Fred Rath seeking his 13th victory against two losses, clash with Dubuque here again tonight, before returning to Goodland Field for a 5-day homestand Friday.

Darryl Farnsworth (0-4) will be Rath's mound opponent. Rath's latest appearance was with the Chicago White Six in Comiskey Park, where he hurled two hitless innings in an exhibition game against the Chicago Cubs.

When Bill Melton was safe on a 2-base error by Cliff Lee and George Hunter singled him in the Foxes enjoyed a 1-0 lead after 1½ innings, but Dubuque erupted for four runs in the bottom of the second.

Toby Green doubled and January walked. Sonny Jackson singled in Green and John Walls grounded into a forceout. Denny Deptual's single scored January and both runners advanced on a wild pitch from Foxes' starter and loser John Marcum. A 2-base throwing error by newly-acquired shortstop Burke Reichenbach on Jerry Kenney's grounder allowed the last two runs to cross the plate.

Singles by Doug Adams and "Deacon" Jones and a George Hunter single pushed in a run for Fox Cities in the third, but Dubuque countered with one in the bottom of the inning for a 5-2 lead.

Foxes' Series With Cardinals May be Preview of Playoff

A possible preview of the 1966 Midwest League championship playoff will be staged at Goodland Field Friday and Saturday nights.

The first-round champion Fox Cities Foxes will entertain Cedar Rapids, which is setting one of the fastest paces in ML history. The Cardinals, who lead the second-half chase by six games, are favored to stay in front the final month of the season.

If that happens, Cedar Rapids will return to Goodland Field near the end of August to meet the Foxes in a championship playoff.

The Foxes and the Cardinals have split even in their 10 games this season. Cedar Rapids has triumphed in its only two second-half meetings with the Foxes.

The Foxes still have long-shot pennant hopes for the second round—but they'd have to set a sizzling pace to accomplish it. Fox Cities, however, has a better chance of overtaking Cedar Rapids for full-season honors in the won-lost column. Cedar Rapids, which finished 7½ games behind the Foxes in the first round, has an over-all record of 59-30. Burlington is next with 58-37, while the Foxes are 56-36.

Dairyland Baseball League players will be guests of the Foxes for Friday's game.

"Appleton Coated Paper Company Night" will be observed at 8 p.m. Saturday. The firm has "bought out" the park and has made tickets available for the Foxes-Cardinals game.

Quad Cities' Angels invade Goodland Field for a 3-day stand, starting at 2 p.m. Sunday. The Sunday matinee will be preceded by a 1:30 p.m. exhibition game featuring wives of Foxes players and the Vixens (usherettes) against the Foxes.

Mrs. Gary Schaefer is expected to pitch against the Foxes, with Mrs. Al Fitzmorris catching. Other Foxes wives expected to appear are Mrs. Al Kristowski and Mrs. Bil Mi Melton. Mrs. Stan Wasiak will be a coach, while Mrs. "Deacon" Jones will be the scorer. Miss Fox Cities Foxes (Joan Koenig) will also be in the lineup.

After the Foxes-Quad Cities game, fans will be permitted on the field to take pictures in a "camera day" feature.

"Gasoline Alley Night," will be observed Monday. Service stations, car dealers and other automotive distributors have purchased tickets and are giving them to customers. Don Lieby and his Merrymakers will provide music Monday.

McNally Pitches Orioles to Win

Senators Down Angels, 7-5

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

All the sweet talk in the world won't help until they are treated more gently, the California Angels won't show any affection for Washington's Valentine.

Dan Cupid used a bow and arrow but give Fred Valentine a bat and the Angels to hit against and the results are just as devastating.

Valentine walloped a grand-slam homer and a double Wednesday night, driving in five runs as Washington whipped California 7-5.

His slugging was hardly unexpected by the Angels. Like a persistent beau, he's been pestering them all season. Valentine, batting .278 over-all, is hitting at an amazing .521 pace against California.

20 Against Angels

The husky Senators outfielder has had 25 hits in 48 swings against the Angels this season. He has driven in 38 runs, 20 of them against California.

He tagged his 10th home run of the season in the third inning against rookie Clyde Wright following hunt singles by Ed Brinkman and Ken McMullen and a fielder's choice which loaded the bases.

In the sixth, his bloop double scored McMullen, who had singled.

Brinkman had four hits for the Senators and Barry Moore won his second major league game in as many starts.

Elsewhere, New York downed Minnesota 6-3, Chicago blanked Detroit 5-0, Baltimore defeated Cleveland 7-1 and Kansas City routed Boston 14-2.

Bobby Richardson and Joe Pepitone walloped two-run homers and Horace Clarke drove in two runs with a triple as the Yankees downed the Twins.

Appleton Legion '9' Defeats Oconto Falls

Tim Johnson hurled a 7-hitter and struck out 13 as the Appleton Legion team swept to a 6-1 triumph over Oconto Falls in Region 3 state tournament action at Goodland Field Wednesday night.

The victory advanced the Appleton team to the 3-team finals at Marinette Saturday. The winner of the Marinette test will gain a berth in the state tourney finals at Clintonville.

Johnson walked only one last night and scattered six singles and one double. The visitors managed two hits in only one inning, the seventh, when Johnson struck ut Tom Milheiser with the bases-loaded to end the inning.

Tied the Count

Appleton jumped off to a 1-0 lead with a run in the first inning, but Falls tied the count with its only run in the second on a single by Joe Spice, a stolen base and a error.

Tom Jooss tripled in Brad (Busy) Graff, who was safe on a fielder's choice, and Ron Brinkman, who had singled, to give Appleton a 3-1 lead after three innings.

Appleton added another run in the fifth and a pair in the seventh, but managed just one hit in each of the run-producing innings.

Ron Brinkman and Pat Garvey, who tripled in the first inning but failed to score, each collected two of Appleton's seven hits. The other safeties were by Gary Lutz, Jooss and Johnson.

Festival Open Starts Bleakly; Casper Favored

Pros Wearing Black Ribbons in Memory Of Colleague, Lema

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — The $52,000 Festival Open Golf Tournament starts bleakly today with the pros wearing black ribbons in memory of their colleague, Tony Lema, killed in a plane crash last Sunday.

The tourney is one of the PGA's most unusual events.

During a pro-amateur affair Wednesday, which Jacky Cupit topped with a six-under-par 66 for a record on the new Speedway course, a memorial to Lema was recorded.

At noon, play was halted and taps sounded on the loud speaker system. Father Paul Reichart, Speedway chaplain, gave a brief memorial prayer.

Flags Lowered

Flags were put at half-staff for the remainder of the meet, which ends Sunday.

Two minutes of silence were observed over the entire course.

A flare burst overhead.

A field of 135 teed off today. Posted in the locker rooms was a notice that funeral services for Lema and his wife, Betty, were to be held today in San Leandro, Calif.

Billy Casper was installed the tournament favorite. He won the same title in 1962 and is on the crest of a great 1966 season after taking the National and Western Opens.

Martin Will be Named Tigers' New Manager

Chicago's American Says Twins' Pilot To Succeed Dressen

CHICAGO (AP) — Billy Martin will be named new manager of the Detroit Tigers before the beginning of the 1967 season, Chicago's American said Wednesday.

Martin, currently a coach for the Minnesota Twins, became the No. 1 choice of Tiger President John Fetzer after Al Lopez declined to succeed the ailing current Tiger pilot, Charlie Dressen, it was reported by the American's baseball writer, Brent Musburger.

Dressen on May 16 suffered his second heart attack in as many years and coach Frank Skaff presently directs the Tigers. Dressen's original replacement, coach Bob Swift, also became ill July 14.

Musburger wrote:

Selection Revealed

"The selection of Martin was revealed to this writer by a member of the Tiger family, who indicated several players were aware of Martin's selection for next season and were quite happy with Fetzer's choice. Martin was a member of the Tigers in 1958 before he was traded to Cleveland."

Musburger said Lopez, retired as manager of the Chicago White Sox and current Sox vice-president and consultant, told the Tigers his retirement from managing was final.

"Whether Martin will take over the Tigers before the end of this season is not known," Musburger wrote. "His one-year contract with the Twins expires this October. It is believed he will also have a one-year pact with the Tigers."

Turner Posts Ace In State Amateur

SHEBOYGAN (AP) — Walter Turner scored a hole-in-one during the first round of the Wisconsin State Amateur Golf tournament Wednesday.

Turner, state golf secretary, achieved the feat on the 128-yard fifth hole in match play against Barry Noll of Kenosha. Noll went on to win the match, 2 and 1.

Market Stays Generally Up

Profit Taking Trims Some Shares; Trading Moderate

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market remained generally higher early this afternoon despite profit taking which trimmed some prices. Trading was moderator.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 2.17 at 858.40.

Airlines, nonferrous metals, electronics and drugs remained generally higher but steels turned mixed after an early rise. Chemicals and electrical equipments also erased some gains and became irregular.

As the recovery movement went into its second straight session it was losing some headway, lacking any concrete news to bring in additional buyers. While most corporate earnings reports were favorable, this was not having much effect on stock buyers.

Chrysler Earnings

Chrysler became the third of the Big Three automakers to report lower earnings for the second quarter. Chrysler stock showed a fractional loss after trading unchanged at the start.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .7 at 309.7 with industrials up 1.5, rails off .1 and utilities up .3.

Eastern Air Lines was up about 2, American and Pan American about 1 each.

Xerox rebounded 3. Polaroid and General Dynamics about 2 each. Boeing sank nearly 2 points as selling pressure heightened.

Reynolds Metal sank 1⅛ to 47¾ on a huge block of 64,600 shares but showed a fractional net gain in later dealings.

Prices rose in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange.

A pair of no-hit games highlighted action Wednesday night in the 15th annual Fox Valley Softball Tournament sponsored by the Appleton Recreation Department.

Tom Lemorande of Military Golfland, Green Bay, and Claude Doyville of Frank's IGA Luxemburg authored the no hit games as eight hits were played last night.

Four more games are on tap in the third round of play tonight.

Golfland, which appears to be one of the stronger teams in the tournament, rolled to a 8-0 victory over B and B Tap Oshkosh. Al Reichwald paced the victors with a home run and single in three trips. Lemorande had 12 strikeouts and walked only one batter.

Issued One Walk

Doyville fanned eight batters and issued only one walk as Frank's IGA thumped Courtney and Plummer, Menasha, 15-1. Koch and Bairel led the 10-hit attack of the winners with three hits each.

Bob Hietpas hurled a 2-hitter as Butch's edged Jitter's in an 8-inning contest. Bud Everts bunted Hietpas home with the tie breaker to win the game. Everts and Mark Gauthier had a pair of hits for the winners and the only hits off Hietpas were by John DeYoung and Clair Bolwerk.

Lex Club pounded out 13 hits in the win over Subway Bar. Ron Brault led the way with four safeties and home runs were hit by Wayne Merbach and Gary McGoey.

Jerry Schmidt tossed a 3-hitter for Northwest Supply in the win over Village Lanes of Little Chute.

against loser Jim Kaat, 14-7, after the Twins had grabbed a quick 2-0 lead. Fred Talbot went the distance for his ninth victory, retiring 15 in a row over one stretch.

John Buzhardt pitched his fourth shutout of the season and Tommie Agee drove in four runs with a bases-loaded double and a sacrifice fly for the White Sox. Tom McCraw had three hits, driving in one run and scoring another for Chicago.

Frank Robinson hammered his 30th homer of the season, one of three circuits for the Orioles as Dave McNally won his 10th.

Crandall Homers

Robinson connected with two on in the seventh after rookie Larry Haney and veteran Luis Aparicio had homered earlier. Del Crandall hit his fourth for the Indians.

McNally, who pitched a six-hitter, striking out eight, contributed three straight singles to the Baltimore attack.

Kansas City used 13 singles and bases-empty homers by Mike Hershberger and Jim Gosger to humble the Red Sox. Jim Nash got credit for the victory, his fourth.

Hershberger had two singles to go with his first homer of the season as Kansas City snapped a four-game losing streak. Gosger's homer was his eighth.

seventh with a walk and Jones flied to Toby Green in left but Green dropped the ball and Maness scored on the error for a 5-3 deficit. January's homer made it 6-3, but the Foxes struck for another pair in the top of the eighth.

Hunter opened with a single and advanced to second on a wild pitch, scoring on Al Fitzmorris' double. Fitzmorris advanced to third on a ground out and Jerry Boehmer walked. Jim Beamer, batting for reliefer Gary Schaefer who fanned seven in four innings, was safe on third sacker Cliff Lee's error and Fitzmorris scored.

With runners on first and second and only one out, Maness grounded into a fielder's choice and Adams popped to third base to end the threat.

Athletics Recall Blue Moon Odom, Option Stafford

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Kansas City Athletics recalled Wednesday right-hander John Blue Moon Odom from Mobile of the Southern League and optioned Bill Stafford also a right-hander to the same club subject to 24-hour recall.

Odom, who signed with the A's in 1964 for $75,000, has an 11-5 record with a 3.12 earned run average.

Stafford, 27, failed to get a victory in four decisions. He had a 5.07 era.

Stafford broke into the majors in 1960 with the New York Yankees. In both 1961 and 1962 he had a 14-9 record. He was traded to the Athletics on June 10 along with outfielder Roger Repoz and pitcher Gil Bianco for pitcher Fred Talbot and catcher Bill Bryan.

Odom, 21, appeared in five games with the A's in 1964, winning one while losing two.

Muskies, Bass Provide Action

38-Pounder Taken From Moss Lake; Trout Fishing Slow

MADISON (AP) — Muskies and bass were biting in hot weather in the past week but trout and walleyes preferred a cooler pace.

The weekly fishing report of state conservation officials said a 53-inch muskellunge that weighed in at 38 pounds was pulled from Moss Lake in Vilas County.

Vilas County's Fence Lake also yielded a pair of 4½-pound smallmouth bass.

The runnerup musky was a 47-incher taken from Solberg Flowage in Price County. A 27-pound musky was netted in the Chippewa Flowage in Sawyer County.

Other good bass fishing spots were reported on the Wisconsin, Grant, Platte, Sugar and Manitowoc rivers.

Pan fishing was listed as good in 37 of the state's 72 counties.

The best walleye caught was a 10 pounder in Roberts Lake in Forest County. A 28-inch walleye pike was taken from Soo Lake in Price County.

Lake Winnebago yielded both jumbo perch and walleyes. Lake Superior and Big Green Lake continued to give up lake trout.

Semi-Pro Test Opens With No-Hit Game

MADISON (AP) — Stan Wagner, a former University of Wisconsin pitcher, has gotten the Wisconsin State Baseball Tournament off to a fast start with a slick no-hitter in the opening round.

Wagner, a right hander, struck out 14 as he led Madison American Bank to a 2-0 victory over Melrose.

Both of the winners' runs were set up by Melrose errors.

Another Madison entry, the Shamrocks, swept by Richland Center 6-3 in the first game Wednesday. Ron Estervig and Ron Tulin each had two hits for the winners.

In first-round games today, Rubicon meets Columbus and Waupaca takes on the Monona Grove Lakers.

Eighteen teams entered the single-elimination tournament that continues through the week end. The winner will represent Wisconsin in the National Baseball Congress tournament at Wichita, Kan., in August.

Legion Tips New London, 5-2

Dave Johnson Hurls 1-Hitter for Menasha

NEW LONDON — Menasha's American Legion team advanced to the second round of tournament play Wednesday by pounding out a 5-2 win over New London at Hatten Stadium.

Dave Johnson hurled a one hitter in the winning effort and struck out nine. Loser Rich Gorges pitched one of his best games of the season, but spotty support in the field took a heavy toll.

Gorges fanned five and allowed eight hits. Menasha scored twice in the first on two infield errors, two hit batters and a double by Tim Resch.

Menasha added a run in the second on two singles and another in the third inning in the same manner. The Menashans tallied their final run in the sixth on three hits.

Both of New London's runs in the seventh were tainted. A walk, an infield error, and a slow grounder down the first baseline which nobody could field scored the first run. The second run scored after consecutive walks to two New London hitters.

Johnson capped his stellar pitching effort with a 3-for-4 performance at the plate. He blasted three straight singles and scored two runs before fanning in the seventh.

Mike Heroux went 2-5 and Resch and Marc Haberman collected doubles for the winners. Donn Beiguind collected the only New London hit on a slow infield grounder.

Sherwood Second In Tri-County Loop

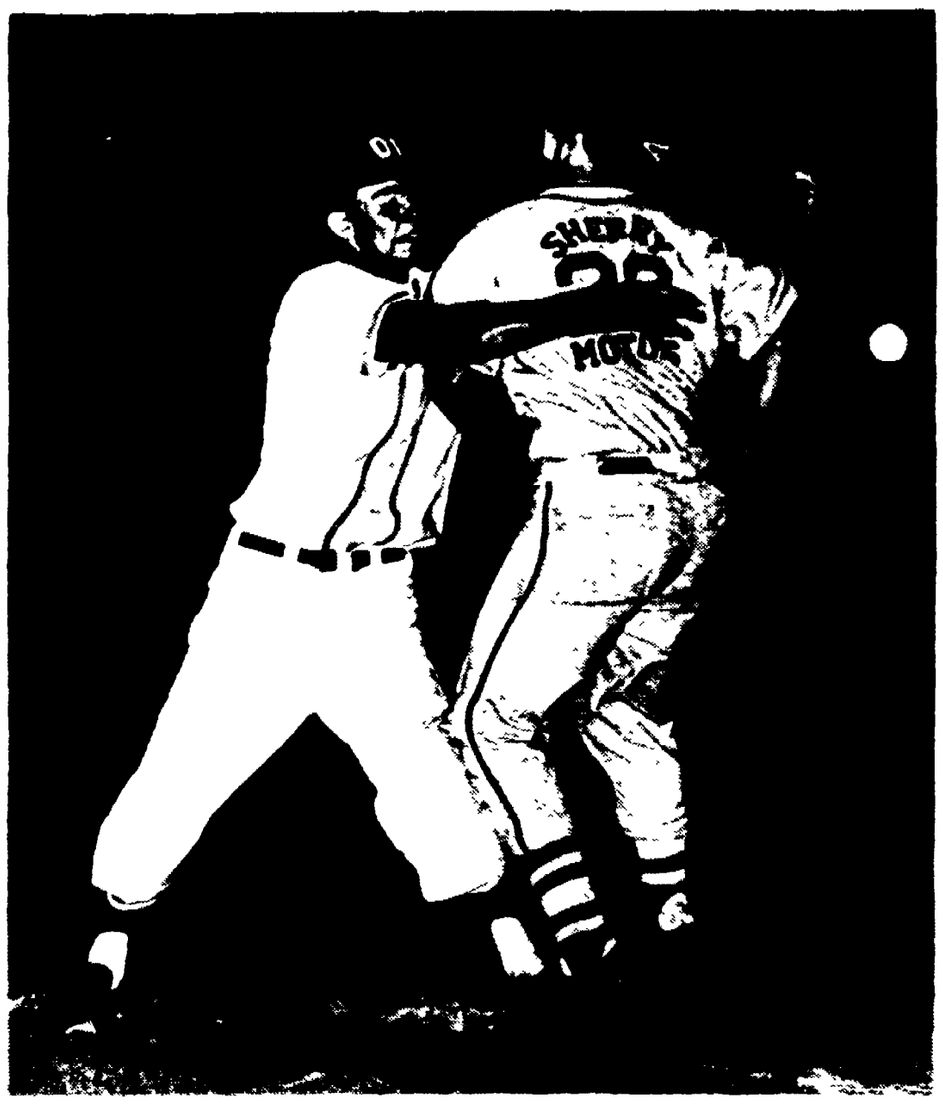
SHERWOOD — Sherwood Little Leaguers wound up in second place in the Tri-County Baseball League after defeating Little Chute 11 to 2.

Sherwood had nine wins, one loss and two ties.

Trophies were awarded at the All Star game at Stockbridge to the undefeated Stockbridge team, Sherwood and third place Brillion. Boniface Kemper, Holdrtown president of the league, made the presentations.

Klatt Kress was named Sherwood's top player.

In All Star game, the south (composed of Brillion, Hilbert, Stockbridge and Sherwood) won 11 to 5 over the north (Holland, town, Greenleaf and Little Chute).



Bill Krueger, of Oconto Falls, has his hands full at third base as Gary Lutz of Appleton came into the bag. The camera caught Krueger when he was either trying to catch Lutz, his hat or the ball. The action took place in the first inning of Wednesday night's game at Goodland Field which Appleton won by a 6-1 score. (Post-Crescent Photo)

SF's Marichal Gets Finger Caught In Car Door While Visiting Pirates

By RON BERGMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Instead of leaving their hearts in San Francisco, the Pittsburgh Pirates left just enough of Juan Marichal's finger to possibly help them stay atop the National League until the end of the week.

The Pirates moved back into first place Wednesday by two percentage points over San Francisco. They won 5-3 over the Giants, who sought a sweep of the three-game series.

The night before, Pirate outfielder Manny Mota slammed a car door and caught Marichal's finger, ripping off a small piece of flesh and bringing blood on the middle finger of his pitching hand.

Marichal, who had beaten the Pirates Monday for his 16th victory, showed up with a bandaged finger. There was talk he would be unable to face the Braves when the Giants move into Atlanta Friday.

Face Philadelphia

That wouldn't bother the Pirates, who return home to face Philadelphia the same day.

Two errors by the usually flawless Giants' third baseman Jim Davenport, helped the Pirates score the two tie-breaking runs in the ninth inning Wednesday.

Davenport first picked up Donn Clendenon's inning-opening bunt single and overthrew second. Davenport then bobbled Jim Pagliaroni's sacrifice.

Bill Mazeroski drove in Clendenon with a single and Mota batted in Pagliaroni's pinch-runner, Gene Michael, with a sacrifice fly.

"You would have to say that this was the big one," said Pirate Manager Harry Walker.

"To go back home in first place is to be in good shape."

The Giants had moved into a 3-3 tie in the fifth on a single by Hal Lanier, a double by pinch-hitter Bob Burda, Tito Fuentes' run-scoring single and Davenport's double play grounder.

The Pirates had scored on a solo homer by Clendenon in the second inning and a two-run homer by Gene Alley in the fifth, both off starter Bob Bolin.

Pete Mikkelsen, 6-5 second of three Pirate relievers for Tommy Sisk, got the victory. Frank Linzy, 4-6, took the loss.

After the game, Mota explained that the Marichal injury was strictly an accident. Mota, teammate Matty Alou and Jesus Alou of the Giants were going to dinner together.

Were Teammates

Marichal drove over to see them. All four once were teammates on the Giants and knew each other in their homeland, the Dominican Republic.

Marichal was standing with his hand on the door. Mota shut the door without knowing that.

The injury was not believed serious and required no medical care. Giants' trainer Leo Hughes said Marichal possibly could pitch Friday or Saturday.

Murphy Wins In Broadmoor Invitational

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — Favorites, including National Amateur champion Bob Murphy of Nichols, Fla., moved safely through the first round Wednesday of the Broadmoor Invitational Golf Tournament.

Murphy rallied from a two-hole deficit to beat Jim English, Littleton, Colo., two-time winner of this event, 2-up. The victory sent Murphy against L. D. Click, Denver, in today's 18-hole second round. Click scored a 3 and 2 triumph over Stanley Brown, Oklahoma City.

John Liechty, Marshalltown, Iowa, co-medalist with Murphy, advanced easily with an 8 and 6 triumph over Tom Reed, Broomfield, Colo. Liechty's second round opponent, Tom Vickers, Wichita, Kan., defeated Tom Kellyn Houston, 6 and 5.

Palmer Fires 64 In Exhibition

ELLICOTT CITY, Md. (AP) — Arnold Palmer, posting a course record 64, paced Gary Player and Jack Nicklaus in the Annual MABIC charity golf match at Turf Valley Country Club Wednesday. Palmer, playing the layout for the first time, put together runes of 32 and 32 for his six-under-par score. Player carded 69 and Nicklaus 70.

Trade Narrows Field For Tight End Position

Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY — Never one to stand pat, Vince Lombardi has moved to implement his "championship" formula, which calls for a happy blend of youth and experience, with customary dispatch.

Having determined that his 1966 rookie crop is exceptional, he dealt veteran defensive tackle Lloyd Voss and freshmen tight end Tony Jeter to Pittsburgh for an undisclosed high Steeler draft choice.

The transaction is an eloquent testimonial to Rich Marshall, the mountainous sophomore from Stephen F. Austin College and three equally massive yearlings, Bob Brown of Arkansas A. and M., Jim Weatherwax of Los Angles State, and San Diego State's Fred Heron.

Narrows Field

It also narrows the field at tight end among incumbent Bill Anderson, 4-year veteran Marv Fleming and the heralded Allen Brown, who sat out his rookie season in 1965.

Jeter, younger brother of Packer cornerback Bob Jeter, also exhibited promise but found himself in heavy traffic at tight end, already well stocked with both youth and experience.

Voss' departure leaves what looms as a 4-way struggle for two defensive line berths behind starters Willie Davis, Henry Jordan, Ron Kostelnik and Lionel Aldridge. Since the normal complement here is six, Marshall and the three freshmen, Brown, Weatherwax and Heron will be contending from here on in for the remaining assignments.

Brown, a 6-5, 258-pound colossus who toiled for the Wheeling, W. Va. Iron Men in the Continental League last season and was a member of the San Francisco 49ers' taxi squad in 1964, admitted the trade had enhanced his chances of making the major league grade.

Brown, who played in three exhibitions with the 49ers in '64, also tried his hand at Canadian football last season before joining Wheeling. "I played eight games with the Toronto Argonauts, but it wasn't a real test, he confided. "In Canada, they move you in and out all the time. If the team loses a game, you might be going, whether you had anything to do with it or not. They cut you from week to week."

After leaving the northern precincts, the huge West Memphis, Ark., native played seven games with Wheeling where, he was happy to report, "I was chosen one of the most valuable players on the team."

Trial Date Set for Assemblyman Elfers

KENOSHA (AP) — County Judge Earl Morton set Nov. 28 as the trial date Tuesday for Assemblyman Earl Elfers, D-Trevor, who was named in a civil warrant charging him with the assault July 12 of Roger K. Jacobson of Camp Lake.

Elfers, who appeared in court to answer the complaint, was released on $50 bond.

Israeli President Arrives in New York

NEW YORK (AP) — President Zalman Shazar of Israel arrived today from Rio de Janeiro for a visit to the United States, during which he is scheduled to meet with President Johnson next Tuesday.

Laird Blames LBJ for High Interest Rate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Melvin R. Laird, R-Wis., blamed the Johnson administration for the present interest rates on home mortgages and loans.

"New contruction loans and home mortgage commitments are in a rapid decline with the worst still to come in the latter half of 1966," Laird said. "The total 1966 decline could go as high as 40 per cent or more."

The chairman of the House Republican Conference said interest rates "have been skyrocketing as a result of federal government policies such as the high interest act of 1966."

The latter was his description of the complicated participation sales act enacted earlier this year by Congress at the request of the administration.

The "high interest act," Laird said, has the effect of drying up the money supply by competing directly for loan funds that normally would go into home and other mortgage loans, adding:

"Like inflation, high interest rates are a cruel, hidden cost of bad government policies that are steam-rollered through a rubber stamp Congress."

Laird said Republicans had urged President Johnson to create an "emergency presidential fact-finding committee on the economic slump in the home-building industry" to make recommendations to Congress in time for action prior to adjournment."

Perch Report Luci, Pat Will Have Good Day

WAUKEGAN, Ill. (AP) — Mathon Kyritsis, a commercial fisherman, says the perch in Lake Michigan have good news for Luci Baines Johnson and Pat Nugent.

The fish tell him the weather in advance, says Kyritsis, and perch movements indicate this forecast for Aug. 6, the date of Luci's wedding to Nugent:

"A good, warm, sunny day for getting married, but the next day, Sunday, rain for sure!"

One of Kyritsis' widely known previous forecasts was made in autumn 1962 when he forecast a mild winter. It turned out to be one of the coldest in history and Lake Michigan nearly froze solid from shore to shore.

Father and Son Going to Viet Nam

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Sgt. 1.C. Anthony del Signore, 43, and his son, Delvet, 19, are going to Viet Nam.

The elder Del Signore was about to retire from the Army in June, but changed his mind when his engineering battalion was reactivated. Delvet, a June high school graduate, has just completed airborne training.

The Viet Nam assignment is expected to begin in September, but the Del Signores doubt they'll be stationed near each other.

NEW YORK (AP) — President Zalman Shazar of Israel arrived today from Rio de Janeiro for a visit to the United States, during which he is scheduled to meet with President Johnson next Tuesday.

Laird Blames LBJ for High Interest Rate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Melvin R. Laird, R - Wis., blamed the Johnson administration for the present interest rates on home mortgages and loans.

"New contruction loans and home mortgage commitments are in a rapid decline with the worst still to come in the latter half of 1966," Laird said. "The total 1966 decline could go as high as 40 per cent or more."

The chairman of the House Republican Conference said interest rates "have been skyrocketing as a result of federal government policies such as the high interest act of 1966."

The latter was his description of the complicated participation sales act enacted earlier this year by Congress at the request of the administration.

The "high interest act," Laird said, has the effect of drying up the money supply by competing directly for loan funds that normally would go into home and other mortgage loans, adding:

"Like inflation, high interest rates are a cruel, hidden cost of bad government policies that are steam - rollered through a rubber stamp Congress."

Laird said Republicans had urged President Johnson to create an "emergency presidential fact-finding committee on the economic slump in the home-building industry" to make recommendations to Congress in time for action prior to adjournment."

Perch Report Luci, Pat Will Have Good Day

WAUKEGAN, Ill. (AP) — Mathon Kyritsis, a commercial fisherman, says the perch in Lake Michigan have good news for Luci Baines Johnson and Pat Nugent.

The fish tell him the weather in advance, says Kyritsis, and perch movements indicate this forecast for Aug. 6, the date of Luci's wedding to Nugent:

"A good, warm, sunny day for getting married, but the next day, Sunday, rain for sure."

One of Kyritsis' widely known previous forecasts was made in autumn 1962 when he forecast a mild winter. It turned out to be one of the coldest in history and Lake Michigan nearly froze solid from shore to shore.

Father and Son Going to Viet Nam

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Sgt. 1.C. Anthony del Signore, 45, and his son, Delvet, 19, are going to Viet Nam.

The elder Del Signore was about to retire from the Army in June, but changed his mind when his engineering battalion was reactivated. Delvet, a June high school graduate, has just completed airborne training.

The Viet Nam assignment is expected to begin in September, but the Del Signores doubt they'll be stationed near each other.

BPW on Record Against Sex Discrimination

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The National Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs has given its approval to proposed legislation to amend the U S Constitution to prohibit legislation based on sex.

Action on two other legislative proposals was expected today along with announcement of the election of the second vice president, chairman of the nomination committee and recording secretary.

Installation

Winners of those offices will be installed tonight along with the new president, Sarah Jane Cunningham of McCook, Neb., and other new officers.

The legislative proposal approved, a federation official said, is aimed at eliminating laws which discriminate against women, such as in property rights, pursuit of an occupation and in inheritance rights.

Fashion Paper Describes Luci's Bridal Gown

NEW YORK (AP) — Will Luci Johnson's bridal gown be "a traditional white lace with long sleeves, a high neckline, a little bow to mark the natural waistline, and a face-framing Spanish mantilla ending in a sweeping train?"

That's what Women's Wear Daily said Wednesday the President's daughter will be wearing when she is married Aug 6 to Patrick J. Nugent.

But Elizabeth Carpenter, Mrs. Lyndon B Johnson's press secretary, promptly denied it at the White House She contended there was nothing in the fashion trade newspaper's description "which is remotely accurate" about the gown.

Women's Wear Daily, which has been barred from the wedding for its prerelease date publication of a sketch of the bridesmaid's gowns, said it turned up its information "in an old Boston cupboard."

Luci's designer is Priscilla of Boston.

Mrs. Carpenter said she would stick to her decision not to reveal details of Luci's gown prior to the wedding out of respect for "the bride's right to have her fiance see it first."

Special Rates Bring Down Cost of Family Vacations

BY MARY FEELEY

Have you ever taken the children along on vacation? Well, you couldn't pick a better time than now. Hotels, motels, airlines, trains, and buses are competing with reduced rates for your children.

The various money-saving family plans available this summer should make parents feel freer having the children along rather than worrying whether the housekeeper at home is on duty.

Take a look at some of the accommodations offered families at large cross-country hotel and motel chains:

Children under 12 stay free if they are in the same rooms as their parents. Charge of $2 to $3 is made for children over 12 using the same room. Cots or roll-away beds are supplied for the children.

Children Under 14

Another big hotel chain has no charge for children under 14, if they occupy their parent's room. And for those over 14, only $3 extra is charged

Still another well-known hotel chain says: "No limit on the number of children" — if they use the same accommodations occupied by their parents. Or if the walls bulge, and the children are older, a next-door room can be had at single room rates.

All these chains provide children's menus — at "children's prices." In some instances, reliable babysitters are available at nominal fees as well as toys and games.

The large airlines have many versatile travel plans. There's a saying in the industry that if a left-handed red-haired man wanted to go southwest on a Thursday, there would probably be a special plan for him. You should shop around for the family plan that suits you best.

For example, one big airline offers:

A family plan with the head of the household paying full fare, the wife two-thirds and children (age 2 through 21) flying two-thirds, each. These rates are effective from noon Monday through noon Friday, for round trip coach accommodations. This same airline offers another arrangement — from midnight Friday to noon Sunday, round trip. The father pays regular fare, his wife 75 per cent and the children, ages 2 to 12, half. Older children can fly 75 per cent of the regular fare.

Excursion Fares

One airline offers excursion rates even more attractive: 25 per cent off the regular fare from Saturday a.m. to Sunday a.m. Another major carrier permits one or more family members to fly one way of the round trip on different dates. If someone must leave earlier or stay later, the family still gets substantially reduced fares.

Some railroads will let one adult pay regular round trip fare; the other pays only the one-way rate for a round trip, while children 12 to 22 also pay only a one-way rate. Children 5 to 11 pay one-half of a one-way adult fare, and those under 5 travel free.

A nationally known bus line says if the family goes round trip, and the regular fare is $10 or more per person, then the wife gets ¼ off the regular fare as do children ages 12-21. Younger children get 2-3 off.

Off course, credit is extended by most carriers today

Dear Miss Feeley:

I changed my E bonds to H bonds. We had conflicting answers as to whether H bonds were automatically extended. I wrote to the Treasurer of the United States in July, 1965. Her reply was that E bonds were automatically extended, not H bonds. Has this been changed?

Mrs. J.B.N., Benita, Calif.

Dear Mrs. J.B.N.:

No, this has not changed. Even though interest rates on government bonds were increased in December, the maturity on H bonds has not changed and is as follows: H bonds issued prior to Feb. 1, 1957 have a 10-year extension, so these bonds will mature in 10 years, 8 months from the time they were issued. Any H bonds issued since Feb. 1957 will not mature until next year. At that time a new extension date will be announced.

(You can write to Mary Feeley in care of The Post-Crescent. Questions of wide interest will be discussed in her column.)

'Big Show' at Playgrounds

"Step right up, boys and girls. It's the big carnival—this week—at all the playgrounds. Games and contests, food and drink, games and sideshows. Fun for all."

Posters were out and preparations underway for days. Playground carnivals are highlights of the summer season for children who attend the Recreation Dept. programs at 13 city parks and schools. The playgrounds held scavenger hunts the night before to gather last minute necessities, such as rope for marking off booths, games, boxes, stakes, prizes and toys.

The weather threatened toward the 6 p.m. starting time, and with thunder sounding and sprinkles beginning, some of the playgrounds postponed their carnivals for a day. Others, such as Erb Park, felt it was too far along to permit putting it off, and, in the shelter of pavilions, went ahead with their plans. The pictures here were all taken at Erb, where a band had been arranged for dancing, where the popcorn, peanuts and hot dogs seemed to have a special flavor, in spite of, or because of, the light shower that cooled the evening.

Deluxe Fabrics Highlight Jean Lanvin Collection

By LUCIE NOEL

PARIS (AP) — Jean Lanvin today showed a winter collection which highlighted deluxe fabrics, ranging from handsome pageantry brocade to velour woolens and Staron's Roman-striped silks. Hemlines swung at the kneecap.

Lanvin, on the third day of Paris fall and winter fashions, showed four different styles in coats. One was a Man's robe, called the dressing gown, which was soft, belted, tied at the waist and trimmed with a fur shawl collar. Then came his envelope coat, tightly wrapped, lined in beaver, nutria or sable, or with a fur panel collar.

The redingote is unfitted this season. Clothing and suits are stepped and staggered, or zig-zag. Boldly designed, they add interest to a slim silhouette.

Of great appeal are the cocktail dresses which feature — as most of the evening dresses — his new Crahay neckline. Built up straight and high in front, it drops from spaghetti straps down the back. He repeats this again and again in plain fabrics, in velvet and in tailored, luxurious materials.

Cocktail dresses also display floating panels running from necklines and caught at hemlines. They billow as the wearer moves, recalling the immense French tricolor flag which floats beneath the Arch of Triumph on national holidays.

Sensational hostess costumes vary from a demure, floating shift with neckline interest and long sleeves, to exciting Indo-chinese brocaded tunics with deep flared peplums worn over sheer chiffon Turkish trousers. One is in shades of oranges and yellow, another in shades of blue and silver.

Silver is everywhere — in coat buttons, on helmets, in fabulous matelasses simulating Scotch plaids.

Tunics in Collection

Little pastel sugar bonbon shades step forth for daytime in useful wool suits, their short jackets lined with chinchilla or sable. There are many nine-tenths tunics with fur bands on the underskirt. Tunics run throughout the collection.

Millinery features many Garbo felts and also berets and turbans in silver or striped silks.

Lots of white points to a white Christmas.

Troop Camping Scheduled by Milwaukee, Appleton Scouts

They're like old friends now, for songs and games and outdoor fun have a way of bringing girls together.

When a Negro Girl Scout Troop from St. Francis of Assisi Parish, Milwaukee, disembarks at New London Sunday, there will be embraces and joyful greetings, for this is the third time these girls and members of Troop 322, Sacred Heart Parish, are getting together.

The 14 Appleton Cadettes will leave for Camp Vic-to-Rae at 1 p.m. When their 16 guests arrive at 7 the girls will be ready. The first night they will all pitch tents and make their camping preparations, staying in the Pioneer unit of Vic-to-Rae. Over their work and a snack they will get reacquainted.

Over Year Ago

The young women from Milwaukee will be making their second visit to the Fox Cities. They first came in March, 1965, at the invitation of St. Therese Scouts, spending a weekend in the homes of various members. The Sacred Heart girls, under the leadership of Mrs. Frank Escamilla, took over the guests on the final day of their visit, serving them dinner and seeing them to the train.

The friendships caught on and in the fall the Milwaukee girls invited the Appleton Scouts to visit them at Camp Will-I-Run, north of Saukville. There the girls played leap frog in a bright autumn sun, did a nature study, finding abandoned birds' nests, and lifted their voices in a Girl Scout's favorite occupation, singing.

On Their Own

Now they're going to try their hand at troop camping. The Milwaukee Scouts and those of Troop 322 will rough it, working to earn their craft badges and get a start on pioneer badges. They will lash tables, and flag poles, practice knot tying, learn three ways to keep food in the wilderness, pitch tents, build fires three ways, and, of course, save time for games and songs.

The second night they are at Vic-to-Rae the troops will be joined by a Kaukaun troop, already camping in the tent unit at the camp.

The Milwaukee girls, all seventh to ninth graders, like their hosts, have never before had the opportunity for this kind of camping. Accompanying them will be two leaders and an aide. Mrs. Escamilla will be assisted by aides Bonnie Hammer and Nancy Escamilla.

The visit will end Wednesday morning when the Milwaukee Scouts board buses for the return home.

Flames of Undetermined origin destroyed a barn on the property of Sydney Faulks, route 2, Weyauwega, Wednesday afternoon. Loss in the fire was estimated at more than $7,000, with much of it in construction equipment. Two fire departments were called and prevented spread of the fire to a nearby house. (Paschke Photo)

Damage Estimated At $7,000 in Fire

Barn Burns Near Weyauwega; Construction Equipment Lost

WEYAUWEGA — Construction equipment valued at more than $7,000 was lost Wednesday when fire destroyed a barn owned by Sidney Faulks in the Town of Weyauwega.

The fire, which broke out at approximately 1:50 p.m., was discovered by Faulks' nine-year-old son, Robert, when he went into the upper portion of the barn.

City and Town of Weyauwega firemen were called but the barn was engulfed in flames when they arrived. They were unable to save the barn or any of the equipment stored in its basement.

Stored Equipment

Equipment stored in the lower part of the 40 x 50-foot barn included a recent model tractor, cement finishing equipment, three large power mowers, curb and gutter forms and several smaller pieces of equipment.

The barn and equipment was partially covered by insurance, Fauls said.

Some antiques were stored in the barn, but Faulks did not make any estimate of their value. Included in the loss was a surrey and cutter owned by Mr. and Mrs. K. P. Van Epps and used in the city's Horse and Bugg Days celebration.

Flames from the barn started a grass fire which spread to a nearby field, but it was brought under control before it could cause any damage to the nearby house.

The Faulks were attending a funeral when the fire was discovered.

School District Budget Calls for $15 Tax Rate

WITTENBERG — Electors of Joint School District No. 3 approved adoption of a $620,405 budget for the district at Monday's meeting.

The budget calls for a $15 tax rate per $1,000 equalized valuation, the same as required for the current year's budget.

At the board of education meeting following the annual district meeting, officers were elected for the coming school year. Named were Bernard Buss, route 1, Eland, director and president; Keith Anderson, Wittenberg, treasurer, and Carl C. Larsen, Wittenberg, clerk.

Art Marsh, Town of Elderon, and Ernest Bushman, Town of Franzen, were elected to three-year terms on the school board at the electors meeting. Fred VanderKooy, a board member for the past 18 years and president since 1956, was not a candidate for re-election.

About 180 electors attended the district meeting, conducted in the high school gymnasium.

$13,000 Increase

$336,500 Budget for Tomorrow River District

AMHERST — A school budget of $336,500 has been approved by voters of the Tomorrow River School District. The budget is $13,000 more than the previous one, and it calls for a tax levy of $140,100, exceeding last year's levy by $2,155.

Other officers re-elected were Lester Ristow, board president, Edward Swenson, clerk, and Raymond Palmer, treasurer.

The school board voted to appoint a committee to study the possibilities of constructing a new school building at Nelsonville, and to have a week of harvest vacation in the fall. The time of the vacation will be determined by the school agriculture department.

Injunction Against Canning Company Refused by Court

Outagamie, Grand Chute Move In Migrant Camp Case Denied

A temporary injunction sought by Grand Chute and Outagamie County against Stokely-Van Camp Inc., was denied Wednesday in a ruling quashed by Judge Van Susteren.

The injunction action came over the construction of a migrant labor camp on N. Casaloma Drive by the canning firm.

In denying the injunction Van Susteren said that the cannery may proceed with work on the camp "at their peril." It is likely that the town and county will seek a permanent injunction against the firm during the fall session of circuit court.

The judge said Wednesday he is uncertain about the final outcome of the case and that the law is not clear.

Writ Also Granted

He said his decision on the temporary injunction was based on the urgency of the issue. The cannery is presently in the midst of its harvesting season and has contended throughout the lengthy proceedings that migrant labor was essential for operation of the plant.

A writ of mandamus filed by the canning company also was squashed by Judge Van Susteren. The writ, in effect, was a counter-measure to the injunction. It asked the court to order the issuing of building permits to the cannery.

Grand Chute Town Chairman Thomas Hhorson said Wednesday morning after learning of the judge's decision:

"This only postpones the decision on the injunction until the fall term of court. We will pursue our request for a permanent injunction.

"I have instructed Don Herrling (town attorney) to continue to pursue all available legal steps to stop the construction being attempted by Stokely-Van Camp," Thorson said.

More Charges Possible

Thorson went on to say that, should the cannery continue to build, additional charges will be brought against the company "alleging a separate offense on each day a violation occurs. We shall request a separate penalty for each day Stokely-Van Camp continues in violation."

The town and county have maintained throughout the hearings, which began July 6, that work began on the migrant labor camp without the cannery's contractors having obtained building permits first.

Attorney John Esler, representing the cannery, has contended in presenting the defendant's case that town and county zoning ordinances are in conflict and that there is no qualified building inspector to issue permits.

No Authorization

Esler said, after hearing the court's decision, that it was his belief that there is no specific authorization for a migrant labor camp in county zoning ordinances.

He said that most of the county, aside from some small plots of land, has been zoned as agricultural area and that, "If the use (of property for labor camps) isn't authorized in an

2 Officials File Writs of Prejudice

Another affidavit of prejudice against a county judge was filed Wednesday in the Outagamie County and Town of Grand Chute vs. Stokely-Van Camp, Inc., and Don Calmes contractor cases.

The newest requests for transfer of the cases to a different judge were filed Wednesday by County Clerk Mollie E. Pfeffer and Town Chairman Thomas Thorson. They ask that the charges against the cannery and Calmes, which say a migrant labor camp in Grand Chute was built without building permits, be transferred from Judge Urban P. Van Susteren's court.

The charges already had been transferred to Judge Van Susteren's jurisdiction when the cannery and Calmes filed affidavits of prejudice against Judge Gustave J. Keller July 18.

Judge Raymond P. Dohr is the only Outagamie County judge left who can preside over the cases. The county clerk of courts has not yet chosen a jurist or set a date for the migrant camp cases.

Kiel Man Seeks to Transfer Dam Title

MADISON — Arvin C. Eickhoff, Kiel, has applied for authority to transfer ownership of the Millhome Dam, on the Sheboygan River to the Town of Schleswig, Manitowoc County.

The State Public Service Commission will consider the request in a public hearing in the anitowoc County Courthouse at 9 a.m. Aug. 25.

Well Water 'Fortified'

Bad Taste in Waupaca Mouths Caused by Iron

WAUPACA — An offensive taste in the city's water supply comes from an accumulation of iron in Well No. 1, according to Caesar A. Stravinski, a State Board of Health official from the Division of Public Water Supplies.

Stravinski informed City Engineer Iver Oerter of the iron accumulation in a letter Wednesday, following a visit to the city, Monday.

Stravinski was called in by Oerter after several complaints were made of the unusual taste in city water. Stravinski visited homes of persons who complained and inspected the three city wells and reservoir.

Stravinski said, "Citizens should have no fears concerning the safety of their water supply."

Due to the heavy usage of water during the current dry period, Oerter said it has been necessary to use Well No. 1.

Bonduel Adopts School Budget

$22,819 Increase Over '65 Approved By District Electors

A proposed budget of $646,989 was accepted at the annual school meeting of Bonduel Joint District No. 1, Monday evening.

The new budget will result in an increase of approximately 50 cents on $1,000 equalized valuation. A tax levy of $385,106 will be required to support the accepted budget, which represents an increase of $22,819 over last year's budget.

The principal source of outside revenue is expected to be state aid, anticipated at $165,000, $13,000 more than budgeted for the crurent year.

Major source of the increase in the budget is instruction, which amounts to $321,635, an increase of $19,777. The budget will include $75,867 in retirement of debt service, about 12 per cent of the entire budget.

Elected for three-year terms on the school board were Loren Wegner and Reuben Radloff, both of rural Bonduel.

Shiocton Seeking Recreation Area

SHIOCTON — Residents are circulating petitions requesting village action in development of swimming, playground and other recreational facilities at Village Park.

The Shiocton Business League and other organizations hope need will be recognized and that play areas can be developed.

Recently acquired land adjacent to the park has a number of flowing springs, which it is felt could be an aid in development.

Seek Compromise On Resource Head

Feel Competent Man Won't Take Post Because of Coming Election

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — A political compromise on appointing a permanent director of the restructured state department of Resource Development was suggested Wednesday by Board Chairman John Potter.

Potter said he hopes to gain approval from both candidates for governor after the September primary on a nominee from a list of candidates.

The agency was redesigned by the spring session of the Legislature to head the newly consolidated state fight against water pollution.

Under the terms of the bill approved by the Legislature, the board has the appointing power for the director's post. Potter expressed fear it would be difficult to draw top-quality candidates for the job before the gubernatorial election.

Staggering Insured

Some members of the newly-created board have shortened terms to ensure future staggering of appointments. A Democratic victory this fall might result in a new board, as some appointments will be made to the board during the next term.

A new board might appoint a new director.

The director's post is not a tenured or civil service position.

"I can see a problem in getting a good man to come here before the election," Potter said.

The post has a salary between $19,000 and $22,500 a year.

"At that level you just don't walk out on the sidewalk and say 'Do you want the job?'," Potter said. "It is very important to the success of this program to get the best qualified man to run it," he added.

Attacked by Lucey

Potter, who has been attacked by Lt. Gov. Patrick Lucey, Democratic candidate for governor, said he could not understand the nature of the attacks against him.

Lucey has charged that Potter's appointment represents a conflict of interest, as one of the attorney's clients in a paper mill.

Potter also responded to charges that the new board, which does not have any official or legal powers until Monday, has been "dragging its feet" in preparing to combat pollution.

He said the board has been "expeditious" in its actions, as it already had met twice before the date on which it assumes legal responsibilities for anti-pollution efforts in Wisconsin.

In closed session, the board discussed "about 10" candidates for the post of acting director, who may be named at the board's first meeting on Monday. The acting director would serve only until the permanent director is named.

Advertising Authorized

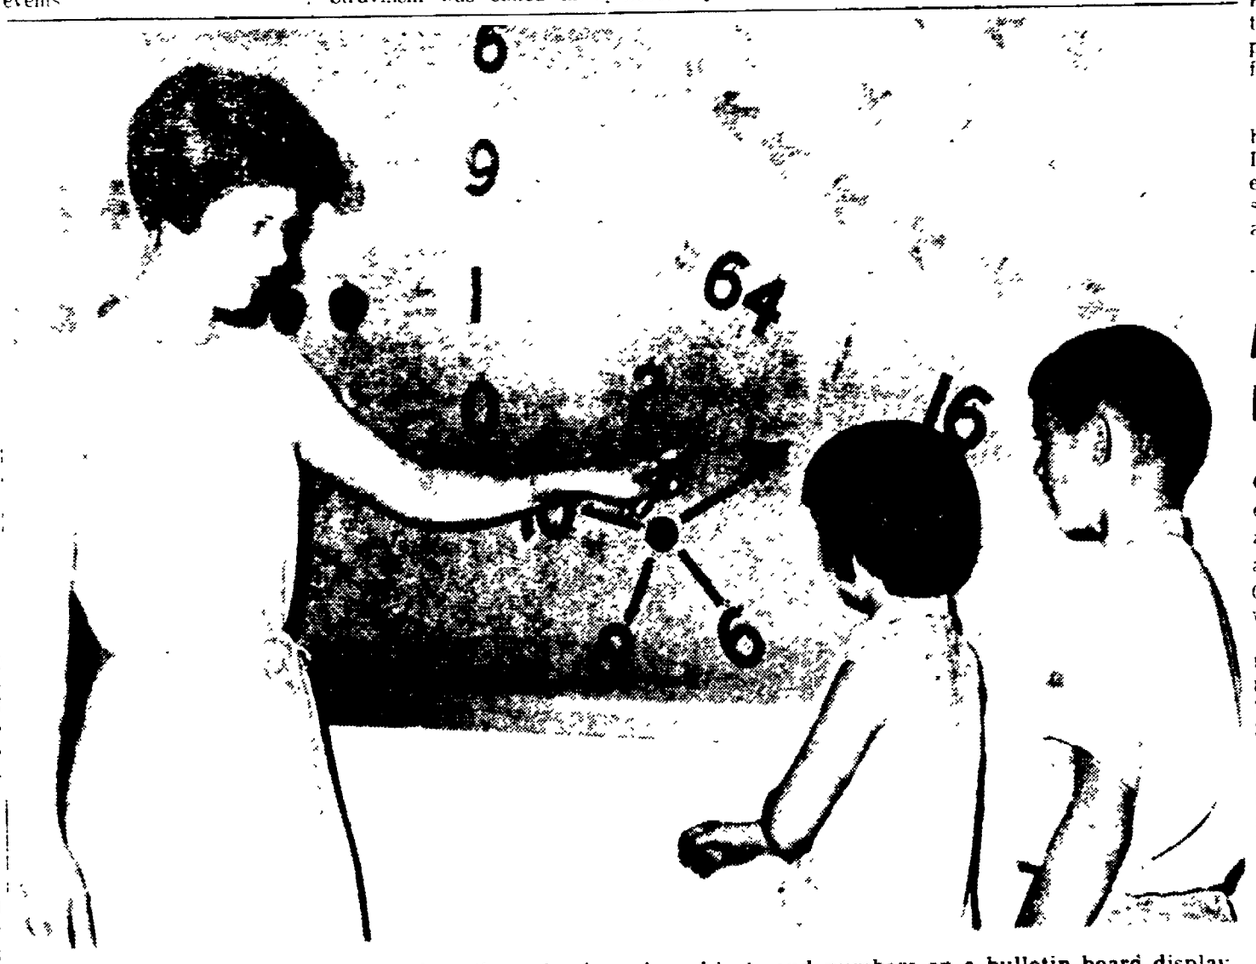
The board also authorized immediate nation-wide advertising for applications for the post of director, saying it would set no closing date for applications. Instead, the board reserved the right to continue accepting applications until it hires "the best possible man for the job."

Theodore Wisniewski, director of the state Committee on Water Pollution, which ends its duties when the Department of Resource Development assumes the anti-pollution efforts, told the board he estimates localities will raise about $15 million a year under a long-term bonding program that authorizes up to a total of $300 million in borrowing.

Federal aid will increase the annual available funds to about $21 or $22 million a year, he said.

That sum will be only enough to cover sewage treatment plant projects, he estimated.

Ed Johnson, director of the League of Wisconsin Municipalities, urged that the board establish priorities as concerning the types of projects it desires to support before it solicits project proposals from Wisconsin cities and villages.



About 75 Students from grades four through nine are attending a six-week summer school at Brillion, made possible through $14,335 in funds under the federal Elementary and Secondary Education Act. Mrs. Earl Herring, mathematics instructor, is shown relating objects and numbers on a bulletin board display. The students are Patricia Nate and Steven Geiger. Classes will end Friday, with parent-teacher evaluation conferences scheduled next week. (Coenen Photo)

Marine Wins Bronze Star For Heroism in Viet Nam

Carl Schwendler, a Marine Corps Captain, born and educated in Appleton, has been awarded the third highest honor attainable in the U.S. Marine Corps — the Bronze Star Medal with Combat "V".

He received the award for meritorious service in the Republic of Viet Nam, according to a citation signed by the Secretary of the Navy.

Capt. Schwendler is married to the former Linda Peterson, Black Creek. They are now residing in Norfolk, Va., where he has been stationed since his return from Viet Nam in Sept., 1965.

Dragged to Safety

The citation says that Schwendler was participating in a search and clear mission near La Chau, Viet Nam, last May when his unit came under fire by entrenched Viet Cong. One of his men was shot in the leg and Schwendler rushed across an open field to give aid.

With the help of another Marine, the wounded man was dragged to safety under intense fire, the citation says.

A second incident also is related in the statement. On May 26, 1965, he was accompanying a patrol in the jungle near Dong Bien when his unit encountered six Viet Cong. Schwendler took a weapon from a member of the patrol who was suffering from heat exhaustion and personally accounted for several enemy casualties.

Schwendler, 29, is a graduate of Appleton High School and Lawrence University, class of 1959.

He was an outstanding athlete in both high school and college. He taught mathematics and coached football, wrestling, and track at Beloit High School before enlisting in the Marine Corps in 1962.

State Convention Aug. 5-6

Lake Property Owners To Meet at Waupaca

The Chain O' Lakes Protective Association of Waupaca will serve as host for the seventh annual convention of the Federation of Wisconsin Lake Property Owners Associations.

More than 150 delegates representing 10,000 members of 54 constituent bodies will gather for business and social meetings Friday and Saturday, Aug. 5-6 at Waupaca Country Club.

H H Hebble, Appleton, convention chairman, has scheduled a cocktail party and dinner for officers, directors and wives and a board meeting for Friday.

Saturday plans include a membership meeting at 9 a.m., lunch on the grounds and a speaker at 12.30 p m, an afternoon business meeting at 2 p.m and a launch excursion at 4 30 p.m

During the membership meeting, a plaque for outstanding leadership and interest in Wisconsin waterway legislation will be presented by State Sen. Clifford W Krueger, 12th District, Merrill, to Assemblyman Norman C Anderson, 1st District, Madison.

Open Forum

Part of the business meeting time will be allocated to an open forum discussion, "What Are Your Problems."

The federation was founded in 1959. Mrs. R. V. Anderson, chairman of legislation, said the major object of the organization has been working for legislation to protect the health and safety of Wisconsin waterway property owners.

The non-profit federation maintains a lobby in Madison and voices opinions on a local level.

The associations actively campaigned for the passage of recent state laws which banned discharge of non-soluable detergents and flushing boat toilets in Wisconsin waters, and established anti-pollution controls.

$461 Authorized By Brillion for Fire Equipment

BRILLION — A $461 expenditure for fire department equipment was authorized by the city council this week.

W. A. Vorpahl Co., Green Bay, will supply two nozzles and nozzle holders for $196; Morgan Fire Equipment Co., Madison, will furnish a $295 air mask with an extra cylinder, and a $69, 110-cubic foot nitrogen tank will be purchased from Wisconsin Fire Equipment Co., Two Rivers.

A finance committee recommendation was approved that the utility commission pay $30 to McMahon for engineering services, $960 to Pittsburgh-Des Moine Steel Co. for water tower work and $405 to U.S. Cable Co.

Curb and gutters will be constructed on both sides of S. Parkway Drive from Horn Street to Madison Street as an addition to the recently contrated $24,360 city curb and gutter project. The added work hinges on the condition that water and sewer laterals be installed and curb and gutter replaced in front on the Almond Buboltz Jr. property on Park Avenue, the council decided.

Waupaca Census Lists Gain In School-Age Children

WAUPACA — The number of children up to 19 years old in the Waupaca Unified School District has increased only 19 in the past year, according to the annual school census.

Last year, there were 2,565 when the census was taken, and this year there are 2,581.

A breakdown of towns in the district and the City of Waupaca indicates rural areas are responsible for the small size of the increase.

The City of Waupaca has recorded an increase from 1,279 to 1,328. Of the eight towns in the district, four have shown increases, with the rest listing decreases.

Town Decreases

The number of children in the Town of Waupaca dropped from 281 in 1965 to 270 this year. The Town of Farmington took the largest drop — from 477 to 449. The adjoining Town of Dayton went down from 220 to 208, and the Town of Belmont went from 21 to 17.

An increase from 146 to 155 in the Town of Lind was the largest rural increase, followed by the Town of Lanark in Portage County, which went up from 60 to 66.

Other towns with increases were the Town of St. Lawrence, 22 to 23, and the Town of Scandinavia, 45 to 47.
